MACABRE CRASH SCENE — An aerial photograph made more macabre by the fading light of dusk shows the wreckage of the Japanese Air Force F-86 jet which strayed into the path of an All Nippon Airways Boeing 727 airliner, causing both aircraft to crash. The pilot of the F-86 parachuted to safety, but 162 persons aboard the 727 died. Residents of the area where the F-86 fell to ground gathered around the rice paddy to view the wreckage, shown in a photo relayed to the U.S. by radio.

History's Worst Airplane Crash: 162 Persons Die

MORIOKA, Japan (UPI) — A 22-year-old Japanese student pilot on a training mission in an F86 Sabrejet collided with an All Nippon Airways airliner today, sending the 162 persons aboard the Boeing 727 to their death in aviation's worst single disaster.

The F86 pilot parachuted to safety.

The 727 trijet disintegrated in flight, cutting off the last frantic broadcast by pilot Capt. Saburo Kawaniski, 41: "Emergency! Emergency! Emergency! This is All Nippon! All Nippon! Unable to control! Unable to control!"

Masataka Kato, 45, a primary school teacher in the town of Morioka, 275 miles north of Tokyo said:

"I heard something like a clap of thunder and I looked up into the sky.

Masataka Kato, 45, a pimary school teacher in the town of Morioka 275 miles north of Tokyo said:

"I heard something like a clap of tunder and I looked up into the sky.

"High in the air I could see a lot of smoke. There were five columns of white smoke coming from the wing of a big plane that was flying eastward (on a domestic flight from Sapporo to Tokyo). Then I saw the fuselage going down in the mountains near here. Up above I could see what seemed to be parts of the plane."

Bodies and debries rained from the skies onto the village of Shizukuishi in the mountains of extreme northern Japan near what are called the Japanese Alps. Mrs. Etsu Yoshida, a housewife, was struck on the hand by a fliing object, but authorities reported no other injuries.

The F86 also disintegrated in the collision but the pilot, Yoshimi Ichikawa, parachuted to safety. Japanese police said he would be arrested and cyarged with straying into the path of the airliner. They said he had had only 21 hours of training in F86s and that his instructor also may have been guilty of some "loose judgment."

All of the 155 passengers and seven crewmen were Japanese with exception of the flight engineer, Donn M. Carpenter, 30, of Miami, Fla.

The consensus among aviation and defense officials was that the disaster probably was caused by error on the part of the student pilot.

Norihiki Yatake, director of the prefectural police in Morioka, said he would arrest the student pilot because an investigation "indicates the jet fighter intruded into the air corridor reserved for commercial liners."

By late today 50 bodies had been recovered.

Lt. Gen. Tsurayuki Ishikawa, vice chief of staff of the Japanese Self Defense Force, said he also believed there was error in judgment by the F86 pilot. The pilot himself was hospitalized for observation but was reported in good condition.

Before today's tragedy the worst air disaster was the crash of a Venezuelan DC9 at Maracaibo on March 16, 1969, when 155 persons were killed — 84 persons on the plane and 71 on the ground. The collision of a United Air Lines DC8 jet and a TWA Super Constellation over New York City Dec. 16, 1960, killed 134 persons.

Today's was the second air disaster in Japan in a month. On July 4, a domestic airliner carrying 68 persons crashed on the island of Hokkaido, killing all aboard. On Feb. 4, 1966, an All Nippon Airways 727 crashed into Tokyo Bay killing 133 persons in Japan's previous worst disaster.

An airways spokesman said 125 of the victims of today's disaster were members of a tour group from Fuji City, located at the base of Mount Fuji, 90 miles west of Tokyo. The tour group members belonged to a society of relatives of World War II victims and were visiting historical sites in Japan.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, vacationing in the resort town of Karuizawa, ordered Minister of Transport Kyoshiro Niwa to being an immediate investigation. He also named Keikichi Masuhara, director general of the Self Defense Forces, to go to the crash scene as his personal representative.

Lockheed Back Where It Began

WASHINGTON (UPI) —After 19 years, Kell Johnson's "Skunk Works" has come nearly full circle —rising from the depths of bankruptcy to become the nation's top defense contractor, and plunging back toward financial disaster once again.

The future of the "Skunk Works," a nickname Lockheed Aircraft Corp. picked up by making F-80 jet fighters secretly during World War II, now is in the hands of Congress.

And both House and Senate are sharply divided as they near a showdown over voting a guarantee so Lockheed can borrow $250 million and avoid bankruptcy.

The Senate declined again today to stop a filibuster against a loan guarantee bill to benefit Lockheed.

It was the third time this week the Senate refused to invoke cloture—a parliamentary device requiring a two-thirds majority of those present and voting to limit debate.

The vote was 53 to 37, seven votes short.

The refusal meant that debate will continue at least through next Monday, when another cloture vote may be scheduled.

House Speaker Carl Albert told newsmen shortly after the Senate vote that the House Democratic leadership supports a $250 million guarantee for Lockheed — and not a general $2 billion fund to help other corporations. Albert predicted House passage of the $250 million measure.

The first time around for Lockheed, back in 1932, the issue was clearer. No federal aid was in store for the bankrupt Detroit Aircraft Corp., whose Lockheed division was grabbed up by a syndicate that developed the branch into an aerospace giant.

Today, the controversy touches on the very fabric of the free enterprise system. About the only noncontroversial point, all sides seem to agree, is that without additional financing Lockheed will go the way of the old Detroit airplane firm, into banruptcy.

Although the Nixon adminis-

WATER MAIN BREAK SHUTS ANGEL ISLAND

Angel Island State Park will be closed to visitors through Monday because of a ruptured water main that supplies Ayala Cove, the island's major use area.

Chief Ranger Kenneth J. Huddleston said water for three families living in the cove is being trucked in from other parts of the island. Two other water systems serving 11 families at the east and west garrisons are not affected.

Park crews were searching today for the break in the line, which bears water from a tank on a hill to the cove. The water is pumped to the tank and three others on the island from deep wells that tap underground streams.

"The main problem is a logistical one of getting equipment to the island to repair the leak," said Huddleston.

He said he hoped to reopen the park, which closed yesterday, early next week. In the meantime, he said, the Angel Island ferry from Tiburon will not operate.

Separation Problem Solved: Landing 'Go'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) —Apollo 15's two moon explorers successfully separated their landing craft from the command ship today after a 25-minute delay caused by a loose electrical connection. Their moon landing for 3:15 p.m. PDT remained on schedule.

The crucial separation occurred in lunar orbit at 11:13 p.m. PDT.

Flight commander David R. Scott and James B. Irwin, were in the landing craft Falcon and Alfred M. Worden was flying alone in the command ship Endeavour when they tried— but failed—to separate the two craft. A second attempt succeeded.

"You're on your own," Worden said to his companions.

"Okay, good clean sep," replied Scott.

For a few fateful minutes, a major hitch was feared in the mission.

After the sepaation, the Falcon's four legs popped into place and it appeared everything was proceeding normally toward the moon landing.

Two orbits earlier, the astronauts shifted their orbit slightly higher to set Falcon up for the landing approach. The final descent was to start at 3:03 p.m. PDT with the momentous landing expected 12 minutes later.

On one pre-landng pass, Scott reported he could see the landing area clearly and that it appeared generally smooth with no big boulders that could hamper the touchdown.

"I can see some debris around some of the fresher craters," Scott said. "The area in general looks pretty good. I don't think we'll have any trouble picking it up."

The spacecraft had dropped to within 45,500 feet — lower than expected — before a brief rocket burst at 6:30 a.m. PDT raised the low point of their orbit to 58,300 feet.

By landing time, the moon's gravitational tug was expected to pull Apollo 15 back down to 50,000 feet — the altitude desired for a proper descent approach. That was well above the highest moon peaks, estimated at 30,000 feet.

"Think you can miss them?" asked ground control.

"That's up to you guys," replied Scott.

Tracking stations maintained a close watch on the astronauts' roller coaster path.

An hour after awakening, the astronauts turned on their color television camera and beamed back a stark, detailed view of the 15,000 foot Apennine Mountains east of their valley landing site and the deep canyon bordering it. The view swept by quickly and was gone in seconds.

"That was very fast," said Scott.

As Apollo 15 moved toward the dark western side of the moon, the deeply shadowed lunar terrain was awesome.

Nixon Urges An End To Spreading Rail Walkout

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon personally urged negotiators for the railroads and the United Transportation Union to negotiate an early end to the spreading railroad strike that is having a growing impact on the nation's economy.

But even as Nixon met with the rail negotiators at the White House, the United Steel Workers Union rejected a contract offer from the steel companies, and said prospects were "grim" though not hopeless for avoiding a steel strike at midnight Saturday.

A steel workers spokesman called the contract offer "stingy."

The railroad union, which represents train operating crews, went on strike against six additional lines today, shutting off the last rail link to Southern California vegetable fields at harvest time and hitting industrial plants in Chicago, St. Louis, Houston and the Pittsburgh area.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that during a one-hour meeting with rail labor, management, and government officials, Nixon "stated his belief that this industry can, should and is able to solve its own problem ... through the collective bargaining process."

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson, said the President's personal participation in the meeting indicates "the seriousness with which the admiistration views the strike."

Hodgson said about 25 governors from states hardest hit by the shutdown had informed the government that the situation in their areas "ranges from critical to disastrous."

Hodgson said the White

THE SUDANESE COUP

A Hangman's Noose Chokes Communism

By NAT GIBSON

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI)— When government executioners pulled a cloth sack over the head of a small, balding man, slipped a noose around his neck and hanged him in a brisk rain, they effectively ended the influence of the local Communist party in the Sudan.

The man was the Sudanese Communist party secretary general, Abdel Khalek Mahjoub.

He walked to the gallows with little more than a murmur of official protest from the Soviet Union, which had been his best friend but also was the chief supplier of aid, advice and trade to the government that executed him.

This hanging early Wednesday climaxed a week of confused political turmoil in the Sudan that saw the Arab world's first Communist government take power by means of a coup and then fall to a countercoup that restored president Maj. Gen. Jaafar Numeiry to power within 72 hours.

Khartoum newspapers said today authorities had released

Air Crash In France Kills 37

PAU, France (UPI) — A French Air Force Nord 2501 transport crashed during a paratroop training mission Friday, killing all 37 persons aboard, the air force announced.

An Air Force communique said the plane crashed as it came in for an emergency landing at Pau-Uzein aibase.

It said first reports indicated fire had broken out aboard the aircraft just as the jumps were to start.

The announcement said the victims included 30 paratroops, four paratroop instructors and three crew-members.

Exchange Program Fleecing Revealed

Novato parents who sent their youngsters to La Paz, Mexico, on a student exchange program, agreed last night they may have been bilked by Carlos C. Carmona, the exchange's organizer for the past 10 years.

But, the parents declared at an informal meeting, the youngsters gained so much from their adventures that the 10-year-old exchange program should continue — without Carmona.

The 18 youngsters who spent five weeks in Baja California this summer, their parents and chaperones Luis Pena and Mrs. Robert Campbell met last night in San Jose Junior High School to discuss the apparent scandal.

According to Mexican press, authorities there are seeking to arrest Carmona, who founded a bilingual school and the John F. Kennedy Library in the Mexican coastal town. He is accused of charging Novato, Mill Valley and Berkeley families $200 for each child taken on the five-week outing, then collecting a second fee from Mexican families with whom the youngsters were housed.

In addition, Mrs. Campbell told the Independent-Journal that "Sudcalifornia," the leading newspaper in La Paz, has reported that Carmona faces charges including illegally residing in La Paz, operating a school without credentials and other violations. Carmona — a former Marin resident and one-time teacher at St. Vincent's School for Boys — is a U.S. citizen although his home is in La Paz, Mrs. Campbell said.

At last night's meeting, Pena reported on this summer's trip. He and Mrs. Campbell helped the parents fill out questionnaires from Sergio A. Lucero, head of the immigration department for the Territory of Baja California concerning the student exchange and Carmona's role in it.

Carmona's double-billing apparently has been going on for years, but came to light this month because it was the first time that the Novato adults accompanying the youngsters

PT&T Reaches Pact Agreement With Yellow Pages Employees

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. reached a contract agreement with a union representing yellow pages employes and most picketing was ordered stopped today in California.

The agreement with the AFLCIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is subject to ratification meeting Monday in San Francisco.

Because of the strike, members of the Communications Workers of America had refused to cross IBEW picket lines, causing some service problems in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Supervisory employes filled in for operators in some cases.

The IBEW, representing 700 employes, struck July 15 after its contract expired and only 24 hours after the CWA struck.

CWA reached an agreement earlier but the ratification vote still has not been counted although that union's member are not on strike.

Peter Pusateri, business manager for the IBEW local in San Francisco, said the agreement upgraded between 150 and 165 clerical jobs, held mostly by women. There will be an immediate pay increase of $35 a week.

Increases of between $23.50 and $25 a week were granted for another 100 clerical jobs.

Salesmen, who are paid both a salary and a commission, will get an increase of seven per cent in their commission, Pusateri said. He estimated the total pay gain to salesman at around $35 a week.

Picketing was ordered stopped at all company installations in Northern California except in one at 900 Bush St. in San Francisco. No clear reason was given for continuing picketing there.

Meanwhile, the governors of California, Oregon and Washington and the principals in the 30-day-old West Coast longshoremen's strike have agreed to attend a summit meeting on the walkout next week.

Govs. Ronald Reagan of California, Tom McCall of Oregon and Dan Evans of Washington will join President Harry Bridges of the striking union and President Edmond Flynn of the Pacific Maritime Association at the session next Wednesday at San Francisco International Airport.

The high level talks were set up by Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation Service in Washington, D.C., in an effort to get negotiations underway on a coastwide basis rather than through port by port procedures.

Nixon Visit Off

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today cancelled an "off the record appearance" Saturday before California's exclusive Bohemian Grove, a private club whose membership includes leading industrialists and other notables.

Press Seretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon accepted the invitation to speak before the club at its lush redwoos encampment "under the traditional ground rules that all remarks are off the record."

Ziegler said because some members of the White House press had explained that with 1700 members present "the off the record could not hold" Nixon decided to cancel the speech.

The press secretary said newsmen pointed out they would "have to make an effort —and we understand that—to seek out the content" of Nixon' remarks.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Pen ..on Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has delivered a one-month ultimatum to the Defense Department threatening it with the loss of further military aid funds.

Invoking a rarely used congressional sanction, the committee formally notified Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird Thursday that his authority to spend military aid appropriations would cease in 35 days unless he:

—Gives the committee a copy of the department's five-year plan for military assistance to foreign countries.

—Or delivers a message from President Nixon refusing to release the report.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright told Laird the committee decided to take the action by a 15 to 0 vote because the Pentagon had ignored a series of requests for the information.

Aid To Schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A House Education subcommittee early today approved a modified version of President Nixon's $1.5 billion bill to help pay the cost of school desegregation.

Nixon listed the measure as top legislative priority and hoped to get it enacted before the start of school in September. But an agreement made by Republicans to get the stalled bill approved will prevent it from passing Congress until after schools open in five weeks.

The measure would authorize $500 million this fiscal year and $1 billion in fiscal 1973 to help pay the costs of desegregation ordered by a court or federal agency or which is achieved voluntarily.

Watch In Horror

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dozens of rock fans at the Forest Hills Music Festival watched in horror Thursday night as one youth stabbed another to death outside the world-famous tennis stadium.

Kerry Flaherty, 21, who police said was on parole from the state prison at Elmira, N.Y. where he served time on robbery and drug charges, was held for the stabbing.

The dead youth was identified tentatively as George Etheriege, 22, who was attending the concert by "The Who" at the stadium.

Police said Flaherty attempted to enter the stadium without a ticket and began quarelling with Etheriege at the gate. The argument continued out into the street and, in front of a crowd, Flaherty pulled a knife and plunged it into the other man's chest, police said.

Security guards at the concern apprehended Flaherty but could not hold off a mob of youths who beat the ex-convict to the ground before police arrived.

Etheriege was dead on arrival at St. John's Hospital, where Flaherty also was taken.

Safe To Eat

WHINGTON (UPI)—Broiler chickens contaminated by poisoned feed are apparently safe to eat, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department has been running tests on polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) since the contamination from a Wilmington, N.C., feed plant was discovered two weeks ago. PCB is similar to DDT.

It was reported that over half the chickens sampled were tainted, but Clayton Yeutter, head of the department's consumer and marketing service, said Thursday that "our best judgment is that consumers have not been buying either poultry or pork which exceeds tolerance."

Sato Upset

TOKYO (UPI)—A Tokyo newspaper says Premier Eisaku Sato complained to a high-ranking U.S. diplomat over America's failure to consult Japan before announcing President Nixon's visit to Communist China.

The Yomiuri newspaper said Sato made the protest July 25 during a three-hour interview with David Kennedy, President Nixon's roving ambassador for economic affairs.

"The measure taken by the United States at this time runs counter to Oriental logic," Sato was quoted as having told Kennedy during the meeting.

Yomiuri said its information about the Sato-Kennedy meeting came from "government sources."

Ky In Trouble

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky pressed his efforts today to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential election amid charges by province councilors they were forced to ledge support for President Nguyen Van Thieu and now wanted to switch to Ky.

Thieu and Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh presented their qualifying petitions to run Thursday, but Ky reportedly has encountered difficulty rounding up the needed support of 40 senators or assemblymen or 100 provincal councilors to get on the ballot. Ky has until Aug. 4 to qualify.

Nguyen Duy Bao, chairman of the Gia Dinh city councilors, which includes the suburban area surrounding Saigon, told a news conference Ky had 140 councilors supporting him. However, Bao said, only 70 of the councilors had been legally certfied in support of Ky, leavng the vice president 30 short of the requirement.

A 'Powder Keg'

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Mosquitoes immune to pesticides are moving toward the cities and have experts trying to combat sleeping sickness "virtually at their wits' ends," health officials said Tuesday.

"We're just sitting on a powder keg," said Dr. Don Murray, manager of the Delta Mosquito Abatement District in Visalia, Calif. "Mosquitoes are thicker than they have been for some years."

He said chemical control of the pests worked well until last year, when strains resistant to pesticides began surviving. This year, chemical controls started out well, "but we started to fade last week."

Mosquitoes are beginning to range farther and farther from their breeding grounds—particularly irrigated pasture lands.

New Relation

HONG KONG (UPI)—Peking Radio announced today the establishment of diplomatic relations between mainland China and the West African republic of Sierra Leone.

The announcement, made simultaneously by the New China News Agency (NCNA), said a communique on the exchange of diplomatic recognition was signed in Peking Thursday.

Hart Is Supporting Muskie For President

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., has endorsed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie for president, saying the Maine Democrat is extremely competent, and electable.

"He has a stability that the people sense and what this country would be much better off to have had right now," Hart told a news conference Thursday. Muskie has not announced his candidacy.

U.S. Car Prices Going Up In '72

DETROIT (UPI)—Two things are clear about the cars U.S. automakers are building for 1972: They'll look a lot like 1971 modles and they'll cost more money.

Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. have informed their dealers that wholesale prices for 1972 cars will be anywhere from $100 to $200 more than for 1971 models.

General Motors Corp., the largest of the big three automakers and the usual price-setter, isn't saying what increases they are anticipating. But GM surely will announce a price hike.

GM Chairman James J. Roche said Monday recent wage increases were partly responsible for pushing up prices. Roche, in a televised interview, said the way to halt inflation was to make American people aware of labor's unrealistic demands. He said wages are exceeding productivity and this has made prices so high that U.S. industry is pricing itself out of the international marketplace.

However, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock took Roche to task Thursday.

"GM's recent profit statement makes a mockery of its claims about inflation," said Woodcock at a news conference.

He said GM's "rigid price-profit formula" that nets 20 per cent on invested capital after taxes "makes the U.S. market particularly suited for Japanese and German auto makers."

Woodcock called prices increases "totally unwarranted."

In the meantime, Ford announced th 1972 Pinto will cost 7.6 per cent more — at least $150 per car — and indicated prices of other new model Fords will rise by at least 4.9 per cent. Chrysler said its price increases will be in the "same ballpark."

Ford said the $150 increase per car will bring thePinto's suggested base sticker price to $2,069. This has the effect of eliminating the advertised claim that a Pinto can be purchased for less than $2,000.

In addition, Ford said popular optional items for Pintos would cost more. Ford also told dealers in letters Thursday that they can expect the average wholesale cost to them to increase at least 4.9 per cent on all other Ford cars.

No one is supposed to know what the 1972 models look like until they are introduced at press showings next month. But Lincoln-Mercury and Chrysler have circulated "advance" pictures to the news media of their new models. Most of them look like last year's models.

Attempt To End Strike A Failure

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A San Francisco Labor Council mediator said Thursday the two sides "are farther apart than ever" after an attempt to resolve the eight-week-old cemetery workers strike failed.

George Johns, the labor council secretary, said there was no movement Thursday by either side.

"It was a waste of time," Johns said. "They are farther apart than ever and, what seems worse to me, public opinion is apathetic."

Repayment On SST Advanced In House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has voted to go along with the Senate in approving a $58.5 million appropriation to repay 10 airlines what they invested in the now-defunct supersonic transport project.

The measure containing the repayment provision went back to the Senate, which had alrady approved the reimbursement, for final congressional action. The airlines included United, KLM, American, Braniff, Continental, Delta, Eastern, Northwest Orient, Pan American and TWA.

Report UAR Wants More Suez Talks

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco opened his first round of talks with Israeli leaders in Jerusalem today with a message from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat that Cairo wants talks to continue on reopening the Suez Canal.

In the troubled Arab world, Algeria announced today it has suspended diplomatic relations with Jordan to protest its "collective massacres" of Palestinian guerrillas. The Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO) called on Arab leaders meeting in Libya to boycott Jordan politically and economically.

U.S. and Israel officials maintained official silence after more than two hours of talks between Sisco, Prime Minister Golda Meir and Foreign Minister Abba Eban. But an American source said Sisco carried a message from Sadat that Egypt does not want talks discontinued on reopening the canal.

"When you've got a party line, you don't hang up," the source said, quoting the late wartime Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

South Viet Rangers Counter Red Charge

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese rangers repulsed an assault today by a battalion-sized force of 2,500 to 2,900 Communist soldiers on their Central Highlands camp, military spokesmen said.

Communist gunners fired 10 rockets into the hilltop headquarters of a South Vietnamese regiment near Da Nang, killing an American colonel and wounding an undisclosed number of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

Two U.S. helicopters were shot down elsewhere, and American B52 Stratofortresses continued bombarding Communist positions in the northern sector of South Vietnam.

Saigon command spokesmen said the pre-dawn Communist assault in southern Pleiku province cost the government troops three dead and 20 wounded. About six hours earlier, 10 south Vietnamese rangers were wounded in another fight in the same region.

IS ANYBODY WATCHING ME?

Jamie Wheeler, 9, slurps up an apple as her eyes wander toward her audience. She was taking part in the Playground Jamboree at Boyle Park in Mill Valley yesterday when children tried their talents at a watermelon feed, gunny sack races, tug-o-war and other games.

Prison Move To Increase Security

New security precautions will be taken at San Quentin Prison to increase the protection for employees and inmates because of the fatal stabbing of a guard last week.

The new measures were the result of a meeting Wednesday between representatives of the California State Employees Association, Warden Louis S. Nelson and Raymond K. Procunier, director of the state department of corrections.

Among the precautions, announced by the employees association, will be installation of a security gate on the prison hospital ward where Officer Leo Davis was killed trying to protect an inmate from fellow prisoners.

Purchase of two metal detection devices, ordered before Davis' slaying, will be speeded up, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. The devices will probably be placed in the industrial area and the alley where maintenance and vocational shops are located because of the high use of metal there, Park said.

Other precautions are improvements to the hospital warning system with warning devices placed at strategic locations; assignment of a committee of employees to study ways of tightening metal and tool controls; protective screening on all gunwalks and purchase of gas masks to replace ones which have leaked during recent incidents.

Mill Valleyan In Felony Theft

Christopher Austin Fenn, 23, of Mill Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on felony charges of vehicle theft and possession of stolen property.

Fenn is to plead to the charges Thursday.

He was arrested Monday when Mill Valley police stopped him for driving a motorcycle without a taillight. A check revealed the motorcycle had been stolen in San Francisco and the license plates it sported had been stolen in Oakland, police said.

Another Nike Site Is Occupied By Indians

CHICAGO (UPI)—A band of about 75 Indians moved into another abandoned Nike site near here today after abandoning the temporary camping grounds they occupied since their eviction from a similar Nike facility in Chicago.

The site is located on the Argonne national Laboratory grounds near suburban Hinsdale.

"They walked in peacefully sometime early this morning," said Tony Culik, head seurity officer on duty.

"There's no problems. The gate was open and they've been very cooperative," Culik said.

The area formerly occupied by the Nike operation is federal property, Culik said. The Indians entered several of the small buildings on the grounds and apparently did not bring any tents, he said.

The Indians are believed to be mostly the same group who entered a since-closed Nike facility along Lake Michigan in Chicago late last month. they called that act a protest against poor housing conditions.

After being removed from the lakefront site, they went to a forest preserve area where they pitched their tents and remained until today's move to the Argonne area, about 25 miles away.

Nod To Pay Back Firm's For SST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has voted to appropriate $58.5 million to repay 10 airlines for their investments in the defunct supersonic transport (SST) project.

The House approved the money Thursday on a 306-98 roll call vote as it accepted a compromise $2.9 billion appropriation bill for the Transportation Department and related agencies. The measure was sent to the Senate for final congressional approval.

The House earlier rejected the so-called "SST Burial Fund" in its original version of the money bill, but the Senate added the money and it was included in a compromise measure worked out by House-Senate conferees.

'Tokyo Express' Decommissioned

BOSTON (UPI) — The USS Shangri-la, the aircraft carrier nicknamed the Tokyo Express during World War II, was decommissioned today at the South Boston Annex of the Boston Naval Yard.

Hundreds of former crewmen gathered to say goodbye to the ship that earned fame with her 27 years of service.

Exchange Program Fleecing Revealed

spoke Spanish as their first language.

Mrs. Campbell reported she stayed in Carmona's home for three weeks, and attempted unsuccessfully to question him about discrepencies between promises and realities in the program. She said Novato parents had been told their youngsters would attend school with up to 28 Mexican children, with six teachers. The school was "a farce," with few Mexican youngsters and only herself and Pena as teachers, she said.

After the students and their chaperones — but not Carmona — appeared on Mexican television July 20, an official investigation was launched and Mexican newspapers reported Armona's actions as a major scandal.

Carmona took 11 students on another trip to a nearby island, but stranded two of the youngsters on the island, Mrs. Campbell said. La Paz families found Chris Riggins of Novato, but could not locate Kevin Kihn of Mill Valley. Kihn finally was rescued by Mexican fishermen who found him trying to swim ashore, Mrs. Campbell said. He was hospitalized for exposure and infections, she said.

Despite their travails, Novato youngsters said last night they had gained far more from the stay in La Paz than they had lost to Carmona's actions. They stressed their appreciation for the hospitality of La Paz families, and said they learned much about the language and customs.

Novato students on the trip included Cheryl and Laurie Campbell, Jenny Stevens, Peter Decker, Victor Aiutio, Carol O'Brien, Carol Adams, Robert Lowe, John Klater, Mike Sutliff, Celeste Chapman, Kenneth Kassenbrock, Andria Nordstrom, Roger Brewster, Mary Iannicchería, Michelle Sheehan, James Lawrence and Chris Riggons.

Since the scandal broke in Mexico, three La Paz families have sent youngsters to stay with Novato families, Mrs. Campbell said. Flora Moreno, Saul Tuchman and Eduardo Gonzales are living with families that sent youngsters to La Paz this year.

APOLLO

Mountain peaks sparkled in the sun as if capped with snow.

"All systems look good," reported ground communicator Robert Parker.

Parker added that command ship Endeavor's powerful mapping camera had a problem "which may or may not be serious" but he did not elaborate.

The mission of Apollo 15 was the most ambitious lunar exploration ever conducted. The astronauts planned to devote six days to studying the moon, spending three of them on the surface.

Apollo 15's orbit dropped faster than expected because of variations in the moon's gravity. These gravity quirks are not fully understood but they have the effect of gradually pulling the spacecraft toward the moon —much as the upper fringes of Earth's atmosphere slows and lowers earth satellites.

The orbital raise, called a rim maneuver, was a contingency listed in the flight plan. Controllers told the pilots Thursday night they did not think the maneuver would be needed. They changed their minds today.

The pilots rode a roller coaster orbit so close to the moon that at times it seemed the rugged mountains reached higher than their spaceship.

"It sure looks like we're looking up at some of those fellows out there," Scott said as Apollo 15 swept toward the Apennine mountains bordering his landing site.

"We've all got our eyes closed," said Irwin. "We're pulling our feet up."

"I'll tell you this, it's absolutely mind-boggling up here," said the usually laconic Scott, his voice quavering with emotion at his first closeup look at the moon.

Weekends For Year In Jail

Antonio Garcia, 33, of San Francisco, was sentenced to 52 weekends in Marin County Jail yesterday for the burglary of a Kentfield residence in January.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for two years.

The district attorney's office had urged that Garcia be sentenced to state prison, while Garcia's attorney agreed with a probation department recommendation that no jail time be attached to the probationary period.

Garcia was arrested Jan. 8 and originally charged with the burglary of two Kentfield residences that day.

He pleaded guilty to one of the burglaries, that of the residence of Donald Crabb of 28 Maple Avenue. Codefendant, Fernando Molina Ruiz, 23, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty to the other, that of the residence of Robert Brooks of 7 Cypress Road.

Ruiz was sentenced last month to six months in Marin County Jail.

Marin City Man To Plead In Shooting Case

A 35-year-old Marin City man who allegedly shot another man during an argument at a Marin City pool hall was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

John Lee Baily, of 24 Pacheco Street, was to enter a plea Monday. He was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail.

His alleged victim, Ricky Johnson, 19, of 35 Drake Avenue, Marin City, remained in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a scalp laceration and a wound of the right leg.

Sheriff's deputies said the shooting occurred at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday during an argument at the People's Place, a pool hall at Drake Avenue and Cole Drive.

Deputies were unable to say why the pair was arguing.

LOCKHEED

tration is pressing hard for congressional approval, the sides in the issue don't break down strictly along party lines. There are Republicans for, and against, and Democrats for, and against helping Lockheed.

Lockheed got into its present straits last winter when Rolls Royce Ltd., the British luxury car maker, folded. Rolls was the engine supplier for Lockheed's Tristar jet, a 400-passenger wide-bellied plane it is making for civilian airlines.

The British government went to the aid of Rolls but threatens to pull back support unless Congress comes up with financial aid for Lockheed by Aug. 8, two days after Congress is due to go on a month-long recess.

Some opponents of helping Lockheed say the government will be really bailing out Rolls Royce which would otherwise lose its market for big jet engines. These foes argue that U. S. engine makers can supply power for Lockheed's jet buses, and also claim that Lockheed aid is unfair to the firm's biggest competitor, McDonnell Douglas, makers of the DC-10, a plane similar to the Tristar.

Supporters say the British aid issue is secondary, since 60,000 american jobs are at stake — 35,000 with Lockheed and another 25,000 in supplier feeder firms. A loss of Lockheed and the subsequent loss of jobs, they argue, would be an economic catastrophe the nation could not afford. Moreover, they contend Lockheed's loss would leave a monopoly market for McDonell-Douglass.

Opponents say that in the free enterprise system a company that can't make it should be allowed to fold. They note the thouands of small businesses which collapse annually, and argue the Lockheed bill is just a bill to bail out big businesses. Also they say the potential loss of 60,000 jobs is a highly inflated claim.

Supporters of the loan say the government is partly to blame for Lockheed's troubles, pointing to complex defense contracts which cost Lockheed millions of dollars through cost overruns on the C-5A cargo plane and Cheyenne helicopters.

Youth Injured In Motorcycle Crash

A 19-year-old Marin City youth was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken left leg suffered in a motorcycle accident in Mill Valley.

Police said George Coleman Jr., of 997 Drake Avenue, was injured at 9:43 p.m. yesterday when he lost control of his motorcycle on Miller Avenue near Tamalpais High School.

'Gas War' Enjoyment At An End

A six-month drop in gas prices, enjoyed by Marin residents but described as "disastrous" by local service station operators, has ended with the termination of a "gas war" in San Francisco.

The temporary relief in gas prices in Marin was wiped out yesterday when the gas companies refused to prime the pump in the San Francisco price war — said to have been the worst in five years.

Prices had dropped to 31.9 cents a gallon in Marin during the gas war centered in San Francisco where prices dropped to 26.9 cents, according to Donald E. Skilling, past president of Marin Independent Service Station Association.

The gasoline industry, which subsidizes dealers during a price war, shut off its support company by company during the past four days. Texaco and Shell Oil Co. began eliminating subsidies on Monday and Humble Oil and Refining Co., Mobil Oil Co. and Standard Oil Co. of California followed in succeeding days.

The fierce war in San Francisco had a devastating effect on Marin dealers, according to Skilling who estimated between 25 to 40 per cent of Marin's business was lost to San Francisco.

Skilling said while San Francisco dealers were receiving an 8-cent-per-gallon subsidy, Marin dealers were only getting a 2 or 3-cent subsidy. "We couldn't compete," he said.

The prices in Marin are back up to 37.9 and 38.9 cents for regular gas and 40.9 for premium, Skilling said.

He explained an oil company subsidizes 50 to 75 per cent of a dealer's loss during a price war or when more than 50 per cent of a dealer's competitors are below normal price. When the company takes the subsidy off, then the dealer must absorb any loss in price reduction, he added.

LABOR

House meeting was called only to assess the impact of the strike and to give the President a chance to appeal for a settlement. He said no collective bargaining was actually conducted at the White House.

UTU and rail negotitors agreed to meet again after the White House session to try again to resolve their dispute over work rules.

Today's rail strike brought to number of lines shut down during the last 15 days to 10. The lines account for more than one-third of the nation's rail freight capacity and employ 160,000 persons.

Picket lines began appearing at 6 a.m. local time on the steel-hauling Bessemer & Lake Erie in Pennsylvania and spread westward to the giant Chicago-to-California Santa Fe; the ore-hauling Duluth, Missabe & Iron Range; and three industrial terminal and switching roads — The Elgin, Joliet & Eastern in the Chicago area, the Aton & Southern in St. Louis and the Houston Belt & Terminal.

Four major lines in the South and West were shut down previously the Union Pacific and the Southern on July 16, and the Southern Pacific and the Norfolk & Western on July 24.

The strike has idled three of the six major transcontinental routes — the UP from Omaha to Los Angeles, the SP from New Orleans to California and the Santa Fe from Chicago to California.

The 12,883-mile Santa Fe, the largest railroad to be struck so far, continued accepting shipments of perishables up to the 6 a.m. strike deadine in an effort to move as much food as possible. The railroad, which estimated it would lose $2 million a day, said it would use supervisory personnel to move the freight already on line to its destination.

California has been particularly hard hit by the strike. Only one rail line is left running in the state —the Western Pacific, which runs east from San Francisco to Salt Lake City. The California agriculture industry said it was losing up to $5 million a day because it could not gets its crops to market at harvest time. Many farmers faced the threat of plowing under their crops for fertilizer for next year. There are not nearly enough trucks to handle the load, and many truckers have as much as doubled their prices.

Southern agricultural interests also have been hard hit, particularly the poultry industry. Thousands of coal miners were out of work in Appalachia, and industrial plants in some areas have been shut down.

OBITUARIES

Frank J. Healey Dies At 91

Private funeral service has been held for Frank J. Healy, 91, a San Rafael resident all his life and former superintendent of the U.S. Assay Office in San Francisco.

Healy died Tuesday at a convalescent home in Richmond after a short illness.

He had worked at the assay office more than 35 years, commuting daily by train from San Rafael to Sausalito and by ferry from Sausalito to San Francisco. He retired in 1948.

Healy's parents came west from Michigan after the Civil War and were the first settlers in the area now called Olema. His father, also a former superintendent at the assay office, was the sheriff in Marin County for many years.

His mother attended the opening of the old courthouse in San Rafael by special invitation.

Healy was born in San Rafael and attended the San Rafael Military Academy for several years before he was graduated from San Rafael High School. He formerly lived at 215 D Street.

He was married for 60 years to Martina D. Healy, who died in 1968. He was a member of the Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons, for more than 50 years and was a member of the Royal Arch Masons.

Surviving are a daughter, Marsha A. Milmore of Kensington; four grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

SUDAN

400 of the persons rounded up after the left-wing coup failed. At one time more than 1,000 persons were under arrest but Maamoun Awad Abou Zeid, a member of the Revolution Command Council, said councils were being formed to see that no one was wrongfully detained.

Interior Minister Aboul Al Kassem Mohammed Ibrahim said security officers have begun a hunt for weapons which disappeared during the 72-hour coup.

The foreign ministry announced it would search all diplomatic pouches entering or leaving the country and said any diplomatic mission refusing the search would have its bag confiscated at the airport. Diplomatic sources said filing restrictions were being imposed on Soviet and East European journalists.

Nobody, including the government, is certain about exactly what happened in this space of time. Too many of its participants were either killed in the fighting or fell victim to firing squads or hangmen before their story could be told.

The two essential facts of Sudan's most bloody political upheaval in recent history are known, however. When the Communists realized they were going to lose, they ordered and carried out the execution of 28 officers being held prisoner in a government guest house. Numeiry's followers reacted by court martialing 14 of the coup leaders and executing them in the next five days.

Others died on both sides in battles around the national palace and the central business district, which saw the British embassy and the American mission caught in the crossfire. Numeiry said 38 persons were killed and 119 wounded in these clashes. Diplomats and local residents placed the figure much higher.

The tabulation of those executed was more precise. The government announced each of them in national radio broadcasts after military trials that lasted from one to four hours.

Government officials said another 30 men are still being held for trial, and there is a nationwide manhunt for 39 civilian Communists. Only a handful of these might be killed, they said. But the others are likely to receive stiff prison sentences.

For the Soviets, these disclosures were political disaster. The Soviet Union has an estimated 1,800 advisers and huge aid investments in the Sudan. Diplomats and political sources said Moscow was looking to Numeiry as their man south of Egypt until he first started cracking down on the Communists nine months ago.

BCDC Drops Developer's Cove Plan On Request

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A controversial plan for 96 apartments on Strawberry Cove, revived a month ago, has been dropped from next week's agenda of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission's agenda at the request of the developer, Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap.

Broman instead proceeded with an application to cut the density to 72 units, a plan which is pending action by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. It has been approved by the county planning commission.

The BCDC will set a date to hear the new plan after it is approved by the supervisors. The commission rejected the first 96-unit version in May.

The supervisors will hear the application at 3 p.m. on Aug. 31.

Crash Plane Malfunction Is Described

PASADENA (UPI) — The Phantom F4 fighter-bomber which collided inflight with an Air West DC9 airliner killing 50 persns last June 6 should have been grounded because of mechanical malfunctions, a Marine air commander testified Thursday.

Col. Orville R. Davis, commander of the El Toro Marine Air Station, told a National Transportation Safety Board hearing into the cause of the disaster, the military jet had a leak in its main oxygen system.

He also said there was a malfunction in its radar device and had an inoperative transponder, which identifies the plane on the scopes of ground controllers.

The officer said the operation of the F4 was in violation of regulations prohibiting aircraft from flying with a serious deficiency in the oxygen system. However, Davis' testimony failed to make clear whether the mechanical problems were involved in the collision with the Air West plane.

The two planes collided outside of Los Angeles minutes after the commercial jetliner took off from International Airport.

New Bike Path To Link Sausalito And Mill Valley

By GEORGE NEVIN

Bicycle enthusiasts will celebrate the opening of a bike path tomorrow linking Sausalito and Mill Valley for the first time since the Highway 101 freeway was built in 1955.

The one-mile stretch of paved paths runs from Gate 6 at the northern Sausalito city limits to a previously existing path leading under the Richardson Bay Bridge and into Mill Valley.

It is the final connection in a trail system that begins at San Francisco's Lake Merced and eventually leads to Sonoma County and beyond.

Although county park and recreation officials say the path is only temporary, it does get cyclists off a short stretch of Highway 101 — one of the few freeways in the state open to bicycles — and gives them a path of their own.

Supervisor Michael Wornum will speak at tomorrow's dedication ceremonies, set for 10 a.m. at the Sausalito city limits near the Sausalito Bait Shop.

The low-lying path, which actually has been completed and in daily use for weeks, has the unfortunate trait of being submerged by as much as a foot of water at two or three spots during uncommonly high tides. But James Vandeweg, assistant Marin County director of parks and recreation, doesn't think a little water will hinder bike traffic. He did say, however, that if Northwestern Pacific succeeds in its application before the state Public Utilities Commission to abandon rail service to Sausalito, the county would like to relocate the pathway on higher ground, out of the reach of Richardson Bay.

Although the state Division of Highways built the path for $23,336, Marin cyclists areen't geting a free ride.

Southern Pacific, which owns the Northwestern Pacific right-of-way on which the path is built, charges the county a $1,000 per year fee.

Vandeweg said county officials were "a little surprised" about the fee, thinking Southern Pacific would donate the lease or charge a nominal sum. But, he said, the safe route is worth the price.

The highways division paid for the construction of the path — which it calls a "partial frontage road" — because it was the construction of the present freeway in 1955 that wiped out an existing conventional highway through the area and over Richardson Bay Bridge.

Years of negotiations between the county, the railroad, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the Army Corps of Engineers were required before Southern Pacific agreed to lease the land for a path.

During that time cyclists, with the reluctant consent of the highways division and the California Highway Patrol, continued to ride along the Highway 101 shoulder from the Sausalito freeway entrance to the Shoreline highway exit.

The breakthrough came last last year when Southern Pacific finally agreed to lease part of the right-of-way. Before that time the railroad had refused to allow the path because it believed its application to abandon service to Sausalito would be harmed by a path easement.

The paved route varies from eight feet in width to four feet and winds picturesquely around rocks which dot the filled land.

Also included in the project are log barriers near the helicopter to prevent autos from using the path and fences, both to keep cyclists off the train tracks and to block them from falling into Richardson Bay.

Vandeweg said a permanent path will be built when the shoreline between Gate 6 and the Marin County heliport is developed. The county will ask that a small park and the new path be built by the developer when the land is improved.

Tomorrow's ceremonies were planned by Jon Livingston, chairman of the governing council of the Sausalito Youth Center. Livingston, an avid cyclist, said he thought the important link deserved a formal dedication.

A girl's 10-speed bicycle, donated by the Mill Valley Cyclery Shop, will be given away during the dedication.

First Year: Scarcity Of Top Talent

Top rated performances will be scarce in 1971-72 for the new Veterans Memorial building because Marin is an untested audience.

That was the conclusion reached yesterday by Asst. County Administrator Thomas Campanella in a discussion on KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" with Supervisor Michael Wornum, architect Aaron Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation and Donald L. Rolph, county planning staff member.

Campanella said that while Marinites attend cultural events in San Francisco, Marin has not had a major auditorium to test audience attendance in the county. He said bookers, cautious about losing money in an untried community, are hesitant to invest in an expensive show.

Green was quick to say the Marin hall will be able to attract top performances in the future. He said a 1,750-seat auditorium in Sarasota, Fla., near Tampa — similar to the 2,100-seat Marin auditorium — has had two years of success with top ballet, operas and Broadway shows.

The architect pointed out, however, the Veterans Memorial building is not only meant to house large national performances, but to accommodate smaller local groups.

Wornum addressed himself to the barren landscape and the "dreadful desert of asphalt for parking" by saying the county has had higher priorities in a tight budget.

Rolph said that besides landscaping, the planning department is considering the feasability of a swimming and tennis center near the Veterans Memorial building.

Wornum said he favors the county, not a fair board, to run the auditorium and the adjacent fair until the building and landscaping are done.

Bicyclist Injured In Motorcycle Crash

Fabric Safety Law Isn't Applied: Nader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says a parent of a child burned as a result of inflammable night clothing should have the power to penalize government officials.

Nader, charging the federal government has failed to carry out provisions of the inflammable fabrics law, said Thursday government executives and workers should be punished just as any citizen for willful disregard of law.

In testimony before the Senate Consumer subcommittee, he criticized employees of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Food and Drug Administration for not requiring manufacturers to apply safety and inflammable fabrics laws. Products in violation are still allowed on the market, Nader said.

He said the federal governmen continually heeds when industry claims, "in a chorus-like style, that it is impossible to meet this level of safety."

Nader said the government spent $20 million and three years to make sure the astronauts' moon-buggy would be safe, yet allows the sale of:

—A color television which can catch fire after being turned off.

—Metal cans which fragment on opening, allowing metallic filings to fall into food.

—Rotary lawn mowers which kill and maim.

He urged the subcommittee to enact legislation to create a new consumer protection agency with a consumer advocate independent of existing government departments. The agency would be funed by fines levied against product safety offenders.

Japan Reports Embassy 'Bugs'

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan's embassy in Moscow has been "bugged" with electronic listening devices, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said today.

Masaji Sato, chief of the ministry's secretariat, declined to say how many such devices had been found.

His statement followed a report in a Tokyo newspaper today that "large numbers" of listening devices have been planted in the embassy by the Russians.

Sato said Japan would have nothing further to say at present "because we have to take into consideration relations with the country involved."

Trail Ride Test Set For Teen Horsemen

Junior riders in Marin County will compete for ribbons Aug. 8 in the Tamalpais Trail Riders annual junior trail test at the Girl Scout camp below Crest Farm in Fairfax.

The trail test will cover a course of a dozen natural obstacles. Riders will be judged individually on each obstacle for performance and overall for suitability of horse to rider.

The test, open to English or Western horses, will be divided into two divisions of riders: 12 years and under and ages 13 to 16. Tie downs will not be permitted.

Ribbons will be awarded through eighth place for each division and a high point trail horse award will be made.

Juniors can register until the 9:30 a.m. starting time, but must have an adult present or a signed release from parents.

An entry fee will be charged for all riders who are not members of the Tamalpais riders.

Skins Sale Ban

DETROIT (UPI)—A proposed city ordinance to ban the sale of objects made from skins of endangered species of animals has failed to win approval from the Detroit Common Council. A similar measure to protect animals in danger of extinction is pending in the Michigan Legislature.

CATCHING A GREASED PIG

Contestants in a slippery pig contest at a county fair in Belleville, Ill., yesterday found trying to catch the little greased critter a difficult task. Fourteen-year-old Dennis Kombrink of Caseyville, Ill., shown leading the pack, finally caught the pig and got to take him home as the top prize in the 4-H club-sponsored contest. (UPI Telephoto)

Plans For Campus Reviewed

Site development plans for the Marin Community College District's north campus in Novato were reviewed last night by the district board.

According to Supt. John A. Grasham, the review of architectural plans was conducted by the firm of Neptune and Thomas and included alternative locations for cluster buildings.

Further review of plans for the Indian Valley Colleges campus will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. on the campus site, he said.

Meeting at the site will allow board members, staff and public to "visualize" architectural proposals, Dr. Grasham added.

The campus, scheduled to open in 1974, will have several clusters of buildings each representing a separate school of study.

Labor Strikebreakers' Bill Beaten In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill strongly backed by organized labor to outlaw so-called professional strikebreakers has been rejected by the Assembly during a rare set of circumstances and unusual parliamentary maneuvering.

The proposal failed Thursday when Assemblyman David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, serving his final day as an assemblyman, was denied permission on a 26-37 vote to debate the bill out of sequence.

As the lunch hour approached, Roberti tried to take up his bill. He already had submitted his letter of resignation from the Assembly effective that afternoon and was only three hours away from being sworn-in as a state senator.

The action appeared to foreclose chances the bill would be taken up on the floor, but sources said later some Democrats are considering trying again.

The measure would make it illegal for anyone to offer himself three times within five years to replace a worker on strike. It also would be a misdemeanor for an employer to "utilize" a "professional strikebreaker."

Sources said many lawmakers didn't want to vote on the politically sensitive bill. But labor cited heavy campaign contributions to Democrats, particularly in Roberti's July 20 special election, and demanded a floor vote.

As it turned out, the Assembly managed to avoid a vote on the bill itself.

Roberti, who has carried similar legislation for years, said as far as he was concerned the bill was dead unless someone decided to carry it for him.

An Imposter Is Reported

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An imposter is traveling in California and other Western states posing as a son of the late Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, the bishop's former wife disclosed Thursday.

Mrs. Esther Pike, who divorced the controversial prelate in 1967, said the imposter is a young man about the same age and somewhat similar in appearance to Pike's real son, Christopher. But he is shorter than her son, who is six feet tall, she added.

Bishop C. Kilmer Meyers, who succeded Pike as bishop of California, issued a letter to Episcopal churches throughout the west warning that the imposter had "appeared at various church activities."

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Welfare Fuss Far From Over

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and legislative leader entered their fifth straight day of welfare negotiations today with most difficult issues still to be resolved.

Reagan and the lawmakers now must decide on a "closed-end" or "open-end" welfare budget, proposed cost-of-living increases for recipients, a food stamp program, job training and outside income.

"Under no circumstances are we going to help that property tax go up," vowed Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys.

Negotiations took place only briefly Thursday in contrast to hours-long sessions the previous three days.

Reagan and the lawmakers planned to meet again today.

Legislators hope to have a bill printed over the weekend and ready for consideration by the Assembly Welfare Committee either Monday or Tuesday.

By not rusying passage of a bill this weekend, lawmakers postponed the start of a scheduled three-week vacation.

The 1971-72 budget signed by Reagan provided $573 million in state funds for welfare—about $170 million less than experts say is needed. Even with administration changes in regulations which do not require legislative approval, the welfare budget is expected to face a $108 million deficit.

Reagan vetoed language in the budget which would have provided "open end" authorization for the state to spend whatever was needed on welfare. The counties fear this action by the governr could force them to pick up the tab for the extra $108 million or whatever other costs are not paid by the state welfare budget.

Reagan has insisted the counties' burden would not increase but Democrats want specific assurances written into the welfare reform bill.

Democrats also want about $10 million provided for job training.

ROAD FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation that would eliminate the present distribution of highway construction funds and give most of the money to urban areas has won easy Assembly approval.

On a 44-15 vote, the Assembly Thursday approved a bill by Assembyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, that would wipe out the current north-south split of funds.

Present law allocates 60 per cent of the highway construction money to Southern California and 40 per cent to Northern California.

SUPERVISORS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill providing that vacancies on boards of supervisors be filled by election if they occur more than one year prior to the next general election has been vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan said Thursday the bill, by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, "unnecessarily complicates the process for filling" vacancies on the boards.

Under present law, the vacancies in such cases are filled by gubernatorial appointment.

BILLBOARDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to block the erection of billboards along California's 6,-300-mile scenic highway system has been killed by the Senate Business and Professions Committee.

The measure, by Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, died Thursday for lack of a motion to approve it.

PRISON 'HOLE'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has overridden bitter protests and endorsed a bill ordering tighter restrictions on the use of the solitary confinement "hole" in California prisons.

After a long roll-call, the bill by Assemblyman John Dunlap, D-Papa, went to the Senate on a 43-29 vote, only two more than it needed for passage.

Dunlap told the Assembly there are 400 such tiny nine-by-six foot cells in California prison and that some convicts are locked in them for four and five years.

"It's inhumane," he said. "It gives me claustrophobia to think about it."

The bill would prohibit anyone from being confined in the "hole" without a hearing by prison authorities. A prisoner couldn't be held in such cells for more than 60 days without a Superior Court hearing.

HOURLY WAGE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Major legislation drawn up by organized labor to boost the state's minimum hourly wage to $2 by 1973 in two steps has won narrow approval in the Assembly.

The bill, carried by Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, on behalf of the California AFL-CIO, was passed Thursday 41-31. It needed a minimum of 41 votes for passage.

The measure calls for a minimum wage of $1.85 an hour by next Jan. 1, $2 by the following Jan. 1, and time-and-a-half pay for work over a 40-hour week.

State law currently sets the hourly minimum wage at $1.65 while the federal law requires $1.60.

TUITION

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill allowing trustees at state colleges to charge graduate students a tuition fee has been amended by the Assembly to limit the payment to a maximum of $200.

The Assembly voted Thursday 39-37 to accept amendments by Assemblyman John Vasconellos, D-San Jose, to the legislation to establish state college tuitions for the first time in history.

Additionally, the amendments specify that the funds would only be spent for financial assistance to students in such forms as scholarships and other aids.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Food Buffs Will Be Pleased By Le Chalet Basque's New Chef

Food buffs in search of new delights to the palate can find them as often at the hands of a new cuisinier as at a completely new restaurant.

Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia has a new one — chef Pierre Joris. Although he has been a resident of San Anselmo for several years, he is probably little known to local diners-out — unless they also cover the San Francisco restaurant scene. The reason — for the past eight years he has been chef at Amelio's in that city, and this should be adequate testimony to his capabilities. Before that he had his own restaurant in South America — in Colombia, I think it was. As a Frenchman he has all the natural talents of his race for preparing foods, plus long experience in the field.

We tested out his onion soup and also his veal — both excellent for measuring a man's worth in the kitchen. Believe me, after this we shall let ourselves go. I'd say that he should be equally good on anything else on the menu.

PIERRE REPLACES Roger Minhondo at Le Chalet Basque. Roger, being the young, ambitious man that he is and undeniably skillful in his profession, has bought out the interest of Andre Marquer in the Normandie on the San Rafaal Miracle Mile. He has taken over the dual role of chef and partner of Michael Braud in that dinery.

IF YOU SPOT the British Union Jack waving saucily in the breeze above the Mayflower Inn at 1533 Fourth Street, San Rafael, it's a touch added by new owners Barry Olden of San Rafael and Ronald Patnaude of Fairfax, who recently took over this restaurant.

This is their first restaurant venture. Barry is English and Ron is American. However, the British menu of fish and chips, pasties and pork pies still prevails — along with a steak and kidney pie special at $1.95 on Thursday nights. Mayflower Inn is also headquarters for the Marin Cricket Club.

THE NEW Celia's No. 5 opened this week at 1 Vivian Way (off Francisco Boulevard), San Rafael and is already off to a good start serving Mexican and American lunches and dinners. It also has a full liquor license and bar.

This is where Taberna was formerly located, so not much was needed in the way of redecoration. Hours are from 10 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. Sometime in the future, entertainment and dancing are planned — but possibly not for a couple of months.

Menu consists of various Mexican specialty dishes and combination plates made up of enchiladas, tostadas, tamales, chile relleno, along with Mexican steak and all the side dishes — and several American offerings such as steaks, roast beef, prawns and sole. Also a list of sandwiches, cold and hot. Prices are in the moderate range and food is also prepared to take out.

Ceclia's No. 5 is owned by Celia and Perfecto Lopez, who have four other restaurants in San Francisco and on the peninsula. Food operation here is under their nephew, Fernando Rodriquez, and Jim Callan, who is known to many Marinites, is head bartender.

Grand opening will be held on Sunday.

LET IT BE KNOWN again at this point that Celia's is where Taberna used to be — not Taverna Yiasou. Apparently there has been confusion about this, with some people getting the idea it was Taverna Yiasou that closed its doors.

Not so — the latter is still open, serving its Greek dinners on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and lunches during week days.

GEORGE LOIZOS is up and around again, and he and Bonnie plan to reopen the Cafe Ambrosia in San Anselmo again next Wednesday.

In the past closing nights have been on Mondays and Tuesdays, but starting Aug. 9 this restaurant will also remain open Monday nights — cutting the offday to Tuesday only. Some remodeling has given the place more room and Cafe Ambrosia can now handle all comers.

IT SEEMS THAT La Petite in Strawberry (NOTE: Not La Petite Auberge in San Rafael, also confusing to some people who don't read all the way through) has given up its status as a delicatessen.

(Growth of the sandwich business overwhelmed everything else, so Joe Allen is pushing sandwiches for all they are worth — particularly his dinner sandwiches which also include a choice of soup or salad. These range from $1.65 to $2.25 and sail under such names as the Pittsburgh (hot smoked pastrami and Swiss cheese), the Panama (guacamole with Swiss cheese), the Parisian (roast beef with herbed bearnaise butter), the Alaskan, which is crab on a bed of crushed avocado and several more equally tempting.

Right now you can get a table in the evening without too much trouble. Lunches are another matter — there is usually a waiting line.

Food is also prepared to take out — of course.

A NEW Sambo's Restaurant is opening next week at 1700 Novato Boulevard, Novato — the first Sambo's in Marin County.

As I calculate it, this should be the company's 174th unit in a chain spread throughout the country. However, new ones have been going up so fast I may be a few openings behind. Sambo's was founded 14 years ago with one family owned and operated restaurant in Santa Barbara. Last year total company sales were reported at $44.8 million.

LOOK FOR The Oak Tree Inn in San Geronimo to open again after the first of the year under new ownership and probably under a new name.

Grace Zanolini of Strout Realty reports she has sold the property, but some extensive remodeling is planned before the new owner even attempts to offer service. He's a restaurant man and plans on keeping his present job until everything at the Oak Tree is ready to go.

AT THE DOCK in Tiburon, folk singer Lynn Ashdown, who has been performing there Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, is taking next week off for a Hawaii vacation. A singer-guitarist from Monterey known as Rosemaria, with some new folk songs, will spell her on Thursday and Saturday next week, but so far no one has been chosen to fill next Friday's spot.

IF ANYONE SHOULD ASK who performs at the Robert Morton organ at the Marin Pizza Pub in San Rafael, I guess you could say The Presidents.

Gordon Tucker, Warren Lubich and Bill McCoy all are former presidents of the Professional Organists Breakfast Club of the Bay Area.

FOR ABOUT TWO YEARS, a thriving little business called the Sub Hut — at 4380 Redwood Highway, off Mitchell Boulevard, has been enjoying great popularity as the only restaurant in Northgate Industrial Park.

It's a meeting place for business people in the park from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturdays. Sandwich time starts at 11 a.m. and the favorite on its simple menu is the Sub Hut Special, supplied with three different cheeses and five different meats. According to your appetite you can get it complete with condiments either in the five-inch size for 70 cents or the 10-inch size for $1.15. Either way it can be a meal.

Jack and Vivian Snyder of Marinwood are the owners.

Boys Start Grass Fire Behind School

A grass fire behind San Pedro School on San Pedro Road on Wednesday was set by two San Rafael juveniles, police reported yesterday.

Police said they gave a stern reprimand and a trip home to the two boys, who were spotted at the scene of the 2 p.m. blaze by a fire marshal.

144 Towns Alerted By False Air Alarm

STRASBOURG, France (UPI)—A short circuit at an air force radar base Wednesday set off an air raid alarm in 144 towns and villages along the Rhine River, air force officials said.

As sirens set off by the automatic system blared all over the department of BasRhin, policemen, firemen, and rescue workers ran to their respective town halls. One of the worst telephone jams in the history of the area took place when 144 mayors simultaneously tried to telephone national police headquarters.

Bennett Denied Venue Change

A Marin Municipal Court judge yesterday denied a motion for a change of venue for the trial of state Board of Equalization member William M. Bennett on a charge of being drunk in public.

"It appears to me he can receive a fair trial in Marin County," Judge David Menary Jr. said in denying the motion by Bennett's attorney, William O. Weissich of San Rafael.

Menary did grant Weissich's motion, over the objections of the district attorney's office, for a continuance of the start of the trial, changing it from Aug. 12 to Aug. 30.

Weissich had contended that an impartial and unbiased jury could not be obtained in Marin County for the case.

He blamed publicity stemming from Bennett's trial last month on a drunken driving charge. That trial ended in a Marin Municipal Court jury's guilty verdict being thrown out and the case dismissed by judge Robert A. Smallman.

Weissich said whichever municipal court judge is assigned the case would be under pressure because of what he called a "deluge of criticism" to which Smallman was subjected follgwing his dismissal of the drunken driving charge.

Bennett, 52, of Kentfield, was arrested in Sausalito March 4 on suspicion of being drunk in public. He was arrested, again in Sausalito, on April 25 in connection with the drunken driving charge, which went to trial first.

During a hearing on his motion yesterday, Weissich submitted a declaration with 53 signatureu of persons who said they did not think Brnnett could get a fair trial in Marin.

Deputy Dist. Atty. John R. Thomas Jr. countered with the results of a survey taken by an investigator for his office.

Of 101 persons interviewed at random at Marin shopping centers, 10 said they would not be able to give an impartial verdict if they were selected as jurors in the case, according to the survey.

Five of the 10 said they would rule in favor of Bennett, and the other five said they would rule against.

Tunney Will Speak At Party

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., will speak at a $10-a-ticket fund raising cocktail party on Aug. 8 in Kent Woodlands.

The party will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the home of Benjamin P. Webb, 445 Woodland Avenue.

Tunney's Marin appearance will be part of his statewide swing on a series of "reports to the people."

Army To Call 48 In Medina Trial

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—The army says it plans to call 48 witnesses in the court-martial of Capt. Ernest L. Medina, the company commander at My Lai. Testimony begins Aug. 16 after a recess to serve subpoenaes.

A five-man jury, the minimum under military regulations, was seated Wednesday for the trial that court officials estimate will last from four to six weeks.

Medina, 34, of Montrose, Colo., is accused of killing, or permitting his troops to kill, Vietnamese men, women and children during a U.S. Army mission at My Lai in March, 1968.

300 Shoe Pairs Stolen From Store

More than 300 pairs of shoes were stolen from the Village Shoe Den at Town and Country Shopping Center in Strawberry July 18 or 19, the Marin County Sheriff's office reported yesterday.

No estimate of the value of the shoes was given.

Bay Crusade Sets No Goal, Adopts 'Fair Share' Policy

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — United Bay Area Crusade directors Have decided not to set a specific dollar goal for the 1971 fund-raising drive, and instead adopted a "fair share" strategy.

A "fair share" contribution would be one hour's pay per month for donors earning less than $10,000 a year, and 1 per cent for those earning more, according to Jerome Hull, president of the UBAC board of directors. He said the Napa-Solano County and Santa Clara County crusades have used the "no-goal" ideas successfully.

UBAC last year met its dollar goal of raising $17 million, but had to apportion the funds among agencies asking a total of $30 million, Hull said.

With 150 of UBAC's 550 directors present the policy change Wednesday was approved with hardly any dissent.

Another issue that had been expected to stir controversy, the UBAC staff's "New Directions" program, created hardly a ripple during the meeting, participants reported yesterday.

Several Crusade-supported agencies, including the Marin Mental Health Association, had distributed letters to UBAC board members warning that more time was needed to study the proposed emphasis on neighborhood services rather than traditional agencies.

Percy H. Steele Jr. of San Francisco and Oscar A. Mintzer of the East Bay spokesmen for a new association of UBAC-affiliated agencies, had charged that the Crusade staff was trying "unilaterally" to curtail traditional agency functions and create a new superagency.

The New Directions report was accepted Wednesday, and UBAC will begin splitting up some $700,000 in funds for New Direction programs in September.

Several Marin agencies that lent volunteers to the 1970 fund-raising drive later strongly criticized UBAC for either eliminating or sharply slashing their shares of the $17 million raised.

Report Suspect Identified In Sickle Slayings

NEVADA CITY (UPI) —The search for the sickle swinging slayer of two persons at Bear River campground two weeks ago has been narrowed to a single suspect reported to be a Placer County laborer.

The unidentified man has been missing from his residence for a week.

A seven-man investigative team headed by Nevada County Sheriff Wayne Brown and Placer County Undersheriff Fay Bates spent several hours at the suspect's residence Wednesday in search of evidence that might link him to the killings.

However, authorities in both counties declined to discuss what they found in the house.

Where Is It Now, The Glory And The Dream?

Barring some last-minute mishap, the Apollo 15's Falcon lunar vehicle will be nearing the moon as this reaches the readers. Tomorrow, 39-year-old David R. Scott and 41-year-old James B. Irwin will become the seventh and eighth Americans to walk the surface of the moon. And their walk will be shown to us on television.

It seems only yesterday that such an accomplishment was only in the imagination.

JUST OVER TWO years ago, hailing the landing of Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin, the first moon walkers, we wrote in this space:

"Their accomplishment defies explanation, beggars comparison, transcends the superlative."

America (and the world) were thrilled and awed by that first moon landing. Millions sat for hours watching their TV sets for every picture from the moon, and every repeat of that picture. They listened to hours of "space talk" from the Texas control center. Vicariously, all of us went to the moon.

It had cost many billions, this moon program, since it was inaugurated by President John F. Kennedy eight years earlier. But in those days of glory and enchantment in July, 1969, few questioned the cost.

We had made a dream come true. And if it had proved a very, very expensive dream — well, most of us felt, at least for the moment, it had been worth it.

IT'S DIFFERENT now.

Dave Scott and Jim Irwin are no less heroic figures than Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin. What they hope to do on the moon will be more important to science, we are told, than the rocks picked up by their predecessors. This time, says the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, important geologic information will result from the moon landing.

But somehow, this leaves us all rather cold.

Few sit glued to their television sets watching the progress of the Apollo 15. Few will get up in the middle of the night for the first pictures of Scott and Irwin's moon walk — although almost everybody would have been willing to do so to see the landing of Armstrong and Aldrin.

And if few questioned the cost two years ago, almost everyone questions it now. Stripped by high taxes, buffeted by inflation, we look at the space program more and more as an unnecessary, expensive "toy." The talk you hear is not of wonderment and delight; it is of cost, and "why do we spend so much to go to the moon?"

WHEN DREAMS come true, the reality never quite matches the dream. We know now what is on the moon — and that it is not really so interesting as some of the things that might have been there, as dreamed up by the science fiction writers. The attitude more and more is, " 'We have gone to the moon. So what? Do we have to keep going back?"

And at a half-billion dollars per visit, it is a fair question.

"... But, on the other hand, thank God ..."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Space Program Finds A Defender

Carolyn St. Clair Smith's remarks ("Readers Say," July 27) seems to me that she is against waste. Since this is the case she can clean up her own backyard and do something about the $12.3 billion a year spent on alcoholic beverages and the $7.9 billion per year on tobacco.

The "billions on this ridiculous venture" are not only being spent on building "dune buggies" but are paying the salaries of a hundred thousand plus workers that you would wilfully put out of a job.

Turnout For Fairfax Zoning Hearing Urged

The City Council of Fairfax is planning to consider the subject of the property now known as the Town and Country Club at its meeting of Aug. 9. I hope I will be only one of many residents who turn out in support of the group actively sponsoring PLAN (Protect Land and Nature) which opposes dense construction at that site.

It was really disheartening recently to talk with the owner of one of the (very few) businesses presently occupying the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center and hear him confess that he was delighted with the thought of multiple dwellings within walking distance of his store, but would be fighting it if it were near his home. Almost 8,000 of us presently live in Fairfax and, even with full capacity, the proprietors in the shopping center would number only a handful. Just another example of "I've got mine, Jack", or "What's in it for me?"

It seems to me that any increase in tax revenues to the city would be more than offset by increased expenditures for services (schools, road maintenance, protection, etc.)

At what point will "the powers that be" stop paying only lip service to the knowledge that the preservation of open space and the prevention of overcrowding are vital if Marin is to continue to be "Marvelous"?

Beneficiaries Should Abide By Contracts

There is a bill in the legislature sponsored by Sen. Peter Behr, intended to help the Shoreline Unified School District with its financial financial problems, created by the removal of land from the tax rolls into the National Seashore and the reduced valuation of land entered into the land conservation contracts.

ABAG's "Ocean Coastline Study," supplement report IS-5, lists land just south of Dillon Beach, under conservation contract, having value of $305 per acre, with a notation that if it was not under contract, the value would be $700 per acre. This 56.4 per cent reduction and others like it contribute to the school district's problems.

There is more than one way to look at the "tax break" given to land owners who have conservation contracts. One attitude would be that whatever tax reduction they get must be made up by those who have not or cannot put their land into conservation contract.

For all practical purposes, land under these contracts is being subsidized and that means that they are being paid for doing certain things with their land in accordance with the terms of the contract entered into with the county authorities. Therefore it seems reasonable to ask the land owner to live up to his end of the bargain and refrain from competing with the owners who are not under contract, otherwise the man who is paying regular taxes could be forced out of business due to the unfair activities of the subsidized landowner.

It is hard to understand why some people get so upset when asked to do what they had agreed to when they asked for the tax break. After all, they signed the contract and should have had full and complete understanding of their obligations. Furthermore, they agreed to do a lot more than just keep the land from commercial development in order to get the tax break and they should be compelled to live up to the agreement.

CAPITOL REPORT

Arguments Are Compelling For CHP Pay Increase

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — There is one of Governor Reagan's budget vetoes the legislature should override. One item which should be restored.

Consider this.

You're 32 years old, almost 33. Back home you have a wife and two kids and a hefty mortgage.

It's late at night — just after two o'clock and the bars have just closed. You're speeding down the freeway. Flying low. Your speedometer reads better than 100 miles per hour. At this speed a miscalculation could turn you into a twisted mass of man and metal, maybe split you and your car on both sides of the concrete pillar of an overpass.

YOU'RE NOT SPEEDING for the fun of it. For the past three or four miles you have been chasing a car that is weaving back and forth across all three lanes. He has already forced several other cars off the road. When you catch him, what will he do? Will he try to ram you? Will he pull a gun? Or will he claim "police brutality" and haul you into court?

It's all in a night's work. You're an officer in the California Highway Patrol.

And, consider this,. If you're fresh out of the CHP academy, you earn $834 a month. After you have been with the patrol for three years, you'll make $965 a month. You were given $135 for uniforms when you earned your shield. From then on you buy your own equipment.

Earlier this month the governor vetoed a pay raise for you and the other men of the CHP. It made you kind of sore. Who wants to go on risking his life for $900 a month?

But there's something about the job. Something about the tradition of the patrol. The satisfaction of making California's highways the nation's safest. So, along with the majority of the 6,000 men in the Association of California Highway Patrolmen, you voted not to strike, and not to engage in any work slow-down. You voted to try to get the raise through the legal process, through the legislature.

THE ARGUMENTS for your case are compelling. The pay for California Highway Patrol officers averages less than comparable patrolmen jobs throughout the state. And that's not figuring that many of the other police officers get a uniform allowance and other benefits you do not.

A survey of some 60 California cities of 50,000 population or more indicates that 32 of those cities pay their police officers more than the state pays the men of the CHP.

During recent years there have been numerous times when the CHP has been called into special duty — sticky riot control assignments. At Berkeley and Isla Vista, for example. The highway patrolmen never lost their cool; their presence helped to speed the restoration of order.

The money to pay CHP salaries does not come from the general fund. It comes from fees collected for motor vehicle and driver licenses. It is a special fund for special purposes. What better purpose than bringing the pay of the CHP up to parity with other police organizations?

SOME WILL SAY that every dollar used for such pay raises would be a dollar taken from the highway fund since monies from the motor vehicle-drivers fees not used for administration of the CHP and the Department of Motor Vehicles goes for highway construction.

It would take less than the cost of a mile of freeway to fund the CHP pay raise. Statistics over the past few years show that where the CHP is on the job, the rate of highway accidents and deaths go down.

Next year the patrol plans to take its pay scale to the voters, through the initiative. The patrolmen will ask for "continuous parity" with the average salary for comparable duty in major California cities and counties — such as Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland.

In the meantime, the officers of the California Highway Patrol deserve a pay adjustment. The legislature should see that they get it.

AEC Should Be Required To Justify Alaska Test Shot

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Like some monster propelled by the vast energy resources over which it presides, the Atomic Energy Commission gives the impression of being incapable of stopping, once it has embarked ona given course. Such is the impression created by the AEC's persistence with plans for a large underground nuclear explosion on an Aleutian island in October despite the protests of environmentalists and the claims of non-government scientists that the original reason for the test no longer exists.

Dr. Jeremy J. Stone, director of the Federation of American Scientists, has argued that the five-megaton ABM warhead scheduled to be tested is no longer relevant, since the mission of the so-called Safeguard defense system has changed. As conceived five years ago, he said, the warhead was for the Spartan missile, which was designed to provide a defense of heavily populated areas by destroying attacking missiles with huge bursts of X-rays in the vacuum of space.

BUT NOW that the Safeguard function has been reoriented to the protection ofMinuteman bases, the large warhead, the scientist asserted, is no longer needed. Indeed, the Defense Department has already announced an intention to develop an "improved Spartan" with a warhead of "much lower yield."

Instead of answering questions about the Spartan, the AEC has simply fallen back on the claim that the test is necessary to national security.

IN RESPONSE to fears expressed by Alaska officials and others that the explosion may release redioactive gases and water, pollute Pacific fisheries, kill wildlife, or set off an earthquake or tidal wave, the AEC has given its typical assurances that the risks are minimal. Yet only last year the AEC — with its usual we-know-what-we-are-doing attitude — set off a low yield shot in Nevada. The explosion released an unexpected 7,000-foot-high cloud of radioactive dust, dirt and water vapor, which produced fallout over 13 western states and contaminated 152 test site workers and 400 automobiles. Characteristically, the agency then indicated that no harm was done because no one was exposd to more than a fraction of the amount of radiation set under the federal radiation safety standard.

With fishermen, conservationists and nearly every responsible official in Alaska questioning the wisdom of the so-called Cannikan test, the AEC should be required to explain and fully justify its planned experiment before being allowed to pull the trigger.

Pentagon Papers Fail To Show Planned Deception By President

WASHINGTON — It is increasingly evident that the effect of the Pentagon Papers is quite different from what those most eager to see them printed expected.

Unintentionally their publication is helping to correct the falsehood that President Johnson deceived the American people during the 1964 presidential campaign into believing there would be no escalation of the U.S. role in Vietnam while he was planning it all the time.

THIS IS ONE of the main themes of the Pentagon study and here is why it is rebounding on itself:

1 — The idea that President Johnson practiced "planned deception" on the U.S. public in order to cover up his future intentions was widely accepted by the American people before the Pentagon Papers were published. Sen William Fulbright D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, was one of the early generators of this "deception theory" contending that he was misled and didn't know what he was doing when he shepherded through the Senate the Tonkin Resolution authorizing expansion of the war. The extreme doves propagated it and impatience and frustration over Vietnam provided ground for its acceptance.

Many people wanted to believe that they were deceived. American historians have a recurring habit of looking back on past wars as either immoral or unnecessary or both.

2 — In my judgment the Pentagon Papers provide no substance to the claim of presidential deception and added few converts because the belief was already so widespread.

3 — But they did something else. By appearing to give quasi-official sanction to the deception theory, the papers soon began to stimulate effective and authoritative reply so that today truth is catching up with falsehood.

HERETOFORE, HIGH officials of the Johnson Administration have remained silent in the face of partisan and purposeful accusations. They were prepared to let history be the judge and to leave the forum for a new President to occupy. But the one-sided, fragmentary, distorting Pentagon Papers made reply mandatory.

Undersecretary of State George Ball, who represented a dissident view on Vietnam within the administration and whose credibility is high, has testified that from his firsthand experience there was no intent at deception. Secy. of Defense Robert McNamara has said the same.

Dean Rusk, one of the most honest and honorable men ever to serve as secretary of state, has said that "I do not believe there was any deliberate attempt to deceive anybody" about Vietnam.

Perhaps to those who have been eager to embrace the deception theory, the most credible witness will be the man who has done so much to try to spread the deception theory — Daniel Ellsberg who worked on the Pentagon Papers and said he gave them to the press.

NOW HE HAS changed his mind; now he has become persuaded that the deception theory has been greatly overstated. When the rebuttal became so strong, he decided to take a new look at L.B.J.'s campaign speeches in 1964. He said he found "to his amazement" that these statements by the President were "almost invariably misquoted." That Johnson gave many "cues" to the dangers in Vietnam and that in Ellsberg's view "the public did not hear what they did not want to hear."

Whether the public heard him or not, the President said during the 1964 campaign:

That we must "stand firm against the aggression of North Vietnam."

That "peace requires that existing agreements in Indochina be honored."

That "we shall engage our strength to whatever extent needed to help others repel aggression." There are useful lessons to be learned from our Vietnamese experience. But one thing which needs to be unlearned is the false claim of presidential deception.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

More Looks At Moon; And Then Where Are We?

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

COCOA BEACH, Fla. — The "Selling of the Pentagon" shrinks to a Fuller Brush man's spiel when held up beside the selling of the space program. John Kennedy, our best political salesman of recent decades, laid down the pitch about reaching the moon, and NASA and friends took if from there. And on the face of it, there could be no more exciting product for the American people to pay government flacks to sell them than the Saturn series that sent man to the moon.

Once the money is appropriated and the launch date is set, there is no need for sales efforts in this part of the country. Multithousands of tourists throng in, camping along the beaches and roads to reserve grandstand seats for themselves.

Everybody except the astronauts carouses the night before (apparently on the thesis that it's better to celebrate in advance because if anything happens there won't be any celebrating afterwards). And all males watch the rare birds that flock around the French photographers and wear hot pants.

TO DRAW STILL more tourists, there is now an annual moonwalk festival. This year it touted golf, bowling and girls' softball tournaments; amateur rocket demonstrations; clambakes; Hawaiian organ concerts; fishing contests; horse shows; beauty pageants; street dances; an astronauts' ball, and, on the eve of the launch, a special church service. But to call the festival a moderate success would be charitable.

In the other direction, to call the launch itself by any adjective that comes to mind is to understate it.

The tension during the last seconds of the countdown is familiar to all television watchers who have it amplified for them by Walter Cronkite. Out at the Cape, things seem more casual because for most of those around you this is old stuff by now.

Despite all the statistics about its size and weight, the Saturn looks like just another rocket as it sits on its pad in the middle distance.

ALL THAT CHANGES at ignition. It is a moment hard to handle for a reporter trained mostly in politics, where you restrain your enthusiasm and never emote or applaud in the press section, no matter who is doing what. When the rocket lifts off, the sound around you at first is a collective intake of breath, then a scattering of cheers and yells of "Go!" and you want to join in. Then the sound of the rocket itself arrives and shakes the earth and the stands, and you want to cover your ears but don't because you want to feel the full power of it.

Riding its fireball straight up and then curving southeast, it remains clearly visible through the high, thin clouds, and each new booster firing draws oohs from the crowd and then, less than three minutes after ignition, just as the man says it is 73 miles downrange, it is out of sight and the show is over.

The pelicans that flapped up at lift-off sail calmly again. A flatness comes and everybody realizes they stayed up too late and got up too early. A great cloud created by the engines at lift-off blows apart in the southeast breeze, white tinged with yellow. You wonder if that is the color of smoke made by burning money.

WE WENT TO the moon, and now where are we! National pride aside, we are possessors of a highly efficient space technology and management team — living amid high unemployment on the same earth we inhabited 10 years ago, only dirtier.

The space team is now a burden rather than a blessing, because as the Saturn series tapers off the space program's future is uncertain. The wife of an unemployed electronics engineer told me in all seriousness after the launch how tough it was at the Yacht Club, where members didn't know whether to buy a new boat or sell out and leave town. You could sympathize with her; she had been in Europe in April and might not get to go back any time soon.

Still, you knew she would be heard. The aerospace industry is struggling to have the program extended at a high spending level, and its employees are of an economic class to which the Nixon administration is highly responsive. They also are concentrated in states like Florida and California, to which Mr. Nixon already is giving anxious political attention, as in his endorsement of the federal commitment to back Lockheed through its losses.

So you could sympathize with the lady, but you could also tell her she was lucky. She could have black skin and live in a slum in a state the administration already has written off for 1972.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 30, 1961

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev announced a 20-year plan for Russia which he said would provide his people with the highest living standard in the world by 1980.

Great Britain applied for membership in the European Common Market.

20 YEARS AGO

July 30, 1951

The Marin County Board of Supervisors pledged immediate action on repaving Miller Avenue outside Mill Valley and realigning Wolfe Grade beyond the San Rafael city limits.

Marin telephone operators ended a walkout after receiving a 10 per cent pay raise and additional fringe benefits.

Kreins's Police Report Doesn't Enhance His Tiburon Popularity

It's a good thing Edward S. Kreins is police chief of Pleasant Hill and doesn't have much occasion to come to Marin now that his study of police operations in Belvedere and Tiburon is finished.

That's because Kreins, the former chief of police in Sausalito, isn't exactly the most welcome face on the Tiburon Peninsula since his 99-page report was issued last week.

The report — which one city councilman has predicted won't just be "put on the shelf and ignored" — pulls no punches. It makes several observations and recommendations with which some civic-minded citizens take issue.

PRIMARY AMONG these is a strong warning against establishing a police substation in Strawberry.

Tiburon city fathers have promised to set up such a substation if voters approve annexation in Strawberry and Bel Aire.

This doesn't mean Kreins does not favor thorough patrolling of Strawberry — he does. "Strawberry-Eagle Rock would be one beat," the report says. "The patrolman belongs in the street on patrol and not sitting in a substation waiting for someone to show up. Cities of 350,000 population operate without substations and are handled entirely on a beat system basis."

Despite Kreins's belief that police needs in Strawberry can be served with ease by simple patrols, councilmen predict foes of annexation will use his recommendation as ammunition in their fight to avoid absorption by Tiburon.

This is possible, but it seems a thinking person — one not committed either for or against annexation — would recognize that the physical existence of a Strawberry substation is not so important as frequent, efficient patrols.

IMPLEMENTING the report is up to the city council, which is not about to jeopardize annexation by taking the unpopular step of going back on a promise.

Kreins's report still faces a "staff analysis" by City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, a convenient way for the unpopular recommendation to be neutralized.

All in all, even those councilmen who didn't favor the study in the first place and who disagree with some of its conclusions seem to think it is worth the $2,000 which is Tiburon's share of the cost.

At least the council, although confronted with some unpopular recommendations, didn't take the all-too-common step of rejecting the report before it even was released.

Store Sells Armed Shells By Mistake

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A surplus store said Monday that four supposedly unarmed mortar shells it sold actually contain small amounts of explosives.

Leslie Jarvis, Topeka store manager, said she called in police when a customer said a shell in the store looked armed to him.

An Army spokesman at the Presidio of San Francisco said after a test that the "shells couldn't destroy a building, but one of them could easily blow off a finger.

The shells, it was determined, were "spotting rounds" with their main powder chamber empty but with enough explosives in their noses to produce a puff of smoke in target practice.

Sergeant Pleads Guilty To Pot

Sgt. George Milton Elsea, 26, of Hamilton Air Force Base, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana.

Following his plea to the charge, which was originally filed as a felony count, a second charge, that he possessed marijuana paraphernalia, was dismissed.

He is to be sentenced Sept. 10.

Elsea was arrested May 11 when Novato police stopped his car because it didn't have a front license plate. Police said they found a water pipe and three small bats of marijuana in the car.

Honesty Pays Off In Army

MANILA (UPI) —Sgt. Ambrosio Reyes, 38, is now a Staff Sergeant because he skipped lunch and $4,166.

Reyes cashed several checks and treasury bills last week for the payroll of the Luna Medical Center where he is disbursing officer.

Then found he was overpaid $4,116. So he skipped his lunch period and waited for the bank cashier to return and gave back the money.

Fringe Benefits For Supervisors Boost Take For Part-Time Job

Here is some updating on the annual take of two supervisors for part-time jobs. For one, starting with the base pay, now $13,200, add the following: mileage for road inspection, $300; Local Agency Formation Commission for one meeting a month $300 (not sure how many times they meet), San Rafael Sanitation District (two meetings a month), $600, which adds up to $14,400. Add to this mileage to the board meetings as well as other mileage.

Now, regarding the supervisor who attends the Golden Gate Bridge District meetings: As I was opening my paper last Friday, my phone rang and I was told this by a gentleman well up on the Golden Gate Bridge affairs:

THE BRIDGE DIRECTORS get $2,400 annually for four meetings a month plus 12 cents a mile (both ways) for those coming from north of the bridge —plus meals which he said run as high as $10 or more.

This means that the Marin supervisor has a take of $16,200 plus mileage and some meals for a part-time job. Compare this with the $16,800 the Sonoma County supervisors receive for full time.

In this column on April 30, I wrote, "Political necessity that Supervisor Wornum was concerned about is still around and is not going to vanish by (Alan) Bruce's resignation. The public is in no mood to accept halfway changes that will simply be more convenient for the board members.

"Three seats on the board will be up for grabs in just a year and a year rolls around mighty fast. At the moment the rating of the board is not so good. (After the last debacle it is getting no better fast.) However this board of supervisors has an opportunity to show the extent of its comprehension of what the situation is."

THE LAST 14 YEARS have shown that the grand manner administrative type of operation, with the board staying aloof from intimate knowledge of department operation, is not the cup of tea for this county.

Some folks said to me the other day that every time they hear the radio commercial, "This company cares more about you than the money you invest," that they wish that that would be the slogan of this board of supervisors.

There need not be such a panic to replace the administrator. Let the "acting" status continue while a real in-depth study of restructuring the operation out there is developed.

WHEN WE SEE this situation time after time in the throne room, it is to cry.

Scene: Department heads sitting facing the board members just a few feet away. A matter is brought up for consideration — a member moves or the chair orders the administrator to report on it at the next meeting. A simple question directed to the department head involved could have been asked and the answer given then and there or reported back direct at the next meeting of the department head.

No! that is not in the grand manner. The administrator and the induced Parkinson Law must be used to sustain the ego and continue the cost to you.

Appeal To Agitate For Bike Paths

Marin County Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske yesterday appealed to citizens to write members of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee to revive legislation to lay the groundwork for a statewide network of bicycle paths.

The bill, SB 265 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, failed to win committee approval Monday. It had sailed through the Senate without any opposition.

The bill was asked by the county, Joske noted in an open letter to bicycle riders, "because we believed it to be of the utmost importance to bicylists and motorists in the state by virtue of the safety which standard signs would bring."

Joske urged citizens to write, telephone or wire the 21 members of the committee, appealing to them to reconsider and approve the bill. He said that copies of letters and wires should be sent as well to the chairman of the committee, Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco.

Marin's Assemblyman, William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is a member of the committee, but was absent when the vote was taken. Bagley has been working almost around the clock this week on welfare reform legislation. He is a coauthor of the Behr bill.

Other members of the committee are: Frank Lanterman, R-Pasadena; Robert E. Badham, R-Newport Beach; E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego; Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka; John L. Burton, D-San Francisco; John L.E. Collier, R-South Pasadena; Robert W. Crown, D-Oakland; Pauline Davis, D-Portola; John F. Dunlap, D-Vallejo; John F. Foran, D-San Francisco; James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach; Ken MacDonald, D-Ventura; John J. Miller, D-Oakland, Carley V. Porter, D-Compton; Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco; Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina; John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, and Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles.

The bill authorizes all governing bodies to establish bicycle paths within their jurisdiction, as well as special bicycle lanes paralleling state, city and county roads. Developers would be required to include bicycle paths within their subdivision plans.

PUC Staff Urges 'Esthetic' Change

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The staff of the California Public Utilities Commission Thursday recommended that Pacific Gas & Electric Co. be required to change its proposed transmission lines in Diablo Canyon for esthetic reasons.

The staff said that its recommendation was based on "our continuing concern for the adherence to esthetic values and conservation in the completion of this project."

The recommendations were that PG&E relocate its transmission line between Diablo and Midway by going south of Indian Knob and through an oil well area.

The staff recommendation said PG&E has not always lived up to its stated purpose "to give full consideration to esthetic values and conservation of the natural resources of the area."

Early Start For Town Meeting

San Anselmo Town Meeting organizers will start early to plan for the 1972 meeting, according to Dr. Martin G. Blinder. He was chairman of this year's community progress forum.

Blinder said committee members and volunteers will meet at 8 p.m. Sept. 15 in Robson-Harrington Park for their first planning session. He urged that anyone with suggestions for next year's format attend the meeting.

"Rarely will more than 5 per cent of the town become involved, but we will try to get a representative 5 per cent," Blinder declared.

$250 Fine For Resisting Arrest

Steven Harris Millikan, 20, of Woodacre, has been fined $250 in Marin Municipal Court for resisting arrest.

Justice David R. Baty of Western Marin Judicial Court, sitting in municipal court, also placed Millikan on probation for one year.

Millikan was arrested Dec. 11, 1970, when San Rafael police found marijuana in his possession while they were questioning him about another crime.

When Millikan resisted the officers violently, biting one policeman on the arm, charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest were filed against him, in addition to a pot charge.

He pleaded guilty to the resisting arrest charge last month, and the other two charges were dismissed.

Permission Sought For Floating Dock

Coming this Saturday in Marin Magazine

Special features you'll enjoy:

In any contest for Marin's most unusual pet, the giant Galapagos tortoise of Dr. Gary Boero of San Anselmo would have to be a leading contender. Actually, though, "Alfie" is something more than just a pet. He's an essential part of some serious scientific study being conducted by Dr. Boero, dentist and zoologist. How the 131-pound tortoise, who eventually will weigh 500 pounds, lives and thrives in the Boero backyard is the subject of a special feature in tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine written by its editor, Don Keown.

One of Marin's busiest organizations has to be the Marin Canoe Club. In fact the canoeists are so busy canoeing that they rarely have time for social affairs. Their season is a continuing series of trips to rivers and lakes to enjoy the exhilaration that comes from challenging and conquering white water rapids. Gerrie Reichard has written the story of this adventurous group for tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement. And Roger Bockrath has supplied photographs taken during a week-long outing on the Upper Eel River that provided canoeing at its expert best.

WOMAN PASTOR

Bias Met With Equanimity

By JOAN LISETOR

What do you call a woman minister?

The newly ordained pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo prefers Jan.

A reception to welcome the new minister, Mrs. Richard Willette of San Anselmo, followed services Sunday, and she says what to call her was the talk of the reception.

SOMEONE JOKINGLY suggested reverend mother, but Janice Willette says she wants to get away from the formality of reverend and prefers a first name basis.

Using "Jan," she says, often throws people, who see the name "the Rev. Jan Willette" and assume it is the name of a Scandinavian male.

When she decided she wanted to become a minister is a mystery to Jan, who received a bachelor of arts degree in religion in 1961 from Columbia University.

"Columbia was one of the first universities to offer a degree in religion," says the minister. "But the degree would better have been called history or philosophy of religion. It was not preparation for the ministry."

FOLLOWING HER graduation she and her husband came to Marin, where he went to work for the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo as head of the food service.

"I worked as a cook for him the first year and a half, so he can't ever complain about my cooking," says Jan.

During that time she began attending classes at the seminary.

She received a bachelor of divinity degree in 1964, and the following year their first child, Steven, was born.

According to Presbyterian law, she explains, one can be ordained with a bachelor of divinity degree, but to be ordained one must have a calling.

"ECCLESIASTICAL LAW is becoming more liberal, but a calling is still defined as a church," she says.

Jan continued her education at the seminary because she wanted to take more family education courses, eventually receiving a master of arts degree in 1969.

"It took me longer than most students," says Jan, who while she was studying family education had two more children: Trevor, now 4, and Carrie Ann, 2.

"My husband and I have had an understanding that when the kids were old enough I would go back to work," Jan explains. "I have very strong feelings about educated women in the home. I think they tend to take out their frustrations on their children."

Last year Jan was hired at the First Presbyterian Church as "parttime assistant to the pastor, for lack of a better title," she says.

DURING THAT year she ran into many stumbling blocks. Not being ordained, she could not perform a wedding ceremony, so when her sister was married she participated in the ceremony up to the point of pronouncing the couple man and wife, when an ordained minister had to step in to say, "By the power vested in me..."

Jan is 32 years old, and she says the average age for a man being ordained is about 25. She doesn't regret the wait, although she says she became very impatient at times along the way.

"It takes longer to accomplish something when you work quietly," she says. "I don't like militancy from any stand point, although I have great sympathy for those who become impatient when they are trying to accomplish something. I would hope that I have paved the way for other women wanting to serve a church by working quietly and with determination.

Explaining she is hesitant when it comes to making any claims, Jan says she believes she is the first woman to serve as a minister of a Presbyterian church in Marin County.

Women are usually relegated to the less desirable positions within the church, such as serving poorer congregations in rural areas, where they cannot get a man to serve as minister, she acknowledges.

"WOMEN ARE rarely overall pastors," she says. "They are usually pigeon-holed into Christian education or family counseling duties, but I am extremely fortuante that my associate (Rev. John Najarian) believes that I must participate fully by preaching and calling."

She will preach her first sermon Sunday on the theme of joy, and it probably will not be finished much before Sunday morning.

"I am a compulsive last minute writer. I enjoy preaching but not the preparation," she says.

The new minister expects some hesitation from persons wanting marriage and funeral services performed.

"To some it will make no difference that I am a woman," she says, "But people who call wanting a pastor that are not members of the church are told that I am a woman in case they do not want a woman. I am realistic and accept that prejudice does exist. It doesn't bruise my ego. I would rather perform a marriage knowing both of the couple are happy."

WOMEN WERE first ordained in the Presbyterian church around 1956, says Jan, and first allowed to serve as elders in 1930.

"Things are slow, but changing. Membership in the church is predominately female so we will achieve equality eventually. It's inevitable," she says.

At the reception in her honor last weekend an older male member of the congregation told her he was glad there was someone to take care of the old men and now Reverend Najarian could take care of the older women.

She reminded him that the church had two minorities — a woman and a "backpacking Armenian."

REV. MRS. Richard Willette of San Anselmo was ordained Sunday into the ministry and installed as assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. The question of what to call a woman minister was the talk of a reception in her honor following her installation. Janice Willette says she prefers the informality of a first name basis.

REIGNING KING

Givenchy Shows Plenty Of Skin

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — It was like an elegant Folies Bergere at Givenchy yesterday.

Hubert de Givenchy, known as one of the most conservative designers on Paris, bared skin and showed off the body in his fall-winter collection.

The reigning king of high fashion offered hot pants and the shortest miniskirt in Paris. He split skirts and coats, bared backs, plunged necklines. Evening gowns were transparent over shorts, there was not one slip in the entire show and the mannequins turned strip teasers to remove long sleeves from evening gowns.

APPLAUDED BY buyers and fashion critics, Givenchy's collection showed that elegant, traditional haute couture can be young and fun and not necessarily old and dull.

The fashion world has been saying shorts are dead after a one-season fad, and possibly Givenchy's private clientele— one of the biggest in Paris—will rebel and refuse to buy them. But Givenchy explained before the show that "hot pants went very well" in his summer collection "so I decided to continue them."

Thus, in his winter show today, long and knee-length evening gowns in floating black chiffo had one-piece shorts underneath. Givenchy said he can't stand slips.

A floor-length oriental brocade sleeveless coat split up both sides unbuttoned to show a one-piece shorts suit underneath. A mannequin unwrapped herself out of a huge black chenille poncho embroidered with flowers to show a matching shorts outfit.

THE GIVENCHY salon looked bedspready during the parade of chenille evening dresses with matching fringed ponchos, all loosely woven to show shorts underneath.

Beautiful legs were in view throughout the collection. Some chenille gowns had dancing fringes from floor to end of leg, but Givenchy can make such dance hall touches look ladylike. Many gowns were split fore and aft to show legs.

Squares were cut out of the backs on some long gowns. Halter gowns had bare backs and the plunging necklines were as low and wide as the law allows.

Students From South America, Japan Arrive In Marin On Tour

Arriving in Marin this afternoon are 163 students and chaperones from Japan and South America, traveling by bus on a cross-country tour under the auspices of Rotary International.

The 1971 Rotary International Cultural Exchange tour group is the largest to be hosted by Bay Area Rotary District 513 since the exchanges began six years ago.

The travelers, ranging in age from 15 to 40 years old, will make the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in Mill Valley their headquarters during their two-day stay in the Bay Area.

Festivities begin at 7 o'clock tonight when the six Marin Rotary chapters will entertain the large delegation at a reception and dinner in the seminary cafeteria.

"We expect local people to join the visitors for dinner," said Leo Noah of Terra Linda, coordinator for the club's cultural exchange activities here this weekend.

COUNTY ROTARY club presidents who, with their families, will welcome the visitors are Ben Farlatti of Mill Valley; David Dorward, San Anselmo; William P. Murray Jr., San Rafael; Arthur R. Boates, Sausalito; Rev. Charles Bowman, Terra Linda, and Leif A. Evensen, Novato.

Several Japanese speaking students at the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary will join the Rev. Raymond Ozasa, a recent graduate, in acting as interpreters for the visitors from Japan. Reverend Ozasa is the pastor of the Japanese Mission at Tiburon, where he conducts services at the Tiburon Baptist Church. He is also the Japanese Language Missionary for the San Francisco Bay Area of the Southern Baptist Convention.

When the chartered buses in which the seven South American students and the Japanese visitors start on their tour of San Francisco at 8 a.m. tomorrow, a number of Marin Rotarians and their families will accompany them. Individual hospitality in Marin homes will also be extended, according to Leo Noah, who expects to welcome some of the young people into his home.

Robert Nelson, past president of the San Rafael Rotary Club, has recently returned from a visit to Japan, where he made a point of visiting the Rotary Club in Atami, which is the sister club to San Rafael. The Nelsons, too, will open their home to a group of the cultural exchange students.

AFTER AN extensive tour of the Bay Area, the students will again board their buses, leaving Mill Valley after a 7 a.m. breakfast at the seminary for Los Angeles.

The tour which began in Minneapolis, Minn., on July 21 will continue through Aug. 29, when it will end in Minneapolis. Rotary District 595 in the Minneapolis area is coordinating the tour of the United States. American students will also tour Japan under the auspices of Rotarians in that country.

The couple plan to be married next June.

Mrs. Mario J. Pellegrini of San Rafael has been reelected chairman of the Council of Volunteers of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers, the top office in the 1,100-member organization.

Mrs. Pellegrini, serving her second consecutive term, will be assisted by Mmes. Donald Murray, San Rafael, vice chairman; Hugh Laymon, Tiburon, secretary; and John Fiske, San Rafael, treasurer. Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Laymon also were reelected.

Bebe Pelligrini, a native of San Rafael, and a graduate of San Rafael High and the College of Marin, has been a member of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers for six years.

In addition to acting as chairman of the council, she has also served as council secretary, as the Volunteers' Redwood Empire representative and as a member of the council's branches committee.

She says the purpose of the volunteers is to promote the welfare of Marin General and its patients through fund raising and patient service.

Her hobbies are raising, training and riding horses, and swimming and traveling.

Her husband is president of Pellegrini Refrigeration in San Francisco, and they have three children, Mrs. Brian Nicholls; Terry, a student at Chico State College and Paul, a high school senior.

Child Sleepwear Look Inspired By Dress Revival

Inspired by the dress revival, sleepwear for children has taken on a Victorian and romantic look, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Holiday lines of children's sleepwear manufacturers show a trend away from the traditional red and green to yellow or purple prints, ginghams and checks.

Robes with matching gowns and two-piece pajama sets continue to be the most popular.

CARLA FRACCI

Ballerina Sees 'New Wave'

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — All the young audiences for the arts aren't tuned in to the rock sound.

Witness, for instance, the packed houses conductor Leonard Bernstein draws for his young people's concerts of the classics. Now the young are on a ballet kick too. Back of it all seems to be the revival of a romantic period in all phases of our culture.

THERE'S THE return to the romantic in fashion, revival of what some observers call "the civilized look", actually a recall of the quietly elegant clothes of the 1930s and '40s. "Real" movies like "Love Story" are an instant success with the young. A return to religion also is part of the scene.

Carla Fracci, prima ballerina of the La Scala ballet and now appearing with the American Ballet Theater, figures the whole trend results because the new art forms "speak directly to the audience."

"They want story," she said. "The young are feud up with the abstract."

Miss Fracci, her husband, Beppe Menegatti, a theatrical director, were talking about the overwhelming numbers of young people, boys and girls, drawn to the ballet these days.

I'd expressed some amazement about the youth of the audience packed into Lincoln Center's New York State Theater one sparkling Sunday afternoon recently to see Miss Fracci and Erik Bruhn dance the classical "Giselle". The role is one of her most famous. But on a day like that in midsummer, you'd have guessed that all the young would be at the beach.

THE YOUNG are coming to the ballet theater not only in the United States but all over Europe, Menegatti said. Rivival of so many of the ballets with plot gives them a chance "just to enjoy... no mental fatigue," said Menegatti recalling that "for the last 35 years you'd have to read the program, ask your friends and read the critics next day to know what had been on the stage."

The critics in general hail Carla Fracci as one of the great ballerinas of today. The Chicago Tribune's Thomas Willis said, "there is no one like her and few in her league."

Miss Fracci came to the top of the world of dance in an unusual way. She was born in Milan, the daughter of a streetcar conductor. Her early years, during World War II, were spent on a farm at her mother's birthplace in Cremona.

"I hardly knew what ballet was," Miss Fracci said. "All I knew was chickens." She still gets nostalgic for these early farm years.

AFTER THE war, the family returned to Milan and a friend of the family suggested that Miss Fracci's inborn grace and beauty made her a fitting candidate for La Scala's ballet company.

She was enrolled at the age of eight nd for the next eight years, La Scala was home away from home with regular school courses and ballet instruction.

Miss Fracci was on her way when George Balanchine chose her to do a solo with the company. By the age of 18, they were calling her "prima" at La Scala. Since, she has been guest star with most of the major ballet companies of the West. She said Moscow's Bolshoi had asked her to appear with that company but that a conflict in dates prevented.

Miss Fracci met Menegatti at La Scala. The couple, married eight years, has a 21-month-old boy, Francesco.

The ballerina, five feet three inches tall, 103 pounds, has none of the problems of keeping fit that beset many women—and men. Daily classes of at least one hour each, often more, plus daily rehearsals take care of the figure.

She follows no special diet for energy. "I eat everything," she said. "Meat, rice...pasta."

PRIMA BALLERINA Carla Fracci of La Scala ballet, now appearing with the American Ballet Theater, says the young audiences for the arts are tuned into ballet as a part of the revival of a romantic period in our culture. The whole trend results because the new art forms speak directly to the audiences, she says. "They want a story. The young are fed up with the abstract."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Frozen Sperm Banks Offer Insurance For Changed Minds

DEAR HELEN:

Speaking of vasectomies, the last argument against them may have been won with the announcement that some 70 women have had "frozen sperm babies."

Heretofore, a few husbands refused to have this simple, safe operation, saying that sometime in the future they might want more children. Now, they can simply put on deposit enough frozen sperm to take care of this eventuality. Artificial insemination does the rest.

As a man who has had a vasectomy, I can vouch for its success. If anything, it has increased my libido. I know it has done wonders for my wife's! — MICK (FATHER OF THREE)

DEAR MICK:

I understand that several men have already made deposits in the frozen sperm bank, against the possibility that they might want more children after their vasectomies. So far, not one has reported a change of mind. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Is marriage on the way out? We don't think so. As two who love being married, may we give our views?

As we see it, marriage is not the problem. Rather, it's the attitude with which people enter it. If they expect one continuous honeymoon, they are headed for trouble. It doesn't take long to uncover each other's faults and analyzing them only covers up all the good traits that drew them together.

We believe that if people would stop examining the other person and instead evaluate themselves, they'd keep so busy they'd have little time for criticism. They should realize they can irritate as well as be irritated by petty actions.

It's strange that people will generally challenge a goal like business success, or winning awards, but when the challenges of marriage present themselves, they admit defeat without a decent effort. Marriage is worth every struggle, for the rewards are great.

Many also find it easier to forgive a friend or even a pet than a mate. Why be so much harder on the one you love?

We personally believe that if love is the motivating factor in your life (a steady love that builds and nurtures) you will find that it comes easier to praise than to criticize, to show understanding and encouragement and, most of all, respect even though you don't always agree.

We know it can work, for marriage has worked for us over 17 years. We married young and have shared problems, climbed hurdles, realized dreams. And we've had a tremendous lot of fun along the way. — TWO OF YOUR READERS

DEAR HELEN:

Maybe the mother who wouldn't buy her daughter bikini underpants had another reason: They're just plain uncomfortable, and besides the elastic shows on your hips, when you're wearing pants. — ANOTHER MOTHER

DEAR A.M.:

You've got a point. Moreover, people who wear bikini briefs under outer pants face another hazard: getting their skin caught in the zipper! Ouch! — H.

DONNA LOUISE THOMAS
Will marry in October

Engagement Of Couple Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Thomas are announcing the engagement of their daughter Donna Louise to Joe Hegseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hegseth of Carmichael.

Donna is the sister of Mrs. Phillip Barnett of Sacramento. She was graduated from Novato High School and has a secondary teaching credential from Sacramento State College. She is employed at National Mercantile Agency in Sacramento.

Joe is the brother of Jerry, David, Michael, Rondell and Wendy Hegseth, all of Carmichael. He was graduated from Encina High School and American River College in Sacramento. He is employed at Adams Construction Company in Sacramento.

The engagement was announced at a party at the Thomas home in Novato for relatives and friends on Monday evening.

The couple plan an October wedding.

The Dominate Style During Last Month

Knee-length styles dominated retail advertising last month, accounting for 47 per cent of advertising of women's dresses by retail stores in 15 cities, throughout the United States, according to the Bureau of Advertising.

For six months knee length advertising has shown a steady rise, while the promotion of hot pants leveled off at 13.4 per cent of the total June dress advertising space compared to 16.5 per cent in May, 14.4 per cent in April, 8.7 per cent in March and 2.9 per cent in February.

Other measurements showed that long pant styles continued to lose support in June, but miniskirts held fast to a steady share of advertising support.

Maxi length advertising declined in June, accounting for a mere 4 per cent of June advertising, and midi length received only 2.4 per cent in the same month.

ON BEING BLACK

'They' Often Cut The Grass

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Why is it," asks a reader, "when they (black people) move into a neighborhood, they (ah, that infamous they) let the property go down — never cut the grass or pull the weeds?"

Well, reader, just like you people (the converse of they), they don't fit into any one mold when it comes to grass cuttin' and weed pullin'.

Some cases in point:

ONE BLACK family who recently moved into a lower middle-class neighborhood, their first home after living in a housing project for several years is so enthusiastic about the flora and fauna around their little house, that in addition to keeping the lawn and hedges immaculately manicured, the man of the house even landscapes his neighbors' weeds that grow up over his fence. He shrugs his shoulders and says, "They're green and kind of pretty."

A well-known black luminary, who could well afford to hire a full-time gardener, has a front yard full of weeds attached to his spacious $100,000 plus house.

"I like the way grass looks when it has gone to seed. Who made the rule that short grass looks better than tall grass? Man, this is my house and I have the right to cut or not to cut my grass," he says.

When asked how his neighbors reacted to his peculiar preference, he answered, "I don't have a crusade out to coerce all the whites to let their grass grow long — just cause I like it that way. Let them do their thing and let me do mine.

"If seeing weeds on my property is sufficient stimulus to send them into hysteria, they'd better see a shrink. Sorry, but it's not my mission in life to pamper their hang-ups. And I will not cut my grass because someone must discredit the stereotype idea that whites have about blacks."

Another family, with several children, has a vegetable garden planted in the front (yes, front) yard. The neat lines of well-cared-for vegetables are esthetically pleasing as any flower garden or lawn.

SAYS THE mother, "These fresh vegetables come in handy when you're trying to feed seven kids and stretch your dollars.

"And, yes," she says smiling good naturedly, "folks do chide us about having a garden in the front yard. But who made the rule that gardens are for back yards only?"

In another section of the city, an elderly woman, alone and on welfare, is seen regularly laboring to push a rickety old hand lawn mower through the weeds that serve as her front lawn.

"At least it's green," she says.

And she has the most neatly trimmed and watered weed patch in her neighborhood.

MANY THINGS that people who have fairly adequate incomes take for granted do not come easily to poor people, a disproportionate number of which are black. After sinking every available penny into a house, finding the money for lawn mowers and other gardening equipment is not always simple. Lack of gardening expertise can also cause some difficulties.

At any rate, dear reader, even though there are some losers — property demolitionists — be assured that there is also a sizeable number of winners.

Use Of 'Jap' Trademark To Continue

The use of "Jap" as a trademark by fashion designer Kenze Takada, who designs for Societe Jungle Jap marketing firm, will continue despite the fact that the New York chapter of the Japanese-American Citizens League contends the word is derogatory.

A decision not to bar the designer, whose fashions are currently being shown in Paris, from using Jap has been appealed to the Appellate Division of the New York State Supreme Court, according to Women's Wear Daily.

The action contends the word is particularly offensive to Americans of Japanese descent and its use as a trademark, adjective or noun, violates their civil rights.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

Automobile inventer Henry Ford I was born July 30, 1863.

On this day in history:

In 1916 German saboteurs blew up a munitions dump at Black Tom Island near Jersey City, causing an estimated $22 million in damages.

In 1937 the American Federation of Radio Artists was organized as a unit of the A.F. of L.

In 1942 President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill creating the female branch of the U.S. Navy called "Waves."

In 1967 news from behind the Bamboo Curtain told of a mass purge of the Red Chinese Army.

Tough Sentence To Convicted Litterbug

NANAIMO, British Columbia (UPI)—A judge who wanted to "impress the public" about the punishment facing litterbugs has sentenced a convicted litterer to pick up refuse along a mile of highway.

Judge Stan Wardill offered 21-year-old Roger Gagnon the choice of the cleanup duty or a $150 fine. Gagnon chose the cleanup and was assigned to the same area where he dumped a pickup truck load of garbage and old car parts.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South Must Be A Person With Very Strong Convictions

The well-trained kibitzer knows that it is impolite to talk while a bridge hand is in progress. But no bridge authority has written anything about whistling, and the accomplished kibitzer should memorize a little repertory of tunes appropriate to various occasions. If you were kibitzing today's hand, for example, you might whistle "One Alone" while drumming on the back of declarer's chair. After all, who wants to live forever?

Opening lead -- ♡ J

NO HELP

No kibitzer helped South when today's hand was played. Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the queen of hearts and immediately led the low trump from dummy to try a finesse with the queen.

West won with the king of spades and switched to the four of clubs. South won in his hand with the king of clubs and led a spade to dummy's jack, discovering the bad news. Now the only chance was a good break in hearts, but East ruffed the third high heart. South could discard a losing diamond, but he still had to lose two diamonds — and his contract.

NO SAFETY PLAY

North grumbled a bit about a "safety play," but his heart wasn't really in it. It would be correct for South to lead a low spade to the ace if it were not for his three losing diamonds, but in the actual hand South's best chance is to take the simple spade finesse.

A very perceptive South might find the winning play in trumps against the right sort of simple-minded East. Some defenders follow suit with a slight hesitation when they have no high cards in the suit: but they play without the slightest hesitation when they have a finessable high card.

TAKES COURAGE

If you know your customers and get the telltale hesitation on the first spade lead from dummy, you might decide that East doesn't hold the king and that therefore there is no advantage in taking a finesse. You can make this kind of play only if you have the courage of your convictions. A helpful kibitzer is much surer.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County.

FAMILY

"LeMans" - Technically excellent record of the 8½ mile Le Mans race in France with 45 renowned drivers at the wheels. Plot is unimportant to racing enthusiasts.

"$1,000,000 Duck" - Disney comes through again with a good family comedy. Treatment is fresh and bright. Plenty of laughs for all.

"My Side of the Mountain" - An artistically and sensitively directed story about a 13-year-old boy who leaves home to live in the wilderness and forge his living from his surroundings and carry on his algae research. Very well acted.

"Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory" - Well cast, elaborately staged, beautifully filmed classic. Complicated plot with surprising adventures at every turn will please entire family.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Billy Jack" - The conflict between a town and a school for troubled teenagers of all races, located on an Arizona Indian reservation has much violence and some sex scenes.

"From Russia With Love" - A preposterous espionage film with James Bond once again slugging, knifing, bombing and loving his way across middle Europe. Usual brutality and violence and sex.

"House That Dripped Blood" - An eerie old country house in north England is the setting for a quartet of horror tales about how each inhabitant of the house falls prey to a bloody supernatural fate. Skillfully directed and acted.

"Last Run" - A retired criminal is lured into one more job as a driver to help an escaped convict. The convicts' gang arranged his flight only to kill him and so the double crossing begins. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Private Life of Sherlock Holmes" - Mystery, intrigue, humor and a new insight into the great Sherlock Holmes myth that reveals him a drug addict and questions his sexuality. Entertaining in spots.

"Ryan's Daughter" - A big, beautiful, unabashedly romantic epic set in World War I. Photographed against a rugged Irish landscape which becomes metaphoric for the loneliness of the soul. Very well done.

"Walk In The Spring Rain" - Three talented stars enact a mature love triangle in the quiet splendor of Tennesse's Smoky mountains. Slow moving.

"Willard" - An intensely lonely young man with family problems finds comfort in training and breeding rats and finally uses them as a means of getting revenge. A bizarre psychological horror film. (Boxoffice Magazine).

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Anderson Tapes" - An ex-convict unaware that his every move is recorded on film and tape plans the biggest robbery of his life. A sub-plot adds excitement and interest. Some violence and nude sex scenes.

"Bananas" - A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Dr. No" - James Bond and international intrigue that becomes science fiction. Even though done with tongue in cheek, the treatment of sex and sadism makes it unsuitable for youth.

"Little Big Man" - A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121 year old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody, with some sex scenes.

"Whatever Happened to Aunt Alice" - A grisly horror story about a homicidally insane widow who bludgeons lonely women who come to work for her as housekeepers. Use of closeup photography and excellent acting make it especially sordid.

ADULTS ONLY

"Big Doll House" - Four women escape from a tropical Pacific Island prison. There is plenty of narcotics, lesbianism, sexual attackes and murder. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Klute" - A moody murder mystery that focuses mostly on a character study of a contemporary call girl, a typical case history from a psychiatrist textbook.

"Student Nurses" - The private and professional lives of senior student nurses who share an apartment. Abortion, drugs and sex scenes are all included. (Boxoffice Magazine).

BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE BUSES

PLACE: Oakland Coliseum
TIME: 7:30 p.m. (3:00 p.m. on Sunday)

Nader: VW 'Beetle' Is 'Most Dangerous'

LONDON (UPI)—Consumer advocate Ralph Nader today called Volkswagen's "beetle" model "the most hazardous car on the road" in the United States.

Nader, in an interview on Thames Television's "This Week" program, recommended the German auto manufacturer recall all the 4 million "beetles" in use in America.

"Although there have been some minor improvements in recent years, the fact remains that the Volkswagen today is the most hazardous car on the road in America in significant numbers," Nader said.

He said the model had a history of instability, particularly on major highways because of an alleged deficient suspension system. He also said the seats were unsafely fastened.

Nader predcted the recall of the cars could cost Volkswagen $96 million.

A Volkswagen official, responding to the consumer crusader, said the company would call cars in only in cases of design fault.

"To call them in just to pacify Mr. Nader would seem to be a rather heavy expense," he said.

Council To Fill Plan Panel Seat

San Rafael City Councilmen will have at least three names — and possibly seven or eight — to choose from when they fill a vacant seat on the city planning commission Monday.

City Mgr. James H. McCown said Kenneth W. Charshaf, Constance Johnstone and Lawrence J. Solari Jr. are new applicants for the seat vacated by V. Judson Klein.

McCown also is checking with other San Rafael residents who were interested in appointment to the planning commission in February, when Albert J. Boro was chosen by the council.

Charshaf, vice president for computer research for the Bank of America, lives at 2 San Mateo Drive. He has lived in the San Rafael area nine years. A native of San Francisco, he is 32, and he and his wife have three children. He was a leader in recent, unsuccessful opposition to the Freitas Apartment development at the end of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

Mrs. Johnson, of 12 Cloverhill Court, is president of the Twelve Oak Hill Homeowners' Association and the wife of pharmaceutical salesman Parland R. Johnstone.

Solari, who lives at 23 Makin Grade with his wife and two children, is a stock broker with a San Francisco firm. He moved to Lucas Valley in 1958, and has lived in southern San Rafael since 1963.

Petition On Club's Use Is Planned

A group calling itself the Preserve Land and Nature Committee (PLAN) has announced it will circulate petitions urging the Town and Country Club property in Fairfax remain undeveloped.

According to Priscilla Gray of Fairfax, a spokesman for the 12-member group, the membership Tuesday criticized statements by Councilman Rabert R. Souza that talk of preserving the historic site was "premature."

Rather than such talk being premature, she said, "an attempt to save this historic and recreational site is in the eleventh hour."

According to owner Max Friedman, the land has been sold to Kaiser-Aetna Corp. of Oakland which is interested in building between 350 and 450 apartment units on the property.

Mrs. Gray urged that the land not be rezoned to permit development and said a petition will show the city council "the prevalence of public sentiment" toward keeping the land undeveloped.

She said her group was not sure when it would begin the petition drive.

Too Many Holidays?

ROME (UPI)—The number of holidays in the ancient Roman Empire rose from 76 a year in its early decades to 175 a year —nearly one day in two —before its fall.

Record Fire Number Reported By Novato

The Novato Fire Department answereed a record 892 calls and had a record loss of $483,975 during 1970, according to the department's annual report.

During the year, 162 acres of grass and brush burned in 210 grass fires in the 75-square-mile district, said Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The largest number of calls previously received was in 1969 when firemen answered 812 calls. The previous record for loss was in 1968 when the district suffered $362,000 damage.

The number of calls and losses reflect the growth of the city to some extent but not in exact ratio, Kidder said. In 1961 the district answered 444 calls with a loss of $141,340. However, even though the city was growing, losses were lowered in subsequent years with a $31,180 loss in 1963 the lowest year in losses in the past 10 years.

Fires caused by children playing with matches increased from 34 fires 10 years ago to 104 for each of the past two years. The number of full-alert general alarm fires increased from 17 in 1960 to 60 last year.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1971 23

THEN AND NOW — Christopher A. Nightingale was a Bobby (left photo) in London in 1957, little dreaming that 14 years later (right) he would be practicing his skills as a law officer in Marin County. This brief shakedown the other day at Marin's Civic Center was part of the security precautions instituted in the wake of last year's bombing of a courtroom. (Independent-Journal photo)

SHERIFF'S DEPUTY

Ex-Londoner Recalls His Days As A Bobby

By C. P. McCARTHY

Nobody has yet called Christopher A. Nightingale the sheriff of Nottingham, but Nightingale, born 35 years ago in Nottingham, England and now a Marin County deputy sheriff, hardly expects to avoid the inevitable.

Although he just made it under the age limit for the deputy's post, he brought a wealth of experience to the job, having served two stints as London Bobby and a short period as a policeman in Calgary, Canada.

Nightingale, who lives with his wife, Maria, in Mill Valley, said he enjoys the Marin job but sees two enormous advantages, as well as several disadvantages, to being a policeman in London.

The two advantages of being a bobby, he said, were England's strict gun control laws and the beat work.

London policemen, he noted, carry neither guns nor handcuffs. "You don't need them," Nightingale said. He said it is very difficult to obtain a gun in England and if the criminal element doesn't have guns, the police don't need them.

In addition to the scarcity of weapons, there exists a sort of honor among thieves. Nightingale called it "a code of ethics."

"If a gangster uses a gun on a policeman," he said, "The other gangsters go after the guy who shot the policeman."

The saying that there's safety in numbers may have something to do with it, too. "There are so many police in Central London," he said, "All you have to do is blow a whistle and you've got a policeman at your door."

But disarming the police wouldn't work in the United States, he said, citing differences in historical development of the two countries as a reason.

"Americans have been carrying guns since this country originated," he said, "using them to fend off Indians and protect their land. England is altogether different." In addition to being an older nation with stricter rules, he said, "police have the pride and respect of the people."

In America, he said, "You just don't seem to appreciate the man on the beat. They're doing the best they can, but they just don't seen to be appreciated."

Being that man on the beat is the other major difference between working in London and in Marin, Nightingale said.

And he thinks that one of the reasons police are more appreciated in London is the fact that there are more men walking beats.

"The policeman on the beat — he's around all the time. He gets to know all the people on his beat," Nightingale said, adding that the people feel they have greater protection.

"But how can you possibly have beat men in Marin County?" he asked. "It just wouldn't work," he said, especially in the unincorporated areas of the county covered by the sheriff's office because of the hills and distances involved.

Although he thinks there is "no better police force in the world than London's," he left it because of low pay, bad weather and his disagreement with Harold Wilson's Labor government.

Nightingale worked for 30 months, beginning in 1957, and another 30 months, beginning in 1962 as a London bobby — a nickname derived from the name of Robert Peel who founded the Metropolitan Police Force of London in 1839.

In between the two periods, he worked 18 months on the Calgar police force, but found walking through snow in the winter for eight hours was worse than London's weather.

He came to the United States in 1965, but had to wait five years until he became a U.S. citizen before he was eligible to join the sheriff's department or any other police agency.

But he didn't let his experience go to waste or go stale; he spent the interim as a private detective in San Francisco.

29,000-Acre Park Bill Would Encompass Marin

Mailliard Calls His Proposal A 'Compromise'

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A bill to create a Golden Gate National Recreation Area and designed to reduce military resistance to its creation was introduced in the House yesterday by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

While Mailliard's measure would include lands almost identical to those proposed in recent bills by Sen. Alan Cranston and Rep. Philip Burton, D-Fifth District, it is seen as a "compromise proposal" to allay Sixth Army fears of losing control of the Presidio.

The bill would leave the Army in control of Fort Mason and the Presidio on the San Francisco side of the bay, but would turn over to Interior military lands on the Marin Headlands — including Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkhite.

Although Mailliard's measure would leave the Presidio in Army ownership, it is the only park bill which proposes to include all of the Presidio in the recreation area. "We have included the entire Presidio since the Army has long maintained that the Presidio is an open post and a park," a spokesman for Mailliard explained.

The Cranston and Burton bills would exclude from the national park portions of the Presidio now used by Sixth Army headquarters and Letterman Hospital, with the provision that such land should be added to the recreation area if the Army ever abandons it.

The bill directs secretaries of Interior and Defense to negotiate their respective needs for military and park use and also calls for a halt to further construction or development on open spaces and undeveloped land in the recreation area without specific approval from the Secretary of the Interior.

By allowing the Department of Defense to retain title to the Presidio, (which would still be included in the park), Mailliard said his bill "differs greatly" from the Cranston and Burton approaches.

Both Burton's and Cranston's measures ask that approximately 550 acres of the 1,588-acre Presidio be relinquished by the Secretary of Defense and turned over to Interior.

"My bill attempts to reconcile the difference between the two departments of government," Mailliard said. "It establishes an owner-tenant relationship between the primary agencies and gives both departments bargaining positions for lands to be used by each other in their respective areas.

If the Army intends, for example, to continue to use portions of Fort Baker in Marin (which would be owned by Interior), it would have to bargain and release certain of its San Francisco lands to Interior for the park.

The approximately 29,000-acre park envisioned by the Mailliard proposal would stretch in an unbroken sweep from Fort Funston in San Francisco to the Point Reyes National Seashore in Marin and would include federal, state, local and private properties.

Among the federally owned lands to be included — whatever department may have title — are Forts Miley, Funston and Mason, the Marin forts, Alcatraz Island and all of the Presidio.

State-owned recreation areas proposed are Seal Rocks State Park, Phelan Beach, the San Francisco Maritime Museum, the Marin Headlands State Park and Angel Island. The Burton and Cranston bills do not include Alcatraz or Angel islands, a Mailliard spokesman noted.

Private properties in San Francisco and Marin which Mailliard proposes for the park are the Olema Valley, Duxbury Reef in Bolinas, the Witter, Green Gulch and Slide ranches and other privately owned lands on Marin's western seashore necessary to connect the recreation area with state parks and the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Fort Point in San Francisco and Muir Woods in Marin would be part of the national park, but remain under present status as national monuments.

Frank A. Quinn, San Francisco chairman of People for a Golden Gate National Recreation Area, expressed disappointment at the concession to the Army, believing that "those Presidio lands not vital to operation of Sixth Army headquarters and Letterman should go immediately to the Interior Department.

"We do not feel the Army has cared for the Presidio properly; there has been much development on the post in recent years and people do not consider an Army-owned Presidio as a place they can go for recreation purposes."

Acquisition of lands for the proposed park can be through donation, exchange of property, purchase with donated funds or appropriation, according to the congressman's measure. However, he said all lands now owned by California or its political subdivision (cities and counties) cannot be purchased, but must be donated.

A public hearing on the proposed recreation area will be conducted in San Francisco Aug. 9 by the House Interior subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation in Room 1194 of the State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Persons wishing to testify should notify the committee, whose chairman is Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., by Monday.

$800,000 Creek Work From House

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Corte Madera Creek flood control work has been allotted $800,000 in fiscal 1972-73 public works funding approved this week by the House of Representatives.

The money will finance completion of the project from the Ross Post office to near the San Anselmo city limits, on schedule but subject to local decisions, according to Army Corps of Engineers and Marin County flood control spokesmen.

Other Marin County projects funded by the House action included a $15,000 survey of navigational improvements needed for Bolinas Beach erosion problems and a $10,000 survey of navigational improvements needed for Bolinas Channel.

Novato Creek and its tributaries have been targeted for a $20,000 continuation of studies on flood control proposals, including possible diversion of Novato Creek runoff into Warner Creek, to meet Novato citizens' objections to concrete channel treatment of Novato Creek.

Corte Madera Del Presidio Creek and other Richardson Bay stream plans were voted $25,000 for continuing studies including possible diversion of runoff through a conduit along Miller Avenue.

Blue Movie Magnate Arrested in Marin

Alex de Renzy, described by San Francisco police as the pioneer promoter of off-color stag movies in the Bay Area, was arrested yesterday at his hilltop estate in San Rafael.

According to San Rafael police, the 35-year-old De Renzy was picked up at 1:30 p.m. on a San Francisco warrant alleging four counts of showing blue movies at his theater in the Tenderloin.

Capt. Gerald Shaughnessy, head of San Francisco's vice squad, said today the manager of the theater, Thomas Hoffman, 23, of San Francisco, was arrested on one count.

De Renzy told a San Francisco newspaper yesterday he has been arrested 18 times in the last three and a half years on similar charges but never has been convicted.

His first film, "Pornography in Denmark" reportedly made him more than $1.5 million.

De Rency lives at 1 Highland Avenue and is owner of the Screening Room.

He was booked into Marin County Jail on the misdemeanor charges and was released on $3,000 bail. His case will be heard in San Francisco courts.

Three Plead Innocent To Resisting Police Officers

Three Marin City residents arrested after a battle with sheriff's deputies last Friday pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a variety of charges.

Preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday for Frederick Washington, 25, Anthony Ray Smith, 19, and Wilbur Smith, 21, all charged with felony counts of resisting officers and misdemeanor counts of disturbing the peace.

Washington is also charged with assault with a deadly weapon, battery against an officer, exhibiting a deadly weapon, assault and three counts of battery.

The men were arrested late Friday after sheriff's deputies received a report that Washington had struck three women at a Marin City restaurant.

When deputies went to arrest him, he attempted to escape and was assisted by a crowd, including the Smith brothers, which threw rocks and bottles at deputies and shouted obscenities.

One deputy was struck in the head by a bottle during the scuffle and required treatment at Marin General Hospital.

When Washington was finally put into a patrol car he pulled a knife and threatened deputies until the knife was knocked from his hands when the patrol car arrived at Marin County Jail.

Man Found Dead In Motel Room

A 26-year-old San Francisco medical student was found dead in a Mill Valley motel room yesterday, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, the Marin County Coroner's Office reported.

Benjamin Arthur Uram was found about 1:30 p.m. at the Fireside Motel on Shoreline Highway by the motel manager who went to check his room. The coroner's office said the man, who had checked into the motel Wednesday afternoon, was discovered on the bed with a gunshot wound in his head. A .38 caliber revolver was found beside him and a note was discovered in a briefcase in the room.

Uram was a student at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Caroline.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

George Edward Myers, 24, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary. Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Myers was arrested Wednesday when San Rafael police found him at the home of William Savage, 4 Knight Drive.

Building Ban Issue Moving Into Courts

A temporary stay lifting the building ban in Southern Marin will be sought next week in Marin Superior Court.

Saul M. Weingarten, attorney for developers and real estate interests appealing the ban imposed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board, told the Independent-Journal today that a temporary stay would take about two weeks to obtain if his petition were successful. The ban was ordered against the City of Mill Valley and Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

The State Water Resources Control Board rejected his appeal late Wednesday, a step Weingarten said "cleared the decks of red tape to get the matter before the courts." The Seaside attorney noted that he had carried appeals of 12 other building bans imposed by regional boards, and that in all but one he had won relief for his clients.

A similar ban was imposed on much of the Ross Valley, and directors of Ross Valley Sanitary District are to consider appealing it to the state board. District directors will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at 12 Library Place, San Anselmo.

Billy Graham Draws Many Off Streets

OAKLAND (UPI) —Evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday that street people and commune dwellers are being converted by the thousands during his current crusade.

"One girl told us that the other night in one of the communes a prayer meeting took place instead of the usual sex orgy." Graham told a youth night crowd at the Oakland Coliseum.

The evangelist said "scores of those coming to receive Christ every night were street people from Berkeley and other areas. Many have been converted from the communes."

Graham, who drew about 30,000 persons nightly during the first seven innings of his 10-night crusade, said 70 to 80 per cent of those attending were under 25.

"A few years ago one of the Beatles, John Lennon, said that the Beatles were more popular than Jesus Christ," he said. "Now the Beatles have broken up and one of them, George Harrison, is singing, 'My Sweet Lord.'"

He said that the "straights" and "far outs" were finding common ground in religion.

Thursday night's rally drew 44,500. An estimated 2,800 came forward after the meeting to inquire further into Graham's teachings.

Cal Chancellor Sees Education Hurt By Budget

BERKELEY (UPI)—The acting chancellor of the University of California campus said Thursday that state budget cuts would hurt the quality of teaching even more than previously expected.

Robert E. Connick said support for instruction will be down 7.7 per cent or $3.1 million, and research funds 9.1 per cent or $800,000 from the previous year.

"These two slashes in state support of the university's primary work are a great fiscal shock," Connick said. "They will hurt the quality of teaching here even though we are working to reduce their impact."

The Berkeley campus' 1971-72 budget was received by the university Thursday and amounted to $71.9 million, down from $73.8 million last year and $75.6 million the year before.

Chairman Herbert M. Hanson announced that the aviation commissioners will meet jointly with the Novato City Council to discuss the Air Force's offer to open Hamilton Air Force Base to limited civilian use.

Since the Novato councilmen will meet in Novato City Hall that night, the aviation commissioners decided to meet in Novato to accommodate the Novato officials, who want information on the proposed joint use of Hamilton.

Fairfax To Study Ban

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night set Aug. 10 for an adjourned meeting to discuss legal implications of the building ban imposed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

According to Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, the commission has asked that representatives of the Ross Valley Sanitary District and the water quality board attend.

She said the commission last night wondered about the effect on its duties and obligations under the ban imposed until the sanitary district improves treatment of sewage.

In other action, the board continued to August 26 Canon Village's request for rezoning 90 acres near Meadowland on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Canon Village, proposed by Janic Development Corp. of San Rafael, is a 137-unit townhouse and condominium development.

Fourth Judge Bill Goes To Assembly

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation giving Marin a fourth municipal court judge was approved unanimously today by the Senate and sent to the Assembly.

The bill, SB 1051 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The fourth judgeship would be created as of Jan. 1.

Juvenile Delinquency Unit Vetoes Merger

Marin's juvenile delinquency prevention commissioners decided yesterday they do not want to merge with the juvenile justice commission at this time because they can see no clear-cut advantage to such a merger.

Commissioners, headed by Chairman James J. Upshaw, asked the Marin County Board of Supervisors to fill two vacancies on the commission and reappoint these four commissioners whose terms expired on June 30: Maryann Garthwaite, Gary Giacomini, Cecelia Michael, and Richard Oesterman.

The commissioners want all 11 posts filled by next month so that they can meet at a retreat on Sept. 8 a 1:30 p.m. at the Nicasio home of Natalie Lewis. A consultant will be hired for up to $175 to lead the discussion at that retreat so that the commission can embark on an action program for delinquency prevention.

The Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission also:

WORKSHOP — Decided to ask the Marin County supervisors to postpone a joint meeting set for Sept. 14 to either Sept. 28 or Oct. 5.

PLEASURE FAIRE — Decided to ask Novato City Council not to let the Elizabethan Pleasure Faire operate in Novato during the Oct. 2 weekend because that would conflict with the annual fund-raising event of Sunnyhills.

PROGRAMS — Asked Youth Coordinator L. Charles Smith and Gerald Green to draw up a list of ongoing programs which the commission could support in an effective way. Among programs mentioned were Center Point, Reach Out, Big Brothers, and Squires.

MEETING — Decided not to meet in August because too many commissioners will be on vacation. Next meeting will be the Sept. 8 retreat.

Claims Freedom Of Information Act Is Violated

WASHINGON (UPI)—The House has refused to stop a controversial underground nuclear explosion which some congressmen fear might cause earthquakes and tidal waves.

Rep. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, charged that the White House violated the Freedom of Information Act by refusing to release reports which she said recommend cancellation or postponement of the blast. But the House voted 282 to 108 Thursday against scrapping the test.

The five megaton underground nuclear explosion is scheduled to be set off on Amchitka Island in the Aleutians to test a warhead for the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

(UPI Telephoto)

EMOTIONS THE KEY

Stars Vs. Colts Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI)—Emotions of the rival teams should be the deciding factor tonight when the 1971 College All Stars and National Football League champion Baltimore Colts meet in the 38th All Star game, to be nationally televised, (6:30, Channel 7), on Soldier Field's new astroturf field.

The Colts, winners in both previous appearances in the game, were favored to win by two touchdowns or more. But Blanton Collier, the former Cleveland Browns coach directing the All Stars for the first time, believed his team could be emotionally ready to give the Colts startling opposition.

"We think we have good personnel," Collier said, "but yo can't tell about the mental and emotional preparation. We'll know about that at game time. If we're ready emotionally, we think we could give them a good time."

Don McCafferty, coach of the Colts, had the same attitude. "We want to win," he said. "I think our team will be ready emotionally because it's the first game of the season, and the All Star game means a lot to them."

Weather forecasters anticipated a pleasant night for the contest with a temperature in the low 70's or perhaps in the 60's by kickoff time, scheduled for 8:30 p.m. (CDT). Showers were expected in the morning, but were expected to cease during the afternoon, causing no problem with the artificial turf. A crowd near the capacity of 52,000 was expected.

Soldier Field has been renovated since the last All Star game in order to become the home field of the Chicago Bears. New seats have been installed and the lighting improved,probably insuring a better picture on the TV screen for the viewers of ABC network. There will be radio broadcast only on the Colts' network.

Both coaches were expected to test their running game early in the contest and stick with it, if the ground game works. But both will have passing combinations ready for the "bomb," or to try to pullout a win if the running can be contained.

The Colts will start Earl Morrall at quarterback with Eddie Hinton and Ray Perkins at wide receivers and Tom Matte and Norm Bulaich to carry the running. For the All Stars Jim Plunkett of Stanford, the Heisman trophy winner, will be the starting quarterback with Dan Pastorini of Santa Clara and Chuck Hixson of Southern Methodist in reserve.

All Star running backs at the start will be Mike Adamle of Northwestern and John Brockington of Ohio State with Elmo Wright of Houston and J.D. Hill of Arizona State in the wide receiver posts.

WANTS TO TALK TERMS WITH 49ERS

Anderson Way Behind Schedule

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI) — Very seldom does the top draft choice of a professional football team fail to earn a spot on the squad.

It could happen this year with the San Francisco 49ers.

The top choice in the most recent player draft by San Francisco was Tim Anderson, a defensive back out of Ohio State. Anderson still hasn't reported to the 49ers training camp here because he wants more money

Realizing he may be negotiating himself out of a job, Anderson personally contacted the 49er front office this week and said he wants to resume contract talks.

Friends say Anderson is getting a little nervous because he has missed nearly three weeks of training and his Ohio State teammate and pal, Jack Tatum, has signed with the Oakland Raiders.

At the present time, there are 69 players on the roster of the 49ers. Anderson is one of 11 players listed as a conerback or safety.

The four starters a year ago —Jimmy Johnson, Bruce Taylor, Roosevelt Taylor and Mel Phillips —are all in camp and ready to play. In addition, returning veterans Alvin Randolph and Johnny Fuller are trying to scrap their way into the starting secondary.

Other defensive backs trying to win spots on the roster are veteran Mike Simpson and rookie Dave Walker, Jack Burns and Mike Palmer.

"It's going to be very tough for Anderson when he does report because he's so far behind," says head coach Dick Nolan.

Nolan said Thursday he will keep anywhere from five to seven defensive backs, depending on the ability of the athletes involved.

"We're satisfied with our secondary without Anderson," says Nolan. "But we know he's a good athlete. All the time he's away, he's missing a lot of things that he'll have to learn."

Nolan said that even if Anderson were to report right now, he still wouldn't be ready to play in the 49ers opening exhibition game against Cleveland Aug. 8 at Candlestick Park.

The 49ers will practice twice Friday in final preparation for a special intra-squad scrimmage Saturday night at UC Santa Barbara.

Cardinals, Brewers In Trade

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals Thursday sent outfielder Jose Cardenal, infielder Dick Schofield and pitcher Bob Reynolds to the Milwaukee Brewers for shortstop Ted Kubiak and pitcher Charles Loseth.

Cardenal has hit .243 so far this season for St. Louis. Schofield, in his third tour of duty with the Cardinals, had been sent to their Tulsa farm club earlier this season. They will report to the Brewers. Reynolds, acquired from the Montreal Expo organization June 15 for pitcher Mike Torrez, had no record for the Cards and had an earned-run average of 10.29 in three appearances. He will report to Milwaukee's Evansville farm club.

Kubiak was batting .230 this season with three home runs and 17 runs batted in. He was expected to join the Cardinals in Philadelphia. Loseth, 5-6 this season with Milwaukee's farm clubs at Danville and Raleigh-Durham, will go to the Cardinals' St. Petersburg club in the Florida State League.

Curt Flood Hit With $28,000 Bill

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Former major-league baseball player Curt Flood has been ordered to pay a judgment of $27,407 plus $750 in attorney fees by a federal judge for defaulting on a promissory note.

U.S. District Judge William H. Webster ordered Flood and his business associate William M. Jones to pay the judgment Wednesday. Flood and Jones bought a photographic specialty business, later named Curt Flood Studios, from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foster of suburban Kirkwood.

The Fosters, now residents of Orange County, Fla., sued Flood and Jones when payment on the note was not made in full when it came due in Mary. Flood alleged in a countersuit that the Fosters misrepresented facts concerning their assets and the contract at the time of the sale. His countersuit was dismissed.

Flood, with the St. Louis Cardinals at the time of the transaction, quit the Washington Senators this season and is reportedly living in Europe.

Decision Due On Warriors

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Time's awastin' for owner Franklin Mieuli to decide where his professional basketball team will play this coming winter.

He is supposed to submit a tentative 1971-72 schedule to a meeting of the board of governors of the National basketball Association on Monday.

Today Mieuli was supposed to meet here with Pete Graham, a financier from Vancouver, B.C., who recently became leaseholder of the San Diego Arena where the Rockets played before they moved to Houston.

Mieuli is thinking of changing his team's name to the Golden State Warriors and playing a maximum of 20 games in San Diego and the rest of the home schedule in the Oakland Coliseum.

The Warrior owner, who has been losing money the past few seasons with the Warriors in San Francisco, apparently feels a change of scenery will bring more paying customers into the arenas.

"I guess you have to sympathize with Franklin losing money," said Warriors coach Al Attles. "But playing games in two cities isn't going to do the team any good.

"Giving away any advantage in this league, even the smallest thing, can only hurt you. You need all the help you can get."

Most of the Warrior players also looked with dismay upon the possibility of dividing their home schedule between two cities nearly 500 miles apart.

Blue's 20th Win Attempt In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Lucky Baltimore. Unlucky Cleveland.

Steady showers in Baltimore Thursday did something that few other teams have been able to do—stop Vida Blue. The ace lefthander was ready to go for his 20th win on television against the Orioles but Mother Nature made a wet interruption.

After a wait of more than 30 minutes, the Orioles managment told a nearly sellout crowd it was no go. There's a possibility the game will be made up on Aug. 19, an open date, when the A's wind up another eastern swing.

A's manager Dick Williams was hoping Blue, who has lost three games, could turn the tide against the Orioles. Baltimore has whipped Oakland the last six times the division leaders met.

The rainout means Blue will open the four-game weekend series in Cleveland tonight. Alan Foster (5-10) probably will twirl for the Indians.

On Monday and Tuesday nights, the A's will be at Kansas City before returning home for a brief six-game Coliseum stand against Milwaukee and the Chicago White Sox.

Rain Washes Out PGA Golf Opener

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI) — Rain washed out the scheduled opening round of the PGA team championship Thursday, but it may have given a boost to the chances of defending champions Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

Nicklaus, who returned to the pro tour at the Westchester Classic last week after a month's layoff, has been bothered by an eye infection and said the extra day of rest would probably do him some good.

"The Pro-am yesterday (wednesday) was the first time I didn't have blurred vision in a week," Nicklaus said. "That's a good sign. It feels better every day."

The "Golden Bear" tied for ninth at Westchester, where Palmer won the $50,000 top prize, and aside from the aching eye the pair came into this tournament primed to shoot for their third team victory in five tries.

But officials, waiting 3½ hours after halting play early in the day, decided the Laurel Valley golf club course was not fit for further use.

"Even after moving the cups couple of times, seven of the greens were still under water," explained tournament director Ed Carter as he announced the postponement.

The 64 two-man teams will try again today to get started, but the U. S. weather service was not too optimistic.

Alvin Dark Fired As Indians' Skipper

Replaced By Coach John Lipon

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians today fired Alvin Dark as field manager and replaced him with coach Johnny Lipon for the remainder of the season.

Dark was signed to a five-year contract in 1969 to run through the 1973 season at about $60,000 a year.

The Indians reportedly offered Dark aspot in the organization but he rejected it. Dark is a former San Francisco Giant manager.

The Indians are in last place in the American League East 22 games behind league leading Baltimore.

Dark was given added responsibilities two years ago when owner Vernon Stouffer reorganized the front office. Even though Gabe Paul had the title, Dark did many of the duties of general manager including the responsibility for all field personnel—signing them to contracts, trading them, firing them or sending them back to the minors.

Stouffer said Dark was fired because "there needed to be a definite improvemnt and more unity in the organization.

"The decision was very difficult to make and it has been on our minds for sometime," said Stouffer.

Paul said he felt Lipon would be a "vital part" of the Indians organization and would sit in on most decisions.

"The staff is a very important thing," said Paul. "There should be a utilization of ideas and thoughts. There must be a meetinf of the minds. It is the only sensible way to operate."

Liponsaid he was pretty well satisfied with the present Indians personnel.

Bee Kilgore Doubles Victim In National Net

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —Top seeded Marita Redondo of National City, Calif., and Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo, defeated Bee Kilgore of Tiburon and Macy O'Keefe of Mountain View, 6-1, 6-1, Thursday in doubles competition in the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association national girls 16 and under tournament.

In other doubles play, Betsy Nagelson of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Lele Farood of Miami downed Sue Boyle and Robin Harris of Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, and fifth seeded Laurie Tenney of Los Angeles and Gretchen Galt of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7-5, 6-4.

Giants, Pirates In 4-Game Set

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Three days ago when the Atlanta Braves came to town, San Francisco manager Charlie Fox said he would gladly settle for six victories in his team's next nine games.

When the Braves left San Francisco Thursday they had beaten the Giants in two of the three games they played with the National League West pacesetters, including a 4-2 victory Thursday. Now, the Pittsburgh Pirates, runaway leaders in the N.L. East, are in San Francisco for four weekend games and the Los Angeles Dodgers follow them in for two more contests. Either Gaylord Perry or Don Carrithers will be the Giant opener tonight.

"Five victories in the nine games will suit me just fine," Fox said Thursday after Ron Reed, a tall, angular "junk" pitcher, had stopped the Giants on six scattered hits, only four of which were solid blows.

Gaylor Perry, who seems to have solved his early season pitching problems, hurls tonight's opening game against the Pirates, who will start with Steve Blass. Don Carrithers will pitch against Bob Johnson on Saturday and Juan Marichal and Frank Reberger will work against the Pirates' Bob Moose and Dock Ellis in Sunday's big doubleheader.

Does Fox view the four games with the Pirates as an important series?

"Every game and series is important," said Fox. "We're at the stage in the season where we can't think of any series being more important than another. We just have to take them one at a time, as corny as that sounds, and hope for the best."

The Giants fielded their strongest team Thursday against Reed but it hardly made a difference as he teased the Giants into submission with an assortment of letups and "lollipop" curves. Only Chris Speier, with a lone homer to left in the sixth, and Willie McCovey, with a 400 foot drive to deep center which was caught, managed to get solid wood on the ball against Reed, who picked up his 11th victory in 18 decisions and second over San Francisco this year.

Meanwhile, the Braves reached Ron Bryant, Jerry Johnsonand Don McMahon for 11 hits. Two of the blows were bases-empty homers by Zoilo Versalles, who had hit only one homer in 36 previous games this year.

Versalles' homers and a run-scoring single by Hank Aaron were the key blows for the Braves as Bryant went down to his seventh defeat in 14 decisions. The young lefthander now has been without a victory since June 26 although he has

Final Round Today In Marin Net Play

Leslie Airola and Sue Beatty, Marin County girls trying for double wins in singles competition, each was eliminated in one age group, then hung on to survive in another yesterday as the Marin County Junior Hardcourt Championships at the Mill Valley Tennis Club moved into its final day.

Miss Airola, of Tiburon, was defeated in straight 6-3 sets by No. 1 seed Carolyn Ishii in girls 18, but then triumphed over Miss Beatty of Tiburon in girls 16 by the same score.

Miss Beatty, eliminated from the 16's, fought back to take a tough 6-4, 7-5 decision over Milly Morris to move into the girls 14 finals today.

Debbie Cator of Sacramento remained alive in both girls 18 and 16 as she defeated Nancy Zaro and Joy Hahn to gain both finals.

In Boys 16, Dan Tierney of Tiburon triumphed over Rory Federico, and then teamed with Eric Lee of San Francisco to breeze into the boys 16 doubles finals.

Lisa Beritzhoff of Mill Valley and Diane De Martini of Greenbrae waltzed into the girls 14 double final with a 6-2, 6-1 win.

Miss Airola also made the finals in doubles with partner Nancy Puente of Sacramento, as the pair cruised to a 6-2, 6-3 win.

Henry Jacobsen of Belvedere, third seed in boys 14, was crushed by top seed Nial Brash from Hawaii in straight sets.

Other locals losing in the semis were Herman Bauer in boys 12 and John Beritzhoff in boys 16 doubles.

Braves Exploiting Giants' Weakness

Find a weakness and exploit it. It's a maxim of all sports. Boxers look for defensive flaws in opponents. Tennis players love to discover a weak backhand on the other side of the net. Football teams probe opposing lines for soft spots. And baseball teams are quick to bunt on a first baseman with an ailing knee.

The word is out in the National League: bunt on Willie McCovey. Four times the Braves bunted in their Candlestick series opener this week against the Giant first baseman whose damaged left knee has sharply curtailed his mobility.

TWO OF THE bunts were sacrifice situations. Still, one of them went for a hit. The two other occasions definitely were not sacrifice attempts. One of them was a two-out drag bunt by Ralph Garr, a road-runner who had three hits in the game.

Garr's bunt didn't go for a hit but one by Mike Lum, in a sacrifice setup, did. It advanced into scoring position an all-important run for the Braves in a 4-3 decision.

NOW, IT ISN'T unusual for a speedster who can handle a bat like Garr to try for a bunt hit. But his two-out bunt against McCovey was definitely designed to exploit McCovey's restricted mobility.

The Braves didn't bunt against McCovey when the Giants visited Atlanta just after the All-Star break. There was a good reason. McCovey wasn't in the lineup during the three-game series in Atlanta. But the Reds bunted against him in Cincinnati and so did the Pirates in Pittsburgh during the last road trip.

THE GIANTS need McCovey's big bat in their pennant drive. And they also need his stretching glove saves of wide throws to first base. But he still is on a day-to-day basis as a lineup starter. Some days his left knee acts up so painfully that it's impossible for him to play.

If McCovey is in shape for the forthcoming weekend series with the Pirates and the two-game set next Monday night and Tuesday afternoon against the Dodgers, especially the Dodgers, are going to do more than the usual bunting along the first base line.

THAT IS precisely what the Giants would do if either the Pirates or Dodgers had a hobbled first baseman.

Giant pitchers must be extremely alert from now on for the bunt, not just in obvious sacrifice situations but whenever competent bunters like Maury Wills are at bat.

Giant pitchers must be ready to give McCovey a bit of extra help. After all, the big fellow rates it. He's been a pretty good friend of pitchers through the years, booming game-winning homers for them.

Raider Veteran Hangs 'Em Up

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI)— Veteran tight end Jacque MacKinnon has retired from the Oakland Raiders to run a natural foods store in San Diego.

"I had planned to play this year, but the business opportunity was just too good to pass up," said the 32-year-old receiver who has played in the pros for 10 years with San Diego, Green Bay and Oakland.

He was a starter for the first four games of the 1970 season until rookie Raymond Chester took over.

"In a year or two, Raymond will make them forget all the tight ends in football," said MacMunnon.

That leaves the Raiders with three tight ends. In addition to Chester, they are second-year man Ted Koy and rookie Bob Moore from Stanford.

Coaching Is Rough Business

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The latest casualty list released by the Washington Redskins' camp contains the unlikely name of George Allen.

Allen, the Redkins' new coach, suffered a broken rib Thursday when defensive back Speedy Duncan crashed into him from behind as the coach was watching a passing drill.

Allen divided his squad into two groups for passing practice and was busy watching one group when Duncan, playing safety for the second group, slammed into him. Allen was "knocked sprawling all over the place", according to a club spokesman. He remained for the conclusion of the practice and precautionary X-rays afterwards revealed a broken rib.

The 49-year-old coach took the incident lightly, calling it a possible good luck charm. Allen said he suffered a broken hand before taking over Los Angeles in 1966 and that club won eight games. "A broken rib ought to be worth 10 victories," he said.

Elsewhere in the training camps, a crowd of 34,462 watched the Green Bay offense overwhelm the Packers' defense 44-0 in the club's annual intrasquad game. Rookie quarterback Scott Hunter of Alabama threw two touchdown passes and hit for 7-of-15 passes for 117 yards. Gary Lane threw for one score and Frank Patrick plunged over for another as new coach Dan Devine drilled his quarterback corps in an effort to find a successor to injured Bart Starr.

Running back Duane Thomas, who verbally blasted the Dallas organization last week, showed up at the Cowboys' camp Thursday and immediately demanded to be traded.

Thomas, who is demanding $80,000, met for an hour with General Manager Tex Schramm and Coach Tom Landry before leaving. He led the Cowboys' in rushing as a rookie last season and is demanding that the Cowboys rip up his three-year contract and renegotiate.

"I'm not discouraged because I know I'm pitching well," Bryant said, "but when you go without a victory in over a month you start wondering if you'll ever get one again."

Fox isn't worried about Bryant.

"Bryant will pitch on Tuesday against the Dodgers after John Cumberland opens the LA series on Monday," Fox said. "Ron hasn't been lucky lately, that's all. He's pitched well enough to win at least three games. I'm not worried about him."

Another 1-Run Win For Tigers

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Billy Martin, who likes to pull rabbits out of hats and change sure-losses into unbelievable victories, said the right words again Thursday night.

Martin's Detroit Tigers responded with four runs in the ninth Thursday night to beat the Kansas City Royals 10-9, the third straight time they have beaten the Royals by one run.

Tuesday night Detroit took an 11-inning game from Kansas City when Aurelio Rodriguez walked with the bases loaded to force in the winning run and Wednesday night Gates Brown and Al Kaline each smashed two-run homers in the ninth to transform a 7-4 deficit into an 8-7 victory.

Thursday night it was more of the same as pitcher Fred Scherman stepped to the plate with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth, after singles by Brown, Kaline and Jim Northrup, a walk and a hit batsman had tied the game. Scherman was hit by a 3-2 pitch and the winning run came home.

In other American League action, Chicago blanked New York 4-0, Milwaukee blitzed Boston 3-0 and California ran over Cleveland 7-2. Rain forced postponement of the Washington-Minnesota and Oakland-Baltimore games.

Chicago's Tom Bradley scattered nine hits for his fourth shutout of the year and was backed by home runs by Tom Egan and Bill Melton as he evened his record to 9-9.

Marty Pattin fired a four-hit shutout and Bill Voss belted a fourth inning homer to lead the Brewers over the Red Sox.

Ken McMullen and Billy Cowan banged out home runs and Eddie Fisher hurled two-hit ball over the final 4-2-3 innings in the Angels' victory over Cleveland.

No-Hitter Paces Jacobsen To Win

Dan George tossed a no-hit, no-run game, and Jess Wiles and Art Myers blasted back-to-back home runs last night, as Jacobsen Machine Shop blanked The Bar, 8-0 in an adult league softball game in San Rafael.

In another game, Perry's Delicatessen shut out Cain's Tire also by an 8-0 score, on the pitching and hitting of Gary Swarm. Winning pitcher Swarm limited Cain's to three singles, struck out 10, and hit a home run to top off his near-perfect evening.

In the other game last night, Trowbridge outlasted Glue Gloves, 12-10.

Padre Hurler Throttles Reds

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Lady luck finally seems to be smiling on Dave Roberts.

Roberts, ho has pitched well but received little support this season, finally got some backing Thursday night as the San Diego Padres pounded out 13 hits enroute to a 5-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Roberts allowed only five hits, two in the opening inning when Cincinnati scored its only run, as he dropped his earned-run average to 2.15, best among National League starters.

The little left-hander needed only 83 pitches to stop the powerful Red attack and also singled in a run.

The Reds jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first on Pete Rose's single and Lee May's double but the Padres bounced back with two on the third on Enzo Hernandez' walk and doubles by Dave Campbell and Nate Colbert. Hernandez and Roberts singled in runs in the sixth and consecutive doubles by Hernand and Campbell gave San Diego its fifth run in the eighth.

The victory was only the eighth against 13 losses for Roberts.

In the only other National League games scheduled, Atlanta beat San Francisco 4-2, St. Louis downed New York 3-1 in an eight-inning, rain-shortened game and Pittsburgh bombed Los Angeles 8-5.

Matty Alou's two-run triple off centerfielder Don Hahn's glove lifted St. Louis over the Mets. The Cardinals broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth when Dal Maxvill singled, Jose Cruz walked and Alou tripled. The victory moved St. Louis past the idle Cubs into second place in the NL East.

Gene Clines and Bob Robertson homered during a six-run sixth inning burst and Willie Stargell added his 33rd homer of the year as the Pirates rallied to beat Los Angeles. The Dodgers led 4-1 in he sixth when Manny Sanguillen doubled and Robertson hit his 21st homer. Singles by Jackie Hernandez and pinch-hitters Dave Cash and Vic Davalillo produced another run and Clines followed with his first major league homer.

FISH AND GAME

Conservationists Vs. Protectionists

By AL GIDDINGS

Here is a most important statement released this past week by the California Fish and Game Commission that I would like to pass along to you:

It is consistent with our responsibility as fish and game commissioners that we should "sound the alarm" on a serious threat to the sound management of that wildlife which has been entrusted to our care.

OPPONENTS of all sport hunting are now combining forces and unleashing a vigorous campaign to convince the public and their elected representatives that "complete protection" is necessary for the perpetuation of our wildlife resources — that conservation is synonymous with complete protection — that hunting and pollution are partners in the destruction of the environment.

Conservation and "complete protection" are not the same. Conservation implies management, the balancing of the species with its everchanging environment.

"COMPLETE protection" ignores decades of wildlife management experience and, therefore, the vital scientific approach to perpetuation of all our fish and game.

With the widespread public interest in environmental matters and a general consensus that man has been derelict in protecting the quality of his environment, it follows that the public is receptive to the "prophets of doom" who falsely forecast the extinction of certain game species because of hunting.

For game species, controlled hunting has proven to be an effective management tool. Contrary to the shrill arguments of protectionist groups, properly regulated hunting cannot lead to the extinction or even the endangering of any species. None of the hunted species under modern fish and game management programs has ever become extinct or endangered.

IN THE EARLY 1900s protectionists predicted the annihilation of species such as valley quail, gray squirrels, antelope, mule deer, sage grouse, wood ducks and band-tailed pigeons because of hunting pressure.

Sportsmen's fees are annually expended by the Department for the protection and enhancement of our fish and wildlife. Of this about $1 million in sportsmen's license fees are expended annually for programs not directly involving game species.

All indications are that management programs by the Department for protection and preservation of all nongame species, including those in the rare and endangered categories, will be successful.

IN SUMMARY, what protectionists often ignore or conveniently forget is that in dealing with wildlife there is no absolute safety solely in numbers. Reasonable consumptive use has no detrimental effect on wildlife and in many cases is highly beneficial. Probably, there would be no increase in California wildlife today if hunting had been totally banned years ago. In fact, there would be far less, since the sportsmen's license and permit fees have been the only state funds available for wildlife conservation. California's taxpayers, as such, contribute no money for this purpose. The protectionists fallacious line is that firearms are inherently evil and that hunters are borderline psychotics, compensating for personal inadequacies. Their technique is to first demand a moratorium on hunting of a certain animal, next insist on its "total protection," and, thereby, one by one, eliminate all animals from the game species classification.

We therefore call upon all conservationists, including the Governor, legislators and citizens to rapidly unite in a campaign to demand the continued scientific management of our renewable wildlife resources. The alternative is the destruction of our wildlife resources through the loss of existing sound management programs as well as the end to all recreational hunting in California.

Mac Foster Wins On A Knockout

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Returning from a four-month layoff, once-beaten Mac Foster, 221, Fresno, Calif., knocked out Billy Joiner, 198, Cincinnati, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round fight at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

It was Foster's 27th victory—and 27th knockout—in 28 starts.

Foster, 28, wore his opponent down with a body attack and knocked him out with a left hook to the jaw. It was the only knockdown of the bout.

18-Year-Old Advances In Net Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Jim Connors, the 18-year-old NCAA champion from Belleville, Ill., polished off Haroon Rahim of Pakistan in just 40 minutes Thursday to advance to the semi-finals of the $20,000 Buckeye Tennis Championships and he summed it up very well.

"I think I played exceptionally well," Connors, who won 6-3, 6-2, said. "Rahim is probably a little tired after that long match yesterday. I played smart.

"He's a strong server. I thought if I could return it I'd have a chance."

Rahim had ousted fourth-seeded Jaime Fillol of Chile in the opening round.

In other singles match of the day, Tom Gorman of Seattle defeated George Goven, France's No. 1 ranked player, 7-6, 7-6, after being forced into sudden death tie breakers in both sets.

Gorman, the sixth-ranked U.S. player and seeded second in this tournament, had to play 85 minutes to gain the win.

Pomp And Pageantry Start Off Pan-American Games

CALI, Colombia (UPI)—International sports unfurls its full pomp and pageantry today here in a sun-baked tropical valley in the Andes Mountains for the formal opening of the VI Pan-American games among a record 30 nations of the Western Hemisphere.

A total of 3,056 athletes, also a record, will compete in 24 events from Saturday through Aug. 13 with a 376-member United States team expected to mine the major share of gold, silver, and bronze medals.

But first comes the colorful opening ceremonies, scheduled to start at 5 p.m. EDT when the athletes parade into Pascual Guerrero Stadium to what promises to be a tumultuous greeting by 60,000 "calenos" and visitors to this coffee and sugar-producing valley 400 miles north of the equator.

There will be marching, singing, lighting of the Pan-American flame, 21-gun salutes, formal opening of the games by the president of Colombia, and finally the release of a host of doves signifying peace and harmony during the games.

The Colombian hosts got their first chance to cheer Thursday when the Pan-American flame arrived in Cali at the end of a journey of nearly 1,500 miles from a mountain top in Mexico. An estimated 80,000 persons lined the route of relay runners bearing the flame, following its progress on radios, and roaring with delight as it was installed in a flameholder in PanAmerican park to await its final trip to the stadium.

Track and field, always the premier competition in this olympic-style tournament, moves to the center of the stage immediately for a six-day stand when actual competition opens on Saturday—and the big question is whether the mighty "Northamericanos" can duplicate their feat of winning 22 out of a possible 24 gold medals in the 1967 games in Winnipeg, Canada.

"I don't think we can do as well as we did four years ago," admitted U.S. head track coach Alex Francis of Fort Hays, (Kans.), State.

"Because of injuries, we're hurting pretty bad as far as the short races are concerned," Francis explained. "And our 400-meter relay team has been roughed pretty well."

Any U.S. slip in track isn't expected to show on Saturday's opening program, however, when the Yanks are expected to win all three gold medals that will be decided. Favorites are world record holder Pat Matzdorf of the University of Wisconsin in the high jump, Frank Shorter of Boulder, Colo., in the 10,000 meter run, and Tim Vollmer of Poland, Ore., in the discus throw.

Saturday's opening schedule also includes competition in basketball, baseball, boxing, fencing, soccer, gymnastics, weightlifting, rowing and volley ball.

BIG NEW BIRD — McDonnell Douglas of Long Beach delivered yesterday the first two in its series of wide-bodied, three-engine jets to American Airlines and United Airlines. This American Airlines DC-10 trijet is slated for service between Los Angeles and Chicago starting August 17. It features passenger lounges fore and aft, and galley service below the cabin deck.

McDonnell Douglas' New Trijet Series Gets Big Public Showing

LONG BEACH (UPI)—The first two of a new series of McDonnell Douglas airliners, the DC10 trijet, were delivered Thursday to American Airlines and United Airlines.

In a ceremony attended by top company and government officials, the two airlines accepted the newest commercial aircraft just 35 years after the same companies purchased the first of the famous Douglas DC3 planes.

Secor D. Browne, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, and Jack Shaffer, administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, were among the civil leaders and executives at the ceremony presided over by McDonnell Douglas board chairman James S. McDonnell.

The two planes were then flown off to their bases for training of crews prior to being placed in service next month.

The DC10 will accommodate from 230 passengers in a typical mixed first class and coach arrangement and 345 passengers in an all economy class.

The new jet is not as large as the Boeing 747 but unlike the bigger "jumbo" it can land at practically any airport including New York's close-in LaGuardia Field. It also is the competitor to Lockheed's Tristar should that company be given the support to put their new jet on the market.

Nineteen airlines have placed orders for the DC10, McDonnell Douglas said.

One special distinction of the DC10 is its cabin width of more than 18 feet.

Stocks Rise In Slow Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks rose in dull trading during the first two hours of today.

Analysts attributed the firmness to a "technical" reaction following three sessions of lower prices. They said the gloomy economic picture was still depressing activity on Wall Street.

Among the 1,385 issues traded, 612 advanced and 441 declined.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index picked up 0.20 to 96.22.

Pan American World Airways up 1-8, Chase Manhattan off 3-8, and General Telephone and Electronics off 1-8 topped the active list. Also active were U.S. Steel off ⅛, Memorex up 1⅛, Abbott Labs up 1½ and Lockheed off 1⅜.

Loew's warrants, with about 42,000 shares traded, was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the Amex were narrowly higher in light trading.

Dymo Industries To Expand In Information

BERKELEY (BW) — Dymo Industries Inc. has announced the expansion of its acitivity in the field of information transfer systems, according to Claude L. Ganz, president.

The first step in this expansion has been achieved through an agreement to acquire certain assets of AUDAC CORP. of Boston, Mass.

AUDAC has pioneered the development of terminals capable of machine reading information from plastic cards and then transmitting the information automatically to a remote computer through telephone lines.

The system has known applications for credit verification and inventory controls and is of potential use in numerous applications for security and other identification systems.

Ganz added that operationally the AUDAC products are a logical extension of Dymo's new card embossing/imprinting program and will effectively make use of Dymo's Elliott subsidiary.

The common stock of Dymo Industries is traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Mining Stocks Are Speculative

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Two years ago I bought American Silver, Nancy Lee Mines and Lee National, all of which show losses. I also have T. Rowe Price Growth Fund and Sunshine Mining Convertible Debentures; both of these are showing profits. I am now retiring and need income — what are your suggestions? — M.L.

A. In view of your retirement and apparent need for income, your portfolio is overdue for revision. As mining stocks are generally considered speculative, I first suggest sale of both American Silver and Nancy Lee Mines. Your Sunshine Mining debentures carry a rather low rating by the authorities and I feel this also should be liquidated. Lee National is too speculative for you and provides no income — sell. Retention of T. Rowe Price Growth Fund is advised, however.

Short-term notes would provide you with most satisfactory income and both issues I suggest — American Tel. & Tel. 7¾s of 1977 and Reynolds Tobacco 8⅛s of 1974 — carry quality bond ratings.

Q. Can you give me information on Electric Hose & Rubber? — S.G.

A. Although company products are sold to a wide range of industries, many of Electric Hose's markets have been hard hit by the sluggish economy. Industries served include: aerospace, automotive, construction, farm equipment, military and heavy machinery.

In the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1970, sales moved ahead marginally, while earnings dropped 26 per cent. For the current fiscal year, operating results have been even more dismal, reflecting strikes against two major customers and the continued slow business climate. Sales were off 8.3 per cent year-to-year in the nine months through May. Earnings were four cents a share compared with $1.11 in the fiscal 1970 period.

Directors voted in mid-June to slash the dividend from 25 cents a share quarterly to five cents. As a supplier to primary industries, Electric Hose is apt to be slow to reflect economic recovery. However, in the third quarter, operations showed improvement over the two previous periods. Shares should be held for recovery.

Earnings, Sales Up At Ford Co.

Second quarter sales and earnings by Ford Motor Co. were above last year's figures, even though a 65-day strike against Ford of Britain reduced per share earnings by an estimated 27 cents.

Consolidated net income was $198 million on record sales of $8 billion, up from $166 million in earnings in the first half of 1970 on sales of $7.3 billion.

Small cars accounted for 35 per cent of first-half sales in the U.S. market.

Earlier this month directors declared a third-quarter dividend of 65 cents per share payable Sept. 1 — an increase of five cents per share over the previous quarterly dividend rate.

STANDARD REGISTER CO. is closing out its Oakland plant on Livingston Street and transferring operations to new facilities in Corcoran and Porterville. Pacific division offices will be relocated in the Bay Area.

DI GIORGIO CORP. six-month after-tax operating earnings increased 25 per cent to 60 cents per share, compared to 48 cents for the first half of last year. Total operating earnings of $3.2 million compared with last year's $2.2 million for the first six months.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORP. directors have declared a dividend of 40 cents per share of common stock payable Sept. 10. This is a drop from 60 cents per share paid regularly since the third quarter of 1966. Income for the first half of 1971 amounted to $118.6 million on sales of $2,822 million, compared to $74.9 million on $2,475 million in sales a year ago, but higher second quarter sales were said to reflect advance buying in anticipation of a possible interruption of steel supply after tomorrow, when the steel labor contract is due to expire.

AMERICAN EXPRESS CO. earnings, including those of subsidiaries, during the first six months this year ran well ahead of last year. Consolidated net income of $42.9 million or $1.80 per share compared with $35 million or $1.47 per share a year ago.

PAN AMERICAN WORLD AIRWAYS, INC. and its consolidated subsidiaries have reported in a preliminary and unaudited statement for the second quarter a net loss of $15.5 million or 40 cents per share. Last year's second quarter showed net income of $1 million or three cents per share. Revenue ton-miles in the quarter decreased 6.9 per cent, compared with an increase of 3.6 per cent in available ton miles.

CALIFORNIA FINANCIAL CORP., parent company of Security Savings and Loan Association and Marin Title Guaranty Co. showed net operating earnings of $1,099,890 or 31 cents per share for the six months ended June 30 before a tax carry-forward benefit of six cents per share. First half earnings last year were $729,721 or 21 cents per share.

MOBIL OIL CORP. reported record earnings for both the second quarter and first half of 1971. Estimated first half earnings were $257.2 million or $2.54 per share, compared with $227.5 million or $2.25 per share last year. Second quarter earnings were estimated at $124.7 million or $1.23 per share, a 13.7 per cent improvement over the $109.7 million or $1.09 per share earned in the second quarter last year.

BOISE CASCADE CORP. reported net operating earnings of 12 cents per share for the second quarter — a decrease of 68 per cent, compared to the 38 cents per share a year ago. Net operating income of $4.9 million or 16 cents per share in the first six months of 1971 declined from $29.7 million or 97 cents per share during the same period last year.

MACABRE CRASH SCENE — An aerial photograph made more macabre by the fading light of dusk shows the wreckage of the Japanese Air Force F-86 jet which strayed into the path of an All Nippon Airways Boeing 727 airliner, causing both aircraft to crash. The pilot of the F-86 parachuted to safety, but 162 persons aboard the 727 died. Residents of the area where the F-86 fell to ground gathered around the rice paddy to view the wreckage, shown in a photo relayed to the U.S. by radio.

History's Worst Airplane Crash: 162 Persons Die

MORIOKA, Japan (UPI) — A 22-year-old Japanese student pilot on a training mission in an F86 Sabrejet collided with an All Nippon Airways airliner today, sending the 162 persons aboard the Boeing 727 to their death in aviation's worst single disaster.

The F86 pilot parachuted to safety.

The 727 trijet disintegrated in flight, cutting off the last frantic broadcast by pilot Capt. Saburo Kawaniski, 41: "Emergency! Emergency! Emergency! This is All Nippon! All Nippon! Unable to control! Unable to control!"

Masataka Kato, 45, a primary school teacher in the town of Morioka, 275 miles north of Tokyo said:

"I heard something like a clap of thunder and I looked up into the sky.

Masataka Kato, 45, a pimary school teacher in the town of Morioka 275 miles north of Tokyo said:

"I heard something like a clap of tunder and I looked up into the sky.

"High in the air I could see a lot of smoke. There were five columns of white smoke coming from the wing of a big plane that was flying eastward (on a domestic flight from Sapporo to Tokyo). Then I saw the fuselage going down in the mountains near here. Up above I could see what seemed to be parts of the plane."

Bodies and debries rained from the skies onto the village of Shizukuishi in the mountains of extreme northern Japan near what are called the Japanese Alps. Mrs. Etsu Yoshida, a housewife, was struck on the hand by a fliing object, but authorities reported no other injuries.

The F86 also disintegrated in the collision but the pilot, Yoshimi Ichikawa, parachuted to safety. Japanese police said he would be arrested and cyarged with straying into the path of the airliner. They said he had had only 21 hours of training in F86s and that his instructor also may have been guilty of some "loose judgment."

All of the 155 passengers and seven crewmen were Japanese with exception of the flight engineer, Donn M. Carpenter, 30, of Miami, Fla.

The consensus among aviation and defense officials was that the disaster probably was caused by error on the part of the student pilot.

Norihiki Yatake, director of the prefectural police in Morioka, said he would arrest the student pilot because an investigation "indicates the jet fighter intruded into the air corridor reserved for commercial liners."

By late today 50 bodies had been recovered.

Lt. Gen. Tsurayuki Ishikawa, vice chief of staff of the Japanese Self Defense Force, said he also believed there was error in judgment by the F86 pilot. The pilot himself was hospitalized for observation but was reported in good condition.

Before today's tragedy the worst air disaster was the crash of a Venezuelan DC9 at Maracaibo on March 16, 1969, when 155 persons were killed — 84 persons on the plane and 71 on the ground. The collision of a United Air Lines DC8 jet and a TWA Super Constellation over New York City Dec. 16, 1960, killed 134 persons.

Today's was the second air disaster in Japan in a month. On July 4, a domestic airliner carrying 68 persons crashed on the island of Hokkaido, killing all aboard. On Feb. 4, 1966, an All Nippon Airways 727 crashed into Tokyo Bay killing 133 persons in Japan's previous worst disaster.

An airways spokesman said 125 of the victims of today's disaster were members of a tour group from Fuji City, located at the base of Mount Fuji, 90 miles west of Tokyo. The tour group members belonged to a society of relatives of World War II victims and were visiting historical sites in Japan.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, vacationing in the resort town of Karuizawa, ordered Minister of Transport Kyoshiro Niwa to being an immediate investigation. He also named Keikichi Masuhara, director general of the Self Defense Forces, to go to the crash scene as his personal representative.

Lockheed Back Where It Began

WASHINGTON (UPI) —After 19 years, Kell Johnson's "Skunk Works" has come nearly full circle —rising from the depths of bankruptcy to become the nation's top defense contractor, and plunging back toward financial disaster once again.

The future of the "Skunk Works," a nickname Lockheed Aircraft Corp. picked up by making F-80 jet fighters secretly during World War II, now is in the hands of Congress.

And both House and Senate are sharply divided as they near a showdown over voting a guarantee so Lockheed can borrow $250 million and avoid bankruptcy.

The Senate declined again today to stop a filibuster against a loan guarantee bill to benefit Lockheed.

It was the third time this week the Senate refused to invoke cloture—a parliamentary device requiring a two-thirds majority of those present and voting to limit debate.

The vote was 53 to 37, seven votes short.

The refusal meant that debate will continue at least through next Monday, when another cloture vote may be scheduled.

House Speaker Carl Albert told newsmen shortly after the Senate vote that the House Democratic leadership supports a $250 million guarantee for Lockheed — and not a general $2 billion fund to help other corporations. Albert predicted House passage of the $250 million measure.

The first time around for Lockheed, back in 1932, the issue was clearer. No federal aid was in store for the bankrupt Detroit Aircraft Corp., whose Lockheed division was grabbed up by a syndicate that developed the branch into an aerospace giant.

Today, the controversy touches on the very fabric of the free enterprise system. About the only noncontroversial point, all sides seem to agree, is that without additional financing Lockheed will go the way of the old Detroit airplane firm, into banruptcy.

Although the Nixon adminis-

WATER MAIN BREAK SHUTS ANGEL ISLAND

Angel Island State Park will be closed to visitors through Monday because of a ruptured water main that supplies Ayala Cove, the island's major use area.

Chief Ranger Kenneth J. Huddleston said water for three families living in the cove is being trucked in from other parts of the island. Two other water systems serving 11 families at the east and west garrisons are not affected.

Park crews were searching today for the break in the line, which bears water from a tank on a hill to the cove. The water is pumped to the tank and three others on the island from deep wells that tap underground streams.

"The main problem is a logistical one of getting equipment to the island to repair the leak," said Huddleston.

He said he hoped to reopen the park, which closed yesterday, early next week. In the meantime, he said, the Angel Island ferry from Tiburon will not operate.

Separation Problem Solved: Landing 'Go'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) —Apollo 15's two moon explorers successfully separated their landing craft from the command ship today after a 25-minute delay caused by a loose electrical connection. Their moon landing for 3:15 p.m. PDT remained on schedule.

The crucial separation occurred in lunar orbit at 11:13 p.m. PDT.

Flight commander David R. Scott and James B. Irwin, were in the landing craft Falcon and Alfred M. Worden was flying alone in the command ship Endeavour when they tried— but failed—to separate the two craft. A second attempt succeeded.

"You're on your own," Worden said to his companions.

"Okay, good clean sep," replied Scott.

For a few fateful minutes, a major hitch was feared in the mission.

After the sepaation, the Falcon's four legs popped into place and it appeared everything was proceeding normally toward the moon landing.

Two orbits earlier, the astronauts shifted their orbit slightly higher to set Falcon up for the landing approach. The final descent was to start at 3:03 p.m. PDT with the momentous landing expected 12 minutes later.

On one pre-landng pass, Scott reported he could see the landing area clearly and that it appeared generally smooth with no big boulders that could hamper the touchdown.

"I can see some debris around some of the fresher craters," Scott said. "The area in general looks pretty good. I don't think we'll have any trouble picking it up."

The spacecraft had dropped to within 45,500 feet — lower than expected — before a brief rocket burst at 6:30 a.m. PDT raised the low point of their orbit to 58,300 feet.

By landing time, the moon's gravitational tug was expected to pull Apollo 15 back down to 50,000 feet — the altitude desired for a proper descent approach. That was well above the highest moon peaks, estimated at 30,000 feet.

"Think you can miss them?" asked ground control.

"That's up to you guys," replied Scott.

Tracking stations maintained a close watch on the astronauts' roller coaster path.

An hour after awakening, the astronauts turned on their color television camera and beamed back a stark, detailed view of the 15,000 foot Apennine Mountains east of their valley landing site and the deep canyon bordering it. The view swept by quickly and was gone in seconds.

"That was very fast," said Scott.

As Apollo 15 moved toward the dark western side of the moon, the deeply shadowed lunar terrain was awesome.

Nixon Urges An End To Spreading Rail Walkout

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon personally urged negotiators for the railroads and the United Transportation Union to negotiate an early end to the spreading railroad strike that is having a growing impact on the nation's economy.

But even as Nixon met with the rail negotiators at the White House, the United Steel Workers Union rejected a contract offer from the steel companies, and said prospects were "grim" though not hopeless for avoiding a steel strike at midnight Saturday.

A steel workers spokesman called the contract offer "stingy."

The railroad union, which represents train operating crews, went on strike against six additional lines today, shutting off the last rail link to Southern California vegetable fields at harvest time and hitting industrial plants in Chicago, St. Louis, Houston and the Pittsburgh area.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that during a one-hour meeting with rail labor, management, and government officials, Nixon "stated his belief that this industry can, should and is able to solve its own problem ... through the collective bargaining process."

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson, said the President's personal participation in the meeting indicates "the seriousness with which the admiistration views the strike."

Hodgson said about 25 governors from states hardest hit by the shutdown had informed the government that the situation in their areas "ranges from critical to disastrous."

Hodgson said the White

THE SUDANESE COUP

A Hangman's Noose Chokes Communism

By NAT GIBSON

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI)— When government executioners pulled a cloth sack over the head of a small, balding man, slipped a noose around his neck and hanged him in a brisk rain, they effectively ended the influence of the local Communist party in the Sudan.

The man was the Sudanese Communist party secretary general, Abdel Khalek Mahjoub.

He walked to the gallows with little more than a murmur of official protest from the Soviet Union, which had been his best friend but also was the chief supplier of aid, advice and trade to the government that executed him.

This hanging early Wednesday climaxed a week of confused political turmoil in the Sudan that saw the Arab world's first Communist government take power by means of a coup and then fall to a countercoup that restored president Maj. Gen. Jaafar Numeiry to power within 72 hours.

Khartoum newspapers said today authorities had released

Air Crash In France Kills 37

PAU, France (UPI) — A French Air Force Nord 2501 transport crashed during a paratroop training mission Friday, killing all 37 persons aboard, the air force announced.

An Air Force communique said the plane crashed as it came in for an emergency landing at Pau-Uzein aibase.

It said first reports indicated fire had broken out aboard the aircraft just as the jumps were to start.

The announcement said the victims included 30 paratroops, four paratroop instructors and three crew-members.

Exchange Program Fleecing Revealed

Novato parents who sent their youngsters to La Paz, Mexico, on a student exchange program, agreed last night they may have been bilked by Carlos C. Carmona, the exchange's organizer for the past 10 years.

But, the parents declared at an informal meeting, the youngsters gained so much from their adventures that the 10-year-old exchange program should continue — without Carmona.

The 18 youngsters who spent five weeks in Baja California this summer, their parents and chaperones Luis Pena and Mrs. Robert Campbell met last night in San Jose Junior High School to discuss the apparent scandal.

According to Mexican press, authorities there are seeking to arrest Carmona, who founded a bilingual school and the John F. Kennedy Library in the Mexican coastal town. He is accused of charging Novato, Mill Valley and Berkeley families $200 for each child taken on the five-week outing, then collecting a second fee from Mexican families with whom the youngsters were housed.

In addition, Mrs. Campbell told the Independent-Journal that "Sudcalifornian," the leading newspaper in La Paz, has reported that Carmona faces charges including illegally residing in La Paz, operating a school without credentials and other violations. Carmona — a former Marin resident and one-time teacher at St. Vincent's School for Boys — is a U.S. citizen although his home is in La Paz, Mrs. Campbell said.

At last night's meeting, Pena reported on this summer's trip. He and Mrs. Campbell helped the parents fill out questionnaires from Sergio A. Lucero, head of the immigration department for the Territory of Baja California concerning the student exchange and Carmona's role in it.

Carmona's double-billing apparently has been going on for years, but came to light this month because it was the first time that the Novato adults accompanying the youngsters

PT&T Reaches Pact Agreement With Yellow Pages Employees

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. reached a contract agreement with a union representing yellow pages employes and most picketing was ordered stopped today in California.

The agreement with the AFLCIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is subject to ratification meeting Monday in San Francisco.

Because of the strike, members of the Communications Workers of America had refused to cross IBEW picket lines, causing some service problems in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Supervisory employes filled in for operators in some cases.

The IBEW, representing 700 employes, struck July 15 after its contract expired and only 24 hours after the CWA struck.

CWA reached an agreement earlier but the ratification vote still has not been counted although that union's member are not on strike.

Peter Pusateri, business manager for the IBEW local in San Francisco, said the agreement upgraded between 150 and 165 clerical jobs, held mostly by women. There will be an immediate pay increase of $35 a week.

Increases of between $23.50 and $25 a week were granted for another 100 clerical jobs.

Salesmen, who are paid both a salary and a commission, will get an increase of seven per cent in their commission, Pusateri said. He estimated the total pay gain to salesman at around $35 a week.

Picketing was ordered stopped at all company installations in Northern California except in one at 900 Bush St. in San Francisco. No clear reason was given for continuing picketing there.

Meanwhile, the governors of California, Oregon and Washington and the principals in the 30-day-old West Coast longshoremen's strike have agreed to attend a summit meeting on the walkout next week.

Govs. Ronald Reagan of California, Tom McCall of Oregon and Dan Evans of Washington will join President Harry Bridges of the striking union and President Edmond Flynn of the Pacific Maritime Association at the session next Wednesday at San Francisco International Airport.

The high level talks were set up by Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation Service in Washington, D.C., in an effort to get negotiations underway on a coastwide basis rather than through port by port procedures.

Nixon Visit Off

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today cancelled an "off the record appearance" Saturday before California's exclusive Bohemian Grove, a private club whose membership includes leading industrialists and other notables.

Press Seretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon accepted the invitation to speak before the club at its lush redwoos encampment "under the traditional ground rules that all remarks are off the record."

Ziegler said because some members of the White House press had explained that with 1700 members present "the off the record could not hold" Nixon decided to cancel the speech.

The press secretary said newsmen pointed out they would "have to make an effort —and we understand that—to seek out the content" of Nixon' remarks.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Pen ..on Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has delivered a one-month ultimatum to the Defense Department threatening it with the loss of further military aid funds.

Invoking a rarely used congressional sanction, the committee formally notified Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird Thursday that his authority to spend military aid appropriations would cease in 35 days unless he:

—Gives the committee a copy of the department's five-year plan for military assistance to foreign countries.

—Or delivers a message from President Nixon refusing to release the report.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright told Laird the committee decided to take the action by a 15 to 0 vote because the Pentagon had ignored a series of requests for the information.

Aid To Schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A House Education subcommittee early today approved a modified version of President Nixon's $1.5 billion bill to help pay the cost of school desegregation.

Nixon listed the measure as top legislative priority and hoped to get it enacted before the start of school in September. But an agreement made by Republicans to get the stalled bill approved will prevent it from passing Congress until after schools open in five weeks.

The measure would authorize $500 million this fiscal year and $1 billion in fiscal 1973 to help pay the costs of desegregation ordered by a court or federal agency or which is achieved voluntarily.

Watch In Horror

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dozens of rock fans at the Forest Hills Music Festival watched in horror Thursday night as one youth stabbed another to death outside the world-famous tennis stadium.

Kerry Flaherty, 21, who police said was on parole from the state prison at Elmira, N.Y. where he served time on robbery and drug charges, was held for the stabbing.

The dead youth was identified tentatively as George Etheriege, 22, who was attending the concert by "The Who" at the stadium.

Police said Flaherty attempted to enter the stadium without a ticket and began quarelling with Etheriege at the gate. The argument continued out into the street and, in front of a crowd, Flaherty pulled a knife and plunged it into the other man's chest, police said.

Security guards at the concern apprehended Flaherty but could not hold off a mob of youths who beat the ex-convict to the ground before police arrived.

Etheriege was dead on arrival at St. John's Hospital, where Flaherty also was taken.

Safe To Eat

WHINGTON (UPI)—Broiler chickens contaminated by poisoned feed are apparently safe to eat, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department has been running tests on polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) since the contamination from a Wilmington, N.C., feed plant was discovered two weeks ago. PCB is similar to DDT.

It was reported that over half the chickens sampled were tainted, but Clayton Yeutter, head of the department's consumer and marketing service, said Thursday that "our best judgment is that consumers have not been buying either poultry or pork which exceeds tolerance."

Sato Upset

TOKYO (UPI)—A Tokyo newspaper says Premier Eisaku Sato complained to a high-ranking U.S. diplomat over America's failure to consult Japan before announcing President Nixon's visit to Communist China.

The Yomiuri newspaper said Sato made the protest July 25 during a three-hour interview with David Kennedy, President Nixon's roving ambassador for economic affairs.

"The measure taken by the United States at this time runs counter to Oriental logic," Sato was quoted as having told Kennedy during the meeting.

Yomiuri said its information about the Sato-Kennedy meeting came from "government sources."

Ky In Trouble

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky pressed his efforts today to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential election amid charges by province councilors they were forced to ledge support for President Nguyen Van Thieu and now wanted to switch to Ky.

Thieu and Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh presented their qualifying petitions to run Thursday, but Ky reportedly has encountered difficulty rounding up the needed support of 40 senators or assemblymen or 100 provincal councilors to get on the ballot. Ky has until Aug. 4 to qualify.

Nguyen Duy Bao, chairman of the Gia Dinh city councilors, which includes the suburban area surrounding Saigon, told a news conference Ky had 140 councilors supporting him. However, Bao said, only 70 of the councilors had been legally certfied in support of Ky, leavng the vice president 30 short of the requirement.

A 'Powder Keg'

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Mosquitoes immune to pesticides are moving toward the cities and have experts trying to combat sleeping sickness "virtually at their wits' ends," health officials said Tuesday.

"We're just sitting on a powder keg," said Dr. Don Murray, manager of the Delta Mosquito Abatement District in Visalia, Calif. "Mosquitoes are thicker than they have been for some years."

He said chemical control of the pests worked well until last year, when strains resistant to pesticides began surviving. This year, chemical controls started out well, "but we started to fade last week."

Mosquitoes are beginning to range farther and farther from their breeding grounds—particularly irrigated pasture lands.

New Relation

HONG KONG (UPI)—Peking Radio announced today the establishment of diplomatic relations between mainland China and the West African republic of Sierra Leone.

The announcement, made simultaneously by the New China News Agency (NCNA), said a communique on the exchange of diplomatic recognition was signed in Peking Thursday.

Hart Is Supporting Muskie For President

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., has endorsed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie for president, saying the Maine Democrat is extremely competent, and electable.

"He has a stability that the people sense and what this country would be much better off to have had right now," Hart told a news conference Thursday. Muskie has not announced his candidacy.

U.S. Car Prices Going Up In '72

DETROIT (UPI)—Two things are clear about the cars U.S. automakers are building for 1972: They'll look a lot like 1971 modles and they'll cost more money.

Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. have informed their dealers that wholesale prices for 1972 cars will be anywhere from $100 to $200 more than for 1971 models.

General Motors Corp., the largest of the big three automakers and the usual price-setter, isn't saying what increases they are anticipating. But GM surely will announce a price hike.

GM Chairman James J. Roche said Monday recent wage increases were partly responsible for pushing up prices. Roche, in a televised interview, said the way to halt inflation was to make American people aware of labor's unrealistic demands. He said wages are exceeding productivity and this has made prices so high that U.S. industry is pricing itself out of the international marketplace.

However, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock took Roche to task Thursday.

"GM's recent profit statement makes a mockery of its claims about inflation," said Woodcock at a news conference.

He said GM's "rigid price-profit formula" that nets 20 per cent on invested capital after taxes "makes the U.S. market particularly suited for Japanese and German auto makers."

Woodcock called prices increases "totally unwarranted."

In the meantime, Ford announced th 1972 Pinto will cost 7.6 per cent more — at least $150 per car — and indicated prices of other new model Fords will rise by at least 4.9 per cent. Chrysler said its price increases will be in the "same ballpark."

Ford said the $150 increase per car will bring thePinto's suggested base sticker price to $2,069. This has the effect of eliminating the advertised claim that a Pinto can be purchased for less than $2,000.

In addition, Ford said popular optional items for Pintos would cost more. Ford also told dealers in letters Thursday that they can expect the average wholesale cost to them to increase at least 4.9 per cent on all other Ford cars.

No one is supposed to know what the 1972 models look like until they are introduced at press showings next month. But Lincoln-Mercury and Chrysler have circulated "advance" pictures to the news media of their new models. Most of them look like last year's models.

Attempt To End Strike A Failure

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A San Francisco Labor Council mediator said Thursday the two sides "are farther apart than ever" after an attempt to resolve the eight-week-old cemetery workers strike failed.

George Johns, the labor council secretary, said there was no movement Thursday by either side.

"It was a waste of time," Johns said. "They are farther apart than ever and, what seems worse to me, public opinion is apathetic."

Repayment On SST Advanced In House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has voted to go along with the Senate in approving a $58.5 million appropriation to repay 10 airlines what they invested in the now-defunct supersonic transport project.

The measure containing the repayment provision went back to the Senate, which had alrady approved the reimbursement, for final congressional action. The airlines included United, KLM, American, Braniff, Continental, Delta, Eastern, Northwest Orient, Pan American and TWA.

Report UAR Wants More Suez Talks

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco opened his first round of talks with Israeli leaders in Jerusalem today with a message from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat that Cairo wants talks to continue on reopening the Suez Canal.

In the troubled Arab world, Algeria announced today it has suspended diplomatic relations with Jordan to protest its "collective massacres" of Palestinian guerrillas. The Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO) called on Arab leaders meeting in Libya to boycott Jordan politically and economically.

U.S. and Israel officials maintained official silence after more than two hours of talks between Sisco, Prime Minister Golda Meir and Foreign Minister Abba Eban. But an American source said Sisco carried a message from Sadat that Egypt does not want talks discontinued on reopening the canal.

"When you've got a party line, you don't hang up," the source said, quoting the late wartime Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

South Viet Rangers Counter Red Charge

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese rangers repulsed an assault today by a battalion-sized force of 2,500 to 2,900 Communist soldiers on their Central Highlands camp, military spokesmen said.

Communist gunners fired 10 rockets into the hilltop headquarters of a South Vietnamese regiment near Da Nang, killing an American colonel and wounding an undisclosed number of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

Two U.S. helicopters were shot down elsewhere, and American B52 Stratofortresses continued bombarding Communist positions in the northern sector of South Vietnam.

Saigon command spokesmen said the pre-dawn Communist assault in southern Pleiku province cost the government troops three dead and 20 wounded. About six hours earlier, 10 south Vietnamese rangers were wounded in another fight in the same region.

Prison Move To Increase Security

New security precautions will be taken at San Quentin Prison to increase the protection for employees and inmates because of the fatal stabbing of a guard last week.

The new measures were the result of a meeting Wednesday between representatives of the California State Employees Association, Warden Louis S. Nelson and Raymond K. Procunier, director of the state department of corrections.

Among the precautions, announced by the employees association, will be installation of a security gate on the prison hospital ward where Officer Leo Davis was killed trying to protect an inmate from fellow prisoners.

Purchase of two metal detection devices, ordered before Davis' slaying, will be speeded up, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. The devices will probably be placed in the industrial area and the alley where maintenance and vocational shops are located because of the high use of metal there, Park said.

Other precautions are improvements to the hospital warning system with warning devices placed at strategic locations; assignment of a committee of employees to study ways of tightening metal and tool controls; protective screening on all gunwalks and purchase of gas masks to replace ones which have leaked during recent incidents.

Mill Valleyan In Felony Theft

Christopher Austin Fenn, 23, of Mill Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on felony charges of vehicle theft and possession of stolen property.

Fenn is to plead to the charges Thursday.

He was arrested Monday when Mill Valley police stopped him for driving a motorcycle without a taillight. A check revealed the motorcycle had been stolen in San Francisco and the license plates it sported had been stolen in Oakland, police said.

Another Nike Site Is Occupied By Indians

CHICAGO (UPI)—A band of about 75 Indians moved into another abandoned Nike site near here today after abandoning the temporary camping grounds they occupied since their eviction from a similar Nike facility in Chicago.

The site is located on the Argonne national Laboratory grounds near suburban Hinsdale.

"They walked in peacefully sometime early this morning," said Tony Culik, head seurity officer on duty.

"There's no problems. The gate was open and they've been very cooperative," Culik said.

The area formerly occupied by the Nike operation is federal property, Culik said. The Indians entered several of the small buildings on the grounds and apparently did not bring any tents, he said.

The Indians are believed to be mostly the same group who entered a since-closed Nike facility along Lake Michigan in Chicago late last month. they called that act a protest against poor housing conditions.

After being removed from the lakefront site, they went to a forest preserve area where they pitched their tents and remained until today's move to the Argonne area, about 25 miles away.

Nod To Pay Back Firm's For SST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has voted to appropriate $58.5 million to repay 10 airlines for their investments in the defunct supersonic transport (SST) project.

The House approved the money Thursday on a 306-98 roll call vote as it accepted a compromise $2.9 billion appropriation bill for the Transportation Department and related agencies. The measure was sent to the Senate for final congressional approval.

The House earlier rejected the so-called "SST Burial Fund" in its original version of the money bill, but the Senate added the money and it was included in a compromise measure worked out by House-Senate conferees.

'Tokyo Express' Decommissioned

BOSTON (UPI) — The USS Shangri-la, the aircraft carrier nicknamed the Tokyo Express during World War II, was decommissioned today at the South Boston Annex of the Boston Naval Yard.

Hundreds of former crewmen gathered to say goodbye to the ship that earned fame with her 27 years of service.

Exchange Program Fleecing Revealed

spoke Spanish as their first language.

Mrs. Campbell reported she stayed in Carmona's home for three weeks, and attempted unsuccessfully to question him about discrepencies between promises and realities in the program. She said Novato parents had been told their youngsters would attend school with up to 28 Mexican children, with six teachers. The school was "a farce," with few Mexican youngsters and only herself and Pena as teachers, she said.

After the students and their chaperones — but not Carmona — appeared on Mexican television July 20, an official investigation was launched and Mexican newspapers reported Armona's actions as a major scandal.

Carmona took 11 students on another trip to a nearby island, but stranded two of the youngsters on the island, Mrs. Campbell said. La Paz families found Chris Riggins of Novato, but could not locate Kevin Kihn of Mill Valley. Kihn finally was rescued by Mexican fishermen who found him trying to swim ashore, Mrs. Campbell said. He was hospitalized for exposure and infections, she said.

Despite their travails, Novato youngsters said last night they had gained far more from the stay in La Paz than they had lost to Carmona's actions. They stressed their appreciation for the hospitality of La Paz families, and said they learned much about the language and customs.

Novato students on the trip included Cheryl and Laurie Campbell, Jenny Stevens, Peter Decker, Victor Aiutio, Carol O'Brien, Carol Adams, Robert Lowe, John Klater, Mike Sutliff, Celeste Chapman, Kenneth Kassenbrock, Andria Nordstrom, Roger Brewster, Mary Iannicceria, Michelle Sheehan, James Lawrence and Chris Riggons.

Since the scandal broke in Mexico, three La Paz families have sent youngsters to stay with Novato families, Mrs. Campbell said. Flora Moreno, Saul Tuchman and Eduardo Gonzales are living with families that sent youngsters to La Paz this year.

APOLLO

Mountain peaks sparkled in the sun as if capped with snow.

"All systems look good," reported ground communicator Robert Parker.

Parker added that command ship Endeavor's powerful mapping camera had a problem "which may or may not be serious" but he did not elaborate.

The mission of Apollo 15 was the most ambitious lunar exploration ever conducted. The astronauts planned to devote six days to studying the moon, spending three of them on the surface.

Apollo 15's orbit dropped faster than expected because of variations in the moon's gravity. These gravity quirks are not fully understood but they have the effect of gradually pulling the spacecraft toward the moon —much as the upper fringes of Earth's atmosphere slows and lowers earth satellites.

The orbital raise, called a rim maneuver, was a contingency listed in the flight plan. Controllers told the pilots Thursday night they did not think the maneuver would be needed. They changed their minds today.

The pilots rode a roller coaster orbit so close to the moon that at times it seemed the rugged mountains reached higher than their spaceship.

"It sure looks like we're looking up at some of those fellows out there," Scott said as Apollo 15 swept toward the Apennine mountains bordering his landing site.

"We've all got our eyes closed," said Irwin. "We're pulling our feet up."

"I'll tell you this, it's absolutely mind-boggling up here," said the usually laconic Scott, his voice quavering with emotion at his first closeup look at the moon.

Weekends For Year In Jail

Antonio Garcia, 33, of San Francisco, was sentenced to 52 weekends in Marin County Jail yesterday for the burglary of a Kentfield residence in January.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for two years.

The district attorney's office had urged that Garcia be sentenced to state prison, while Garcia's attorney agreed with a probation department recommendation that no jail time be attached to the probationary period.

Garcia was arrested Jan. 8 and originally charged with the burglary of two Kentfield residences that day.

He pleaded guilty to one of the burglaries, that of the residence of Donald Crabb of 28 Maple Avenue. Codefendant, Fernando Molina Ruiz, 23, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty to the other, that of the residence of Robert Brooks of 7 Cypress Road.

Ruiz was sentenced last month to six months in Marin County Jail.

Marin City Man To Plead In Shooting Case

A 35-year-old Marin City man who allegedly shot another man during an argument at a Marin City pool hall was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

John Lee Baily, of 24 Pacheco Street, was to enter a plea Monday. He was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail.

His alleged victim, Ricky Johnson, 19, of 35 Drake Avenue, Marin City, remained in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a scalp laceration and a wound of the right leg.

Sheriff's deputies said the shooting occurred at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday during an argument at the People's Place, a pool hall at Drake Avenue and Cole Drive.

Deputies were unable to say why the pair was arguing.

LOCKHEED

tration is pressing hard for congressional approval, the sides in the issue don't break down strictly along party lines. There are Republicans for, and against, and Democrats for, and against helping Lockheed.

Lockheed got into its present straits last winter when Rolls Royce Ltd., the British luxury car maker, folded. Rolls was the engine supplier for Lockheed's Tristar jet, a 400-passenger wide-bellied plane it is making for civilian airlines.

The British government went to the aid of Rolls but threatens to pull back support unless Congress comes up with financial aid for Lockheed by Aug. 8, two days after Congress is due to go on a month-long recess.

Some opponents of helping Lockheed say the government will be really bailing out Rolls Royce which would otherwise lose its market for big jet engines. These foes argue that U. S. engine makers can supply power for Lockheed's jet buses, and also claim that Lockheed aid is unfair to the firm's biggest competitor, McDonnell Douglas, makers of the DC-10, a plane similar to the Tristar.

Supporters say the British aid issue is secondary, since 60,000 american jobs are at stake — 35,000 with Lockheed and another 25,000 in supplier feeder firms. A loss of Lockheed and the subsequent loss of jobs, they argue, would be an economic catastrophe the nation could not afford. Moreover, they contend Lockheed's loss would leave a monopoly market for McDonell-Douglass.

Opponents say that in the free enterprise system a company that can't make it should be allowed to fold. They note the thouands of small businesses which collapse annually, and argue the Lockheed bill is just a bill to bail out big businesses. Also they say the potential loss of 60,000 jobs is a highly inflated claim.

Supporters of the loan say the government is partly to blame for Lockheed's troubles, pointing to complex defense contracts which cost Lockheed millions of dollars through cost overruns on the C-5A cargo plane and Cheyenne helicopters.

Youth Injured In Motorcycle Crash

A 19-year-old Marin City youth was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken left leg suffered in a motorcycle accident in Mill Valley.

Police said George Coleman Jr., of 997 Drake Avenue, was injured at 9:43 p.m. yesterday when he lost control of his motorcycle on Miller Avenue near Tamalpais High School.

'Gas War' Enjoyment At An End

A six-month drop in gas prices, enjoyed by Marin residents but described as "disastrous" by local service station operators, has ended with the termination of a "gas war" in San Francisco.

The temporary relief in gas prices in Marin was wiped out yesterday when the gas companies refused to prime the pump in the San Francisco price war — said to have been the worst in five years.

Prices had dropped to 31.9 cents a gallon in Marin during the gas war centered in San Francisco where prices dropped to 26.9 cents, according to Donald E. Skilling, past president of Marin Independent Service Station Association.

The gasoline industry, which subsidizes dealers during a price war, shut off its support company by company during the past four days. Texaco and Shell Oil Co. began eliminating subsidies on Monday and Humble Oil and Refining Co., Mobil Oil Co. and Standard Oil Co. of California followed in succeeding days.

The fierce war in San Francisco had a devastating effect on Marin dealers, according to Skilling who estimated between 25 to 40 per cent of Marin's business was lost to San Francisco.

Skilling said while San Francisco dealers were receiving an 8-cent-per-gallon subsidy, Marin dealers were only getting a 2 or 3-cent subsidy. "We couldn't compete," he said.

The prices in Marin are back up to 37.9 and 38.9 cents for regular gas and 40.9 for premium, Skilling said.

He explained an oil company subsidizes 50 to 75 per cent of a dealer's loss during a price war or when more than 50 per cent of a dealer's competitors are below normal price. When the company takes the subsidy off, then the dealer must absorb any loss in price reduction, he added.

House meeting was called only to assess the impact of the strike and to give the President a chance to appeal for a settlement. He said no collective bargaining was actually conducted at the White House.

UTU and rail negotitors agreed to meet again after the White House session to try again to resolve their dispute over work rules.

Today's rail strike brought to number of lines shut down during the last 15 days to 10. The lines account for more than one-third of the nation's rail freight capacity and employ 160,000 persons.

Picket lines began appearing at 6 a.m. local time on the steel-hauling Bessemer & Lake Erie in Pennsylvania and spread westward to the giant Chicago-to-California Santa Fe; the ore-hauling Duluth, Missabe & Iron Range; and three industrial terminal and switching roads — The Elgin, Joliet & Eastern in the Chicago area, the Aton & Southern in St. Louis and the Houston Belt & Terminal.

Four major lines in the South and West were shut down previously the Union Pacific and the Southern on July 16, and the Southern Pacific and the Norfolk & Western on July 24.

The strike has idled three of the six major transcontinental routes — the UP from Omaha to Los Angeles, the SP from New Orleans to California and the Santa Fe from Chicago to California.

The 12,883-mile Santa Fe, the largest railroad to be struck so far, continued accepting shipments of perishables up to the 6 a.m. strike deadine in an effort to move as much food as possible. The railroad, which estimated it would lose $2 million a day, said it would use supervisory personnel to move the freight already on line to its destination.

California has been particularly hard hit by the strike. Only one rail line is left running in the state —the Western Pacific, which runs east from San Francisco to Salt Lake City. The California agriculture industry said it was losing up to $5 million a day because it could not gets its crops to market at harvest time. Many farmers faced the threat of plowing under their crops for fertilizer for next year. There are not nearly enough trucks to handle the load, and many truckers have as much as doubled their prices.

Southern agricultural interests also have been hard hit, particularly the poultry industry. Thousands of coal miners were out of work in Appalachia, and industrial plants in some areas have been shut down.

Frank J. Healey Dies At 91

Private funeral service has been held for Frank J. Healy, 91, a San Rafael resident all his life and former superintendent of the U.S. Assay Office in San Francisco.

Healy died Tuesday at a convalescent home in Richmond after a short illness.

He had worked at the assay office more than 35 years, commuting daily by train from San Rafael to Sausalito and by ferry from Sausalito to San Francisco. He retired in 1948.

Healy's parents came west from Michigan after the Civil War and were the first settlers in the area now called Olema. His father, also a former superintendent at the assay office, was the sheriff in Marin County for many years.

His mother attended the opening of the old courthouse in San Rafael by special invitation.

Healy was born in San Rafael and attended the San Rafael Military Academy for several years before he was graduated from San Rafael High School. He formerly lived at 215 D Street.

He was married for 60 years to Martina D. Healy, who died in 1968. He was a member of the Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons, for more than 50 years and was a member of the Royal Arch Masons.

Surviving are a daughter, Marsha A. Milmore of Kensington; four grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

400 of the persons rounded up after the left-wing coup failed. At one time more than 1,000 persons were under arrest but Maamoun Awad Abou Zeid, a member of the Revolution Command Council, said councils were being formed to see that no one was wrongfully detained.

Interior Minister Aboul Al Kassem Mohammed Ibrahim said security officers have begun a hunt for weapons which disappeared during the 72-hour coup.

The foreign ministry announced it would search all diplomatic pouches entering or leaving the country and said any diplomatic mission refusing the search would have its bag confiscated at the airport. Diplomatic sources said filing restrictions were being imposed on Soviet and East European journalists.

Nobody, including the government, is certain about exactly what happened in this space of time. Too many of its participants were either killed in the fighting or fell victim to firing squads or hangmen before their story could be told.

The two essential facts of Sudan's most bloody political upheaval in recent history are known, however. When the Communists realized they were going to lose, they ordered and carried out the execution of 28 officers being held prisoner in a government guest house. Numeiry's followers reacted by court martialing 14 of the coup leaders and executing them in the next five days.

Others died on both sides in battles around the national palace and the central business district, which saw the British embassy and the American mission caught in the crossfire. Numeiry said 38 persons were killed and 119 wounded in these clashes. Diplomats and local residents placed the figure much higher.

The tabulation of those executed was more precise. The government announced each of them in national radio broadcasts after military trials that lasted from one to four hours.

Government officials said another 30 men are still being held for trial, and there is a nationwide manhunt for 39 civilian Communists. Only a handful of these might be killed, they said. But the others are likely to receive stiff prison sentences.

For the Soviets, these disclosures were political disaster. The Soviet Union has an estimated 1,800 advisers and huge aid investments in the Sudan. Diplomats and political sources said Moscow was looking to Numeiry as their man south of Egypt until he first started cracking down on the Communists nine months ago.

BCDC Drops Developer's Cove Plan On Request

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A controversial plan for 96 apartments on Strawberry Cove, revived a month ago, has been dropped from next week's agenda of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission's agenda at the request of the developer, Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap.

Broman instead proceeded with an application to cut the density to 72 units, a plan which is pending action by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. It has been approved by the county planning commission.

The BCDC will set a date to hear the new plan after it is approved by the supervisors. The commission rejected the first 96-unit version in May.

The supervisors will hear the application at 3 p.m. on Aug. 31.

NEW LINK — An unidentified cyclist makes the most of the weekday sparseness of traffic on Marin's newest stretch of bicycle path. The link between Sausalito and Mill Valley — a vital connection in the San Francisco-Sonoma bike path — will be formally dedicated tomorrow.

First Year: Scarcity Of Top Talent

Top rated performances will be scarce in 1971-72 for the new Veterans Memorial building because Marin is an untested audience.

That was the conclusion reached yesterday by Asst. County Administrator Thomas Campanella in a discussion on KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" with Supervisor Michael Wornum, architect Aaron Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation and Donald L. Rolph, county planning staff member.

Campanella said that while Marinites attend cultural events in San Francisco, Marin has not had a major auditorium to test audience attendance in the county. He said bookers, cautious about losing money in an untried community, are hesitant to invest in an expensive show.

Green was quick to say the Marin hall will be able to attract top performances in the future. He said a 1,750-seat auditorium in Sarasota, Fla., near Tampa — similar to the 2,100-seat Marin auditorium — has had two years of success with top ballet, operas and Broadway shows.

The architect pointed out, however, the Veterans Memorial building is not only meant to house large national performances, but to accommodate smaller local groups.

Wornum addressed himself to the barren landscape and the "dreadful desert of asphalt for parking" by saying the county has had higher priorities in a tight budget.

Rolph said that besides landscaping, the planning department is considering the feasability of a swimming and tennis center near the Veterans Memorial building.

Wornum said he favors the county, not a fair board, to run the auditorium and the adjacent fair until the building and landscaping are done.

Fabric Safety Law Isn't Applied: Nader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says a parent of a child burned as a result of inflammable night clothing should have the power to penalize government officials.

Nader, charging the federal government has failed to carry out provisions of the inflammable fabrics law, said Thursday government executives and workers should be punished just as any citizen for willful disregard of law.

In testimony before the Senate Consumer subcommittee, he criticized employees of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Food and Drug Administration for not requiring manufacturers to apply safety and inflammable fabrics laws. Products in violation are still allowed on the market, Nader said.

He said the federal governmen continually heeds when industry claims, "in a chorus-like style, that it is impossible to meet this level of safety."

Nader said the government spent $20 million and three years to make sure the astronauts' moon-buggy would be safe, yet allows the sale of:

—A color television which can catch fire after being turned off.

—Metal cans which fragment on opening, allowing metallic filings to fall into food.

—Rotary lawn mowers which kill and maim.

He urged the subcommittee to enact legislation to create a new consumer protection agency with a consumer advocate independent of existing government departments. The agency would be funed by fines levied against product safety offenders.

A Leningrad landmark is the building erected by the Singer Sewing Machine Company in 1902, says National Geographic.

Japan Reports Embassy 'Bugs'

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan's embassy in Moscow has been "bugged" with electronic listening devices, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said today.

Masaji Sato, chief of the ministry's secretariat, declined to say how many such devices had been found.

His statement followed a report in a Tokyo newspaper today that "large numbers" of listening devices have been planted in the embassy by the Russians.

Sato said Japan would have nothing further to say at present "because we have to take into consideration relations with the country involved."

Crash Plane Malfunction Is Described

PASADENA (UPI) — The Phantom F4 fighter-bomber which collided inflight with an Air West DC9 airliner killing 50 persns last June 6 should have been grounded because of mechanical malfunctions, a Marine air commander testified Thursday.

Col. Orville R. Davis, commander of the El Toro Marine Air Station, told a National Transportation Safety Board hearing into the cause of the disaster, the military jet had a leak in its main oxygen system.

He also said there was a malfunction in its radar device and had an inoperative transponder, which identifies the plane on the scopes of ground controllers.

The officer said the operation of the F4 was in violation of regulations prohibiting aircraft from flying with a serious deficiency in the oxygen system. However, Davis' testimony failed to make clear whether the mechanical problems were involved in the collision with the Air West plane.

The two planes collided outside of Los Angeles minutes after the commercial jetliner took off from International Airport.

New Bike Path To Link Sausalito And Mill Valley

By GEORGE NEVIN

Bicycle enthusiasts will celebrate the opening of a bike path tomorrow linking Sausalito and Mill Valley for the first time since the Highway 101 freeway was built in 1955.

The one-mile stretch of paved paths runs from Gate 6 at the northern Sausalito city limits to a previously existing path leading under the Richardson Bay Bridge and into Mill Valley.

It is the final connection in a trail system that begins at San Francisco's Lake Merced and eventually leads to Sonoma County and beyond.

Although county park and recreation officials say the path is only temporary, it does get cyclists off a short stretch of Highway 101 — one of the few freeways in the state open to bicycles — and gives them a path of their own.

Supervisor Michael Wornum will speak at tomorrow's dedication ceremonies, set for 10 a.m. at the Sausalito city limits near the Sausalito Bait Shop.

The low-lying path, which actually has been completed and in daily use for weeks, has the unfortunate trait of being submerged by as much as a foot of water at two or three spots during uncommonly high tides. But James Vandeweg, assistant Marin County director of parks and recreation, doesn't think a little water will hinder bike traffic. He did say, however, that if Northwestern Pacific succeeds in its application before the state Public Utilities Commission to abandon rail service to Sausalito, the county would like to relocate the pathway on higher ground, out of the reach of Richardson Bay.

Although the state Division of Highways built the path for $23,336, Marin cyclists areen't geting a free ride.

Southern Pacific, which owns the Northwestern Pacific right-of-way on which the path is built, charges the county a $1,000 per year fee.

Vandeweg said county officials were "a little surprised" about the fee, thinking Southern Pacific would donate the lease or charge a nominal sum. But, he said, the safe route is worth the price.

The highways division paid for the construction of the path — which it calls a "partial frontage road" — because it was the construction of the present freeway in 1955 that wiped out an existing conventional highway through the area and over Richardson Bay Bridge.

Years of negotiations between the county, the railroad, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the Army Corps of Engineers were required before Southern Pacific agreed to lease the land for a path.

During that time cyclists, with the reluctant consent of the highways division and the California Highway Patrol, continued to ride along the Highway 101 shoulder from the Sausalito freeway entrance to the Shoreline highway exit.

The breakthrough came last last year when Southern Pacific finally agreed to lease part of the right-of-way. Before that time the railroad had refused to allow the path because it believed its application to abandon service to Sausalito would be harmed by a path easement.

The paved route varies from eight feet in width to four feet and winds picturesquely around rocks which dot the filled land.

Also included in the project are log barriers near the helicopter to prevent autos from using the path and fences, both to keep cyclists off the train tracks and to block them from falling into Richardson Bay.

Vandeweg said a permanent path will be built when the shoreline between Gate 6 and the Marin County heliport is developed. The county will ask that a small park and the new path be built by the developer when the land is improved.

Tomorrow's ceremonies were planned by Jon Livingston, chairman of the governing council of the Sausalito Youth Center. Livingston, an avid cyclist, said he thought the important link deserved a formal dedication.

A girl's 10-speed bicycle, donated by the Mill Valley Cyclery Shop, will be given away during the dedication.

Bicyclist Injured In Motorcycle Crash

Laurel J. Gimblett, 14, of 126 Belleview Avenue, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with a cut left knee suffered when she was struck by a motorcycle yesterday at 9:04 p.m. at the corner of Sunnyslope Avenue and F Street, Petaluma.

Police said Miss Gimblett was riding a bicycle when she was struck by a motorcycle driven by Harold V. Hodapp, 35, of 1100 F Street, Petaluma.

Trail Ride Test Set For Teen Horsemen

Junior riders in Marin County will compete for ribbons Aug. 8 in the Tamalpais Trail Riders annual junior trail test at the Girl Scout camp below Crest Farm in Fairfax.

The trail test will cover a course of a dozen natural obstacles. Riders will be judged individually on each obstacle for performance and overall for suitability of horse to rider.

The test, open to English or Western horses, will be divided into two divisions of riders: 12 years and under and ages 13 to 16. Tie downs will not be permitted.

Ribbons will be awarded through eighth place for each division and a high point trail horse award will be made.

Juniors can register until the 9:30 a.m. starting time, but must have an adult present or a signed release from parents.

An entry fee will be charged for all riders who are not members of the Tamalpais riders.

CATCHING A GREASED PIG

Contestants in a slippery pig contest at a county fair in Belleville, Ill., yesterday found trying to catch the little greased critter a difficult task. Fourteen-year-old Dennis Kombrink of Caseyville, Ill., shown leading the pack, finally caught the pig and got to take him home as the top prize in the 4-H club-sponsored contest. (UPI Telephoto)

Plans For Campus Reviewed

Site development plans for the Marin Community College District's north campus in Novato were reviewed last night by the district board.

According to Supt. John A. Grasham, the review of architectural plans was conducted by the firm of Neptune and Thomas and included alternative locations for cluster buildings.

Further review of plans for the Indian Valley Colleges campus will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. on the campus site, he said.

Meeting at the site will allow board members, staff and public to "visualize" architectural proposals, Dr. Grasham added.

The campus, scheduled to open in 1974, will have several clusters of buildings each representing a separate school of study.

Labor Strikebreakers' Bill Beaten In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill strongly backed by organized labor to outlaw so-called professional strikebreakers has been rejected by the Assembly during a rare set of circumstances and unusual parliamentary maneuvering.

The proposal failed Thursday when Assemblyman David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, serving his final day as an assemblyman, was denied permission on a 26-37 vote to debate the bill out of sequence.

As the lunch hour approached, Roberti tried to take up his bill. He already had submitted his letter of resignation from the Assembly effective that afternoon and was only three hours away from being sworn-in as a state senator.

The action appeared to foreclose chances the bill would be taken up on the floor, but sources said later some Democrats are considering trying again.

The measure would make it illegal for anyone to offer himself three times within five years to replace a worker on strike. It also would be a misdemeanor for an employer to "utilize" a "professional strikebreaker."

Sources said many lawmakers didn't want to vote on the politically sensitive bill. But labor cited heavy campaign contributions to Democrats, particularly in Roberti's July 20 special election, and demanded a floor vote.

As it turned out, the Assembly managed to avoid a vote on the bill itself.

Roberti, who has carried similar legislation for years, said as far as he was concerned the bill was dead unless someone decided to carry it for him.

An Imposter Is Reported

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An imposter is traveling in California and other Western states posing as a son of the late Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, the bishop's former wife disclosed Thursday.

Mrs. Esther Pike, who divorced the controversial prelate in 1967, said the imposter is a young man about the same age and somewhat similar in appearance to Pike's real son, Christopher. But he is shorter than her son, who is six feet tall, she added.

Bishop C. Kilmer Meyers, who succeded Pike as bishop of California, issued a letter to Episcopal churches throughout the west warning that the imposter had "appeared at various church activities."

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Welfare Fuss Far From Over

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and legislative leader entered their fifth straight day of welfare negotiations today with most difficult issues still to be resolved.

Reagan and the lawmakers now must decide on a "closed-end" or "open-end" welfare budget, proposed cost-of-living increases for recipients, a food stamp program, job training and outside income.

"Under no circumstances are we going to help that property tax go up," vowed Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys.

Negotiations took place only briefly Thursday in contrast to hours-long sessions the previous three days.

Reagan and the lawmakers planned to meet again today.

Legislators hope to have a bill printed over the weekend and ready for consideration by the Assembly Welfare Committee either Monday or Tuesday.

By not rusying passage of a bill this weekend, lawmakers postponed the start of a scheduled three-week vacation.

The 1971-72 budget signed by Reagan provided $573 million in state funds for welfare—about $170 million less than experts say is needed. Even with administration changes in regulations which do not require legislative approval, the welfare budget is expected to face a $108 million deficit.

Reagan vetoed language in the budget which would have provided "open end" authorization for the state to spend whatever was needed on welfare. The counties fear this action by the governr could force them to pick up the tab for the extra $108 million or whatever other costs are not paid by the state welfare budget.

Reagan has insisted the counties' burden would not increase but Democrats want specific assurances written into the welfare reform bill.

Democrats also want about $10 million provided for job training.

ROAD FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation that would eliminate the present distribution of highway construction funds and give most of the money to urban areas has won easy Assembly approval.

On a 44-15 vote, the Assembly Thursday approved a bill by Assembyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, that would wipe out the current north-south split of funds.

Present law allocates 60 per cent of the highway construction money to Southern California and 40 per cent to Northern California.

SUPERVISORS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill providing that vacancies on boards of supervisors be filled by election if they occur more than one year prior to the next general election has been vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan said Thursday the bill, by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, "unnecessarily complicates the process for filling" vacancies on the boards.

Under present law, the vacancies in such cases are filled by gubernatorial appointment.

BILLBOARDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to block the erection of billboards along California's 6,300-mile scenic highway system has been killed by the Senate Business and Professions Committee.

The measure, by Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, died Thursday for lack of a motion to approve it.

PRISON 'HOLE'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has overridden bitter protests and endorsed a bill ordering tighter restrictions on the use of the solitary confinement "hole" in California prisons.

After a long roll-call, the bill by Assemblyman John Dunlap, D-Papa, went to the Senate on a 43-29 vote, only two more than it needed for passage.

Dunlap told the Assembly there are 400 such tiny nine-by-six foot cells in California prison and that some convicts are locked in them for four and five years.

"It's inhumane," he said. "It gives me claustrophobia to think about it."

The bill would prohibit anyone from being confined in the "hole" without a hearing by prison authorities. A prisoner couldn't be held in such cells for more than 60 days without a Superior Court hearing.

HOURLY WAGE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Major legislation drawn up by organized labor to boost the state's minimum hourly wage to $2 by 1973 in two steps has won narrow approval in the Assembly.

The bill, carried by Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, on behalf of the California AFL-CIO, was passed Thursday 41-31. It needed a minimum of 41 votes for passage.

The measure calls for a minimum wage of $1.85 an hour by next Jan. 1, $2 by the following Jan. 1, and time-and-a-half pay for work over a 40-hour week.

State law currently sets the hourly minimum wage at $1.65 while the federal law requires $1.60.

TUITION

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill allowing trustees at state colleges to charge graduate students a tuition fee has been amended by the Assembly to limit the payment to a maximum of $200.

The Assembly voted Thursday 39-37 to accept amendments by Assemblyman John Vasconellos, D-San Jose, to the legislation to establish state college tuitions for the first time in history.

Additionally, the amendments specify that the funds would only be spent for financial assistance to students in such forms as scholarships and other aids.

DINING OUT AND INNS

Marin Dining And Wining

Food Buffs Will Be Pleased By Le Chalet Basque's New Chef

Food buffs in search of new delights to the palate can find them as often at the hands of a new cuisinier as at a completely new restaurant.

Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia has a new one — chef Pierre Joris. Although he has been a resident of San Anselmo for several years, he is probably little known to local diners-out — unless they also cover the San Francisco restaurant scene. The reason — for the past eight years he has been chef at Amelio's in that city, and this should be adequate testimony to his capabilities. Before that he had his own restaurant in South America — in Colombia, I think it was. As a Frenchman he has all the natural talents of his race for preparing foods, plus long experience in the field.

We tested out his onion soup and also his veal — both excellent for measuring a man's worth in the kitchen. Believe me, after this we shall let ourselves go. I'd say that he should be equally good on anything else on the menu.

PIERRE REPLACES Roger Minhondo at Le Chalet Basque. Roger, being the young, ambitious man that he is and undeniably skillful in his profession, has bought out the interest of Andre Marquer in the Normandie on the San Rafaal Miracle Mile. He has taken over the dual role of chef and partner of Michael Braud in that dinery.

IF YOU SPOT the British Union Jack waving saucily in the breeze above the Mayflower Inn at 1533 Fourth Street, San Rafael, it's a touch added by new owners Barry Olden of San Rafael and Ronald Patnaude of Fairfax, who recently took over this restaurant.

This is their first restaurant venture. Barry is English and Ron is American. However, the British menu of fish and chips, pasties and pork pies still prevails — along with a steak and kidney pie special at $1.95 on Thursday nights. Mayflower Inn is also headquarters for the Marin Cricket Club.

THE NEW Celia's No. 5 opened this week at 1 Vivian Way (off Francisco Boulevard), San Rafael and is already off to a good start serving Mexican and American lunches and dinners. It also has a full liquor license and bar.

This is where Taberna was formerly located, so not much was needed in the way of redecoration. Hours are from 10 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. Sometime in the future, entertainment and dancing are planned — but possibly not for a couple of months.

Menu consists of various Mexican specialty dishes and combination plates made up of enchiladas, tostadas, tamales, chile relleno, along with Mexican steak and all the side dishes — and several American offerings such as steaks, roast beef, prawns and sole. Also a list of sandwiches, cold and hot. Prices are in the moderate range and food is also prepared to take out.

Celia's No. 5 is owned by Celia and Perfecto Lopez, who have four other restaurants in San Francisco and on the peninsula. Food operation here is under their nephew, Fernando Rodriquez, and Jim Callan, who is known to many Marinites, is head bartender.

Grand opening will be held on Sunday.

LET IT BE KNOWN again at this point that Celia's is where Taberna used to be — not Taverna Yiasou. Apparently there has been confusion about this, with some people getting the idea it was Taverna Yiasou that closed its doors.

Not so — the latter is still open, serving its Greek dinners on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and lunches during week days.

GEORGE LOIZOS is up and around again, and he and Bonnie plan to reopen the Cafe Ambrosia in San Anselmo again next Wednesday.

In the past closing nights have been on Mondays and Tuesdays, but starting Aug. 9 this restaurant will also remain open Monday nights — cutting the offday to Tuesday only. Some remodeling has given the place more room and Cafe Ambrosia can now handle all comers.

IT SEEMS THAT La Petite in Strawberry (NOTE: Not La Petite Auberge in San Rafael, also confusing to some people who don't read all the way through) has given up its status as a delicatessen.

(Growth of the sandwich business overwhelmed everything else, so Joe Allen is pushing sandwiches for all they are worth — particularly his dinner sandwiches which also include a choice of soup or salad. These range from $1.65 to $2.25 and sail under such names as the Pittsburgh (hot smoked pastrami and Swiss cheese), the Panama (guacamole with Swiss cheese), the Parisian (roast beef with herbed bearnaise butter), the Alaskan, which is crab on a bed of crushed avocado and several more equally tempting.

Right now you can get a table in the evening without too much trouble. Lunches are another matter — there is usually a waiting line.

Food is also prepared to take out — of course.

A NEW Sambo's Restaurant is opening next week at 1700 Novato Boulevard, Novato — the first Sambo's in Marin County.

As I calculate it, this should be the company's 174th unit in a chain spread throughout the country. However, new ones have been going up so fast I may be a few openings behind. Sambo's was founded 14 years ago with one family owned and operated restaurant in Santa Barbara. Last year total company sales were reported at $44.8 million.

LOOK FOR The Oak Tree Inn in San Geronimo to open again after the first of the year under new ownership and probably under a new name.

Grace Zanolini of Strout Realty reports she has sold the property, but some extensive remodeling is planned before the new owner even attempts to offer service. He's a restaurant man and plans on keeping his present job until everything at the Oak Tree is ready to go.

AT THE DOCK in Tiburon, folk singer Lynn Ashdown, who has been performing there Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, is taking next week off for a Hawaii vacation. A singer-guitarist from Monterey known as Rosemaria, with some new folk songs, will spell her on Thursday and Saturday next week, but so far no one has been chosen to fill next Friday's spot.

IF ANYONE SHOULD ASK who performs at the Robert Morton organ at the Marin Pizza Pub in San Rafael, I guess you could say The Presidents.

Gordon Tucker, Warren Lubich and Bill McCoy all are former presidents of the Professional Organists Breakfast Club of the Bay Area.

FOR ABOUT TWO YEARS, a thriving little business called the Sub Hut — at 4380 Redwood Highway, off Mitchell Boulevard, has been enjoying great popularity as the only restaurant in Northgate Industrial Park.

It's a meeting place for business people in the park from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturdays. Sandwich time starts at 11 a.m. and the favorite on its simple menu is the Sub Hut Special, supplied with three different cheeses and five different meats. According to your appetite you can get it complete with condiments either in the five-inch size for 70 cents or the 10-inch size for $1.15. Either way it can be a meal.

Jack and Vivian Snyder of Marinwood are the owners.

144 Towns Alerted By False Air Alarm

STRASBOURG, France (UPI)—A short circuit at an air force radar base Wednesday set off an air raid alarm in 144 towns and villages along the Rhine River, air force officials said.

As sirens set off by the automatic system blared all over the department of BasRhin, policemen, firemen, and rescue workers ran to their respective town halls. One of the worst telephone jams in the history of the area took place when 144 mayors simultaneously tried to telephone national police headquarters.

Boys Start Grass Fire Behind School

A grass fire behind San Pedro School on San Pedro Road on Wednesday was set by two San Rafael juveniles, police reported yesterday.

Police said they gave a stern reprimand and a trip home to the two boys, who were spotted at the scene of the 2 p.m. blaze by a fire marshal.

Bennett Denied Venue Change

A Marin Municipal Court judge yesterday denied a motion for a change of venue for the trial of state Board of Equalization member William M. Bennett on a charge of being drunk in public.

"It appears to me he can receive a fair trial in Marin County," Judge David Menary Jr. said in denying the motion by Bennett's attorney, William O. Weissich of San Rafael.

Menary did grant Weissich's motion, over the objections of the district attorney's office, for a continuance of the start of the trial, changing it from Aug. 12 to Aug. 30.

Weissich had contended that an impartial and unbiased jury could not be obtained in Marin County for the case.

He blamed publicity stemming from Bennett's trial last month on a drunken driving charge. That trial ended in a Marin Municipal Court jury's guilty verdict being thrown out and the case dismissed by judge Robert A. Smallman.

Weissich said whichever municipal court judge is assigned the case would be under pressure because of what he called a "deluge of criticism" to which Smallman was subjected follgwing his dismissal of the drunken driving charge.

Bennett, 52, of Kentfield, was arrested in Sausalito March 4 on suspicion of being drunk in public. He was arrested, again in Sausalito, on April 25 in connection with the drunken driving charge, which went to trial first.

During a hearing on his motion yesterday, Weissich submitted a declaration with 53 signatureu of persons who said they did not think Brnnett could get a fair trial in Marin.

Deputy Dist. Atty. John R. Thomas Jr. countered with the results of a survey taken by an investigator for his office.

Of 101 persons interviewed at random at Marin shopping centers, 10 said they would not be able to give an impartial verdict if they were selected as jurors in the case, according to the survey.

Five of the 10 said they would rule in favor of Bennett, and the other five said they would rule against.

Tunney Will Speak At Party

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., will speak at a $10-a-ticket fund raising cocktail party on Aug. 8 in Kent Woodlands.

The party will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the home of Benjamin P. Webb, 445 Woodland Avenue.

Army To Call 48 In Medina Trial

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—The army says it plans to call 48 witnesses in the court-martial of Capt. Ernest L. Medina, the company commander at My Lai. Testimony begins Aug. 16 after a recess to serve subpoenaes.

A five-man jury, the minimum under military regulations, was seated Wednesday for the trial that court officials estimate will last from four to six weeks.

300 Shoe Pairs Stolen From Store

More than 300 pairs of shoes were stolen from the Village Shoe Den at Town and Country Shopping Center in Strawberry July 18 or 19, the Marin County Sheriff's office reported yesterday.

No estimate of the value of the shoes was given.

Bay Crusade Sets No Goal, Adopts 'Fair Share' Policy

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — United Bay Area Crusade directors Have decided not to set a specific dollar goal for the 1971 fund-raising drive, and instead adopted a "fair share" strategy.

A "fair share" contribution would be one hour's pay per month for donors earning less than $10,000 a year, and 1 per cent for those earning more, according to Jerome Hull, president of the UBAC board of directors. He said the Napa-Solano County and Santa Clara County crusades have used the "no-goal" ideas successfully.

UBAC last year met its dollar goal of raising $17 million, but had to apportion the funds among agencies asking a total of $30 million, Hull said.

With 150 of UBAC's 550 directors present the policy change Wednesday was approved with hardly any dissent.

Another issue that had been expected to stir controversy, the UBAC staff's "New Directions" program, created hardly a ripple during the meeting, participants reported yesterday.

Several Crusade-supported agencies, including the Marin Mental Health Association, had distributed letters to UBAC board members warning that more time was needed to study the proposed emphasis on neighborhood services rather than traditional agencies.

Percy H. Steele Jr. of San Francisco and Oscar A. Mintzer of the East Bay spokesmen for a new association of UBAC-affiliated agencies, had charged that the Crusade staff was trying "unilaterally" to curtail traditional agency functions and create a new superagency.

The New Directions report was accepted Wednesday, and UBAC will begin splitting up some $700,000 in funds for New Direction programs in September.

Several Marin agencies that lent volunteers to the 1970 fund-raising drive later strongly criticized UBAC for either eliminating or sharply slashing their shares of the $17 million raised.

New Leader For City League Division

Healdsburg Councilman William R. Lucius has been elected president of the Redwood Empire Division of the League of California Cities for the 1971-72 year.

Corte Madera Mayor Holmes S. Norville was elected first vice president and Fortuna Mayor Ray E. Stewart as second vice president. The City of Healdsburg will provide secretarial services for the division and Petaluma will serve as treasurer.

Equipment Stolen

A tool box and a trading stamp machine and stamps, valued at a total of $640, were stolen from a Phillip's 66 service station at 100 Tiburon Boulevard, near Mill Valley, Sunday, the Marin County Sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Report Suspect Identified In Sickle Slayings

NEVADA CITY (UPI) —The search for the sickle swinging slayer of two persons at Bear River campground two weeks ago has been narrowed to a single suspect reported to be a Placer County laborer.

The unidentified man has been missing from his residence for a week.

A seven-man investigative team headed by Nevada County Sheriff Wayne Brown and Placer County Undersheriff Fay Bates spent several hours at the suspect's residence Wednesday in search of evidence that might link him to the killings.

However, authorities in both counties declined to discuss what they found in the house.

Where Is It Now, The Glory And The Dream?

Barring some last-minute mishap, the Apollo 15's Falcon lunar vehicle will be nearing the moon as this reaches the readers. Tomorrow, 39-year-old David R. Scott and 41-year-old James B. Irwin will become the seventh and eighth Americans to walk the surface of the moon. And their walk will be shown to us on television.

It seems only yesterday that such an accomplishment was only in the imagination.

JUST OVER TWO years ago, hailing the landing of Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin, the first moon walkers, we wrote in this space:

"Their accomplishment defies explanation, beggars comparison, transcends the superlative."

America (and the world) were thrilled and awed by that first moon landing. Millions sat for hours watching their TV sets for every picture from the moon, and every repeat of that picture. They listened to hours of "space talk" from the Texas control center. Vicariously, all of us went to the moon.

It had cost many billions, this moon program, since it was inaugurated by President John F. Kennedy eight years earlier. But in those days of glory and enchantment in July, 1969, few questioned the cost.

We had made a dream come true. And if it had proved a very, very expensive dream — well, most of us felt, at least for the moment, it had been worth it.

IT'S DIFFERENT now.

Dave Scott and Jim Irwin are no less heroic figures than Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin. What they hope to do on the moon will be more important to science, we are told, than the rocks picked up by their predecessors. This time, says the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, important geologic information will result from the moon landing.

But somehow, this leaves us all rather cold.

Few sit glued to their television sets watching the progress of the Apollo 15. Few will get up in the middle of the night for the first pictures of Scott and Irwin's moon walk — although almost everybody would have been willing to do so to see the landing of Armstrong and Aldrin.

And if few questioned the cost two years ago, almost everyone questions it now. Stripped by high taxes, buffeted by inflation, we look at the space program more and more as an unnecessary, expensive "toy." The talk you hear is not of wonderment and delight; it is of cost, and "why do we spend so much to go to the moon?"

WHEN DREAMS come true, the reality never quite matches the dream. We know now what is on the moon — and that it is not really so interesting as some of the things that might have been there, as dreamed up by the science fiction writers. The attitude more and more is, " 'We have gone to the moon. So what? Do we have to keep going back?"

And at a half-billion dollars per visit, it is a fair question.

"... But, on the other hand, thank God ..."

Pentagon Papers Fail To Show Planned Deception By President

WASHINGTON — It is increasingly evident that the effect of the Pentagon Papers is quite different from what those most eager to see them printed expected.

Unintentionally their publication is helping to correct the falsehood that President Johnson deceived the American people during the 1964 presidential campaign into believing there would be no escalation of the U.S. role in Vietnam while he was planning it all the time.

THIS IS ONE of the main themes of the Pentagon study and here is why it is rebounding on itself:

1 — The idea that President Johnson practiced "planned deception" on the U.S. public in order to cover up his future intentions was widely accepted by the American people before the Pentagon Papers were published. Sen William Fulbright D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, was one of the early generators of this "deception theory" contending that he was misled and didn't know what he was doing when he shepherded through the Senate the Tonkin Resolution authorizing expansion of the war. The extreme doves propagated it and impatience and frustration over Vietnam provided ground for its acceptance.

Many people wanted to believe that they were deceived. American historians have a recurring habit of looking back on past wars as either immoral or unnecessary or both.

2 — In my judgment the Pentagon Papers provide no substance to the claim of presidential deception and added few converts because the belief was already so widespread.

3 — But they did something else. By appearing to give quasi-official sanction to the deception theory, the papers soon began to stimulate effective and authoritative reply so that today truth is catching up with falsehood.

HERETOFORE, HIGH officials of the Johnson Administration have remained silent in the face of partisan and purposeful accusations. They were prepared to let history be the judge and to leave the forum for a new President to occupy. But the one-sided, fragmentary, distorting Pentagon Papers made reply mandatory.

Undersecretary of State George Ball, who represented a dissident view on Vietnam within the administration and whose credibility is high, has testified that from his firsthand experience there was no intent at deception. Secy. of Defense Robert McNamara has said the same.

Dean Rusk, one of the most honest and honorable men ever to serve as secretary of state, has said that "I do not believe there was any deliberate attempt to deceive anybody" about Vietnam.

Perhaps to those who have been eager to embrace the deception theory, the most credible witness will be the man who has done so much to try to spread the deception theory — Daniel Ellsberg who worked on the Pentagon Papers and said he gave them to the press.

NOW HE HAS changed his mind; now he has become persuaded that the deception theory has been greatly overstated. When the rebuttal became so strong, he decided to take a new look at L.B.J.'s campaign speeches in 1964. He said he found "to his amazement" that these statements by the President were "almost invariably misquoted." That Johnson gave many "cues" to the dangers in Vietnam and that in Ellsberg's view "the public did not hear what they did not want to hear."

Whether the public heard him or not, the President said during the 1964 campaign:

That we must "stand firm against the aggression of North Vietnam."

That "peace requires that existing agreements in Indochina be honored."

That "we shall engage our strength to whatever extent needed to help others repel aggression." There are useful lessons to be learned from our Vietnamese experience. But one thing which needs to be unlearned is the false claim of presidential deception.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Space Program Finds A Defender

Carolyn St. Clair Smith's remarks ("Readers Say," July 27) seems to me that she is against waste. Since this is the case she can clean up her own backyard and do something about the $12.3 billion a year spent on alcoholic beverages and the $7.9 billion per year on tobacco.

The "billions on this ridiculous venture" are not only being spent on building "dune buggies" but are paying the salaries of a hundred thousand plus workers that you would wilfully put out of a job.

Turnout For Fairfax Zoning Hearing Urged

The City Council of Fairfax is planning to consider the subject of the property now known as the Town and Country Club at its meeting of Aug. 9. I hope I will be only one of many residents who turn out in support of the group actively sponsoring PLAN (Protect Land and Nature) which opposes dense construction at that site.

It was really disheartening recently to talk with the owner of one of the (very few) businesses presently occupying the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center and hear him confess that he was delighted with the thought of multiple dwellings within walking distance of his store, but would be fighting it if it were near his home. Almost 8,000 of us presently live in Fairfax and, even with full capacity, the proprietors in the shopping center would number only a handful. Just another example of "I've got mine, Jack", or "What's in it for me?"

It seems to me that any increase in tax revenues to the city would be more than offset by increased expenditures for services (schools, road maintenance, protection, etc.)

At what point will "the powers that be" stop paying only lip service to the knowledge that the preservation of open space and the prevention of overcrowding are vital if Marin is to continue to be "Marvelous"?

Beneficiaries Should Abide By Contracts

There is a bill in the legislature sponsored by Sen. Peter Behr, intended to help the Shoreline Unified School District with its financial financial problems, created by the removal of land from the tax rolls into the National Seashore and the reduced valuation of land entered into the land conservation contracts.

ABAG's "Ocean Coastline Study," supplement report IS-5, lists land just south of Dillon Beach, under conservation contract, having value of $305 per acre, with a notation that if it was not under contract, the value would be $700 per acre. This 56.4 per cent reduction and others like it contribute to the school district's problems.

There is more than one way to look at the "tax break" given to land owners who have conservation contracts. One attitude would be that whatever tax reduction they get must be made up by those who have not or cannot put their land into conservation contract.

For all practical purposes, land under these contracts is being subsidized and that means that they are being paid for doing certain things with their land in accordance with the terms of the contract entered into with the county authorities. Therefore it seems reasonable to ask the land owner to live up to his end of the bargain and refrain from competing with the owners who are not under contract, otherwise the man who is paying regular taxes could be forced out of business due to the unfair activities of the subsidized landowner.

It is hard to understand why some people get so upset when asked to do what they had agreed to when they asked for the tax break. After all, they signed the contract and should have had full and complete understanding of their obligations. Furthermore, they agreed to do a lot more than just keep the land from commercial development in order to get the tax break and they should be compelled to live up to the agreement.

More Looks At Moon; And Then Where Are We?

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

COCOA BEACH, Fla. — The "Selling of the Pentagon" shrinks to a Fuller Brush man's spiel when held up beside the selling of the space program. John Kennedy, our best political salesman of recent decades, laid down the pitch about reaching the moon, and NASA and friends took if from there. And on the face of it, there could be no more exciting product for the American people to pay government flacks to sell them than the Saturn series that sent man to the moon.

Once the money is appropriated and the launch date is set, there is no need for sales efforts in this part of the country. Multithousands of tourists throng in, camping along the beaches and roads to reserve grandstand seats for themselves.

Everybody excpet the astronauts carouses the night before (apparently on the thesis that it's better to celebrate in advance because if anything happens there won't be any celebrating afterwards). And all males watch the rare birds that flock around the French photographers and wear hot pants.

TO DRAW STILL more tourists, there is now an annual moonwalk festival. This year it touted golf, bowling and girls' softball tournaments; amateur rocket demonstrations; clambakes; Hawaiian organ concerts; fishing contests; horse shows; beauty pageants; street dances; an astronauts' ball, and, on the eve of the launch, a special church service. But to call the festival a moderate success would be charitable.

In the other direction, to call the launch itself by any adjective that comes to mind is to understate it.

The tension during the last seconds of the countdown is familiar to all television watchers who have it amplified for them by Walter Cronkite. Out at the Cape, things seem more casual because for most of those around you this is old stuff by now.

Despite all the statistics about its size and weight, the Saturn looks like just another rocket as it sits on its pad in the middle distance.

ALL THAT CHANGES at ignition. It is a moment hard to handle for a reporter trained mostly in politics, where you restrain your enthusiasm and never emote or applaud in the press section, no matter who is doing what. When the rocket lifts off, the sound around you at first is a collective intake of breath, then a scattering of cheers and yells of "Go!" and you want to join in. Then the sound of the rocket itself arrives and shakes the earth and the stands, and you want to cover your ears but don't because you want to feel the full power of it.

Riding its fireball straight up and then curving southeast, it remains clearly visible through the high, thin clouds, and each new booster firing draws oohs from the crowd and then, less than three minutes after ignition, just as the man says it is 73 miles downrange, it is out of sight and the show is over.

The pelicans that flapped up at lift-off sail calmly again. A flatness comes and everybody realizes they stayed up too late and got up too early. A great cloud created by the engines at lift-off blows apart in the southeast breeze, white tinged with yellow. You wonder if that is the color of smoke made by burning money.

WE WENT TO the moon, and now where are we! National pride aside, we are possessors of a highly efficient space technology and management team — living amid high unemployment on the same earth we inhabited 10 years ago, only dirtier.

The space team is now a burden rather than a blessing, because as the Saturn series tapers off the space program's future is uncertain. The wife of an unemployed electronics engineer told me in all seriousness after the launch how tough it was at the Yacht Club, where members didn't know whether to buy a new boat or sell out and leave town. You could sympathize with her; she had been in Europe in April and might not get to go back any time soon.

Still, you knew she would be heard. The aerospace industry is struggling to have the program extended at a high spending level, and its employees are of an economic class to which the Nixon administration is highly responsive. They also are concentrated in states like Florida and California, to which Mr. Nixon already is giving anxious political attention, as in his endorsement of the federal commitment to back Lockheed through its losses.

So you could sympathize with the lady, but you could also tell her she was lucky. She could have black skin and live in a slum in a state the administration already has written off for 1972.

Arguments Are Compelling For CHP Pay Increase

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — There is one of Governor Reagan's budget vetoes the legislature should override. One item which should be restored.

Consider this.

You're 32 years old, almost 33. Back home you have a wife and two kids and a hefty mortgage.

It's late at night — just after two o'clock and the bars have just closed. You're speeding down the freeway. Flying low. Your speedometer reads better than 100 miles per hour. At this speed a miscalculation could turn you into a twisted mass of man and metal, maybe split you and your car on both sides of the concrete pillar of an overpass.

YOU'RE NOT SPEEDING for the fun of it. For the past three or four miles you have been chasing a car that is weaving back and forth across all three lanes. He has already forced several other cars off the road. When you catch him, what will he do? Will he try to ram you? Will he pull a gun? Or will he claim "police brutality" and haul you into court?

It's all in a night's work. You're an officer in the California Highway Patrol.

And, consider this,. If you're fresh out of the CHP academy, you earn $834 a month. After you have been with the patrol for three years, you'll make $965 a month. You were given $135 for uniforms when you earned your shield. From then on you buy your own equipment.

Earlier this month the governor vetoed a pay raise for you and the other men of the CHP. It made you kind of sore. Who wants to go on risking his life for $900 a month?

But there's something about the job. Something about the tradition of the patrol. The satisfaction of making California's highways the nation's safest. So, along with the majority of the 6,000 men in the Association of California Highway Patrolmen, you voted not to strike, and not to engage in any work slow-down. You voted to try to get the raise through the legal process, through the legislature.

THE ARGUMENTS for your case are compelling. The pay for California Highway Patrol officers averages less than comparable patrolmen jobs throughout the state. And that's not figuring that many of the other police officers get a uniform allowance and other benefits you do not.

A survey of some 60 California cities of 50,000 population or more indicates that 32 of those cities pay their police officers more than the state pays the men of the CHP.

During recent years there have been numerous times when the CHP has been called into special duty — sticky riot control assignments. At Berkeley and Isla Vista, for example. The highway patrolmen never lost their cool; their presence helped to speed the restoration of order.

The money to pay CHP salaries does not come from the general fund. It comes from fees collected for motor vehicle and driver licenses. It is a special fund for special purposes. What better purpose than bringing the pay of the CHP up to parity with other police organizations?

SOME WILL SAY that every dollar used for such pay raises would be a dollar taken from the highway fund since monies from the motor vehicle-drivers fees not used for administration of the CHP and the Department of Motor Vehicles goes for highway construction.

It would take less than the cost of a mile of freeway to fund the CHP pay raise. Statistics over the past few years show that where the CHP is on the job, the rate of highway accidents and deaths go down.

Next year the patrol plans to take its pay scale to the voters, through the initiative. The patrolmen will ask for "continuous parity" with the average salary for comparable duty in major California cities and counties — such as Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland.

In the meantime, the officers of the California Highway Patrol deserve a pay adjustment. The legislature should see that they get it.

AEC Should Be Required To Justify Alaska Test Shot

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Like some monster propelled by the vast energy resources over which it presides, the Atomic Energy Commission gives the impression of being incapable of stopping, once it has embarked ona given course. Such is the impression created by the AEC's persistence with plans for a large underground nuclear explosion on an Aleutian island in October despite the protests of environmentalists and the claims of non-government scientists that the original reason for the test no longer exists.

Dr. Jeremy J. Stone, director of the Federation of American Scientists, has argued that the five-megaton ABM warhead scheduled to be tested is no longer relevant, since the mission of the so-called Safeguard defense system has changed. As conceived five years ago, he said, the warhead was for the Spartan missile, which was designed to provide a defense of heavily populated areas by destroying attacking missiles with huge bursts of X-rays in the vacuum of space.

BUT NOW that the Safeguard function has been reoriented to the protection ofMinuteman bases, the large warhead, the scientist asserted, is no longer needed. Indeed, the Defense Department has already announced an intention to develop an "improved Spartan" with a warhead of "much lower yield."

Instead of answering questions about the Spartan, the AEC has simply fallen back on the claim that the test is necessary to national security.

IN RESPONSE to fears expressed by Alaska officials and others that the explosion may release redioactive gases and water, pollute Pacific fisheries, kill wildlife, or set off an earthquake or tidal wave, the AEC has given its typical assurances that the risks are minimal. Yet only last year the AEC — with its usual we-know-what-we-are-doing attitude — set off a low yield shot in Nevada. The explosion released an unexpected 7,000-foot-high cloud of radioactive dust, dirt and water vapor, which produced fallout over 13 western states and contaminated 152 test site workers and 400 automobiles. Characteristically, the agency then indicated that no harm was done because no one was exposd to more than a fraction of the amount of radiation set under the federal radiation safety standard.

With fishermen, conservationists and nearly every responsible official in Alaska questioning the wisdom of the so-called Cannikan test, the AEC should be required to explain and fully justify its planned experiment before being allowed to pull the trigger.

Kreins's Police Report Doesn't Enhance His Tiburon Popularity

It's a good thing Edward S. Kreins is police chief of Pleasant Hill and doesn't have much occasion to come to Marin now that his study of police operations in Belvedere and Tiburon is finished.

That's because Kreins, the former chief of police in Sausalito, isn't exactly the most welcome face on the Tiburon Peninsula since his 99-page report was issued last week.

The report — which one city councilman has predicted won't just be "put on the shelf and ignored" — pulls no punches. It makes several observations and recommendations with which some civic-minded citizens take issue.

PRIMARY AMONG these is a strong warning against establishing a police substation in Strawberry.

Tiburon city fathers have promised to set up such a substation if voters approve annexation in Strawberry and Bel Aire.

This doesn't mean Kreins does not favor thorough patrolling of Strawberry — he does. "Strawberry-Eagle Rock would be one beat," the report says. "The patrolman belongs in the street on patrol and not sitting in a substation waiting for someone to show up. Cities of 350,000 population operate without substations and are handled entirely on a beat system basis."

Despite Kreins's belief that police needs in Strawberry can be served with ease by simple patrols, councilmen predict foes of annexation will use his recommendation as ammunition in their fight to avoid absorption by Tiburon.

This is possible, but it seems a thinking person — one not committed either for or against annexation — would recognize that the physical existence of a Strawberry substation is not so important as frequent, efficient patrols.

IMPLEMENTING the report is up to the city council, which is not about to jeopardize annexation by taking the unpopular step of going back on a promise.

Kreins's report still faces a "staff analysis" by City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, a convenient way for the unpopular recommendation to be neutralized.

All in all, even those councilmen who didn't favor the study in the first place and who disagree with some of its conclusions seem to think it is worth the $2,000 which is Tiburon's share of the cost.

At least the council, although confronted with some unpopular recommendations, didn't take the all-too-common step of rejecting the report before it even was released.

Store Sells Armed Shells By Mistake

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A surplus store said Monday that four supposedly unarmed mortar shells it sold actually contain small amounts of explosives.

Leslie Jarvis, Topeka store manager, said she called in police when a customer said a shell in the store looked armed to him.

An Army spokesman at the Presidio of San Francisco said after a test that the "shells couldn't destroy a building, but one of them could easily blow off a finger.

The shells, it was determined, were "spotting rounds" with their main powder chamber empty but with enough explosives in their noses to produce a puff of smoke in target practice.

Sergeant Pleads Guilty To Pot

Sgt. George Milton Elsea, 26, of Hamilton Air Force Base, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana.

Following his plea to the charge, which was originally filed as a felony count, a second charge, that he possessed marijuana paraphernalia, was dismissed.

He is to be sentenced Sept. 10.

Elsea was arrested May 11 when Novato police stopped his car because it didn't have a front license plate. Police said they found a water pipe and three small bats of marijuana in the car.

Honesty Pays Off In Army

MANILA (UPI) —Sgt. Ambrosio Reyes, 38, is now a Staff Sergeant because he skipped lunch and $4,166.

Reyes cashed several checks and treasury bills last week for the payroll of the Luna Medical Center where he is disbursing officer.

Then found he was overpaid $4,116. So he skipped his lunch period and waited for the bank cashier to return and gave back the money.

Fringe Benefits For Supervisors Boost Take For Part-Time Job

Here is some updating on the annual take of two supervisors for part-time jobs. For one, starting with the base pay, now $13,200, add the following: mileage for road inspection, $300; Local Agency Formation Commission for one meeting a month $300 (not sure how many times they meet), San Rafael Sanitation District (two meetings a month), $600, which adds up to $14,400. Add to this mileage to the board meetings as well as other mileage.

Now, regarding the supervisor who attends the Golden Gate Bridge District meetings: As I was opening my paper last Friday, my phone rang and I was told this by a gentleman well up on the Golden Gate Bridge affairs:

THE BRIDGE DIRECTORS get $2,400 annually for four meetings a month plus 12 cents a mile (both ways) for those coming from north of the bridge —plus meals which he said run as high as $10 or more.

This means that the Marin supervisor has a take of $16,200 plus mileage and some meals for a part-time job. Compare this with the $16,800 the Sonoma County supervisors receive for full time.

In this column on April 30, I wrote, "Political necessity that Supervisor Wornum was concerned about is still around and is not going to vanish by (Alan) Bruce's resignation. The public is in no mood to accept halfway changes that will simply be more convenient for the board members.

"Three seats on the board will be up for grabs in just a year and a year rolls around mighty fast. At the moment the rating of the board is not so good. (After the last debacle it is getting no better fast.) However this board of supervisors has an opportunity to show the extent of its comprehension of what the situation is."

THE LAST 14 YEARS have shown that the grand manner administrative type of operation, with the board staying aloof from intimate knowledge of department operation, is not the cup of tea for this county.

Some folks said to me the other day that every time they hear the radio commercial, "This company cares more about you than the money you invest," that they wish that that would be the slogan of this board of supervisors.

There need not be such a panic to replace the administrator. Let the "acting" status continue while a real in-depth study of restructuring the operation out there is developed.

WHEN WE SEE this situation time after time in the throne room, it is to cry.

Scene: Department heads sitting facing the board members just a few feet away. A matter is brought up for consideration — a member moves or the chair orders the administrator to report on it at the next meeting. A simple question directed to the department head involved could have been asked and the answer given then and there or reported back direct at the next meeting of the department head.

No! that is not in the grand manner. The administrator and the induced Parkinson Law must be used to sustain the ego and continue the cost to you.

Appeal To Agitate For Bike Paths

Marin County Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske yesterday appealed to citizens to write members of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee to revive legislation to lay the groundwork for a statewide network of bicycle paths.

The bill, SB 265 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, failed to win committee approval Monday. It had sailed through the Senate without any opposition.

The bill was asked by the county, Joske noted in an open letter to bicycle riders, "because we believed it to be of the utmost importance to bicylists and motorists in the state by virtue of the safety which standard signs would bring."

Joske urged citizens to write, telephone or wire the 21 members of the committee, appealing to them to reconsider and approve the bill. He said that copies of letters and wires should be sent as well to the chairman of the committee, Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco.

Marin's Assemblyman, William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is a member of the committee, but was absent when the vote was taken. Bagley has been working almost around the clock this week on welfare reform legislation. He is a coauthor of the Behr bill.

Other members of the committee are: Frank Lanterman, R-Pasadena; Robert E. Badham, R-Newport Beach; E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego; Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka; John L. Burton, D-San Francisco; John L.E. Collier, R-South Pasadena; Robert W. Crown, D-Oakland; Pauline Davis, D-Portola; John F. Dunlap, D-Vallejo; John F. Foran, D-San Francisco; James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach; Ken MacDonald, D-Ventura; John J. Miller, D-Oakland, Carley V. Porter, D-Compton; Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco; Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina; John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, and Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles.

The bill authorizes all governing bodies to establish bicycle paths within their jurisdiction, as well as special bicycle lanes paralleling state, city and county roads. Developers would be required to include bicycle paths within their subdivision plans.

PUC Staff Urges 'Esthetic' Change

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The staff of the California Public Utilities Commission Thursday recommended that Pacific Gas & Electric Co. be required to change its proposed transmission lines in Diablo Canyon for esthetic reasons.

The staff said that its recommendation was based on "our continuing concern for the adherence to esthetic values and conservation in the completion of this project."

The recommendations were that PG&E relocate its transmission line between Diablo and Midway by going south of Indian Knob and through an oil well area.

The staff recommendation said PG&E has not always lived up to its stated purpose "to give full consideration to esthetic values and conservation of the natural resources of the area."

Early Start For Town Meeting

San Anselmo Town Meeting organizers will start early to plan for the 1972 meeting, according to Dr. Martin G. Blinder. He was chairman of this year's community progress forum.

Blinder said committee members and volunteers will meet at 8 p.m. Sept. 15 in Robson-Harrington Park for their first planning session. He urged that anyone with suggestions for next year's format attend the meeting.

"Rarely will more than 5 per cent of the town become involved, but we will try to get a representative 5 per cent," Blinder declared.

$250 Fine For Resisting Arrest

Steven Harris Millikan, 20, of Woodacre, has been fined $250 in Marin Municipal Court for resisting arrest.

Justice David R. Baty of Western Marin Judicial Court, sitting in municipal court, also placed Millikan on probation for one year.

Millikan was arrested Dec. 11, 1970, when San Rafael police found marijuana in his possession while they were questioning him about another crime.

When Millikan resisted the officers violently, biting one policeman on the arm, charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest were filed against him, in addition to a pot charge.

He pleaded guilty to the resisting arrest charge last month, and the other two charges were dismissed.

In any contest for Marin's most unusual pet, the giant Galapagos tortoise of Dr. Gary Boero of San Anselmo would have to be a leading contender. Actually, though, "Alfie" is something more than just a pet. He's an essential part of some serious scientific study being conducted by Dr. Boero, dentist and zoologist. How the 131-pound tortoise, who eventually will weigh 500 pounds, lives and thrives in the Boero backyard is the subject of a special feature in tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine written by its editor, Don Keown.

One of Marin's busiest organizations has to be the Marin Canoe Club. In fact the canoeists are so busy canoeing that they rarely have time for social affairs. Their season is a continuing series of trips to rivers and lakes to enjoy the exhilaration that comes from challenging and conquering white water rapids. Gerrie Reichard has written the story of this adventurous group for tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement. And Roger Bockrath has supplied photographs taken during a week-long outing on the Upper Eel River that provided canoeing at its expert best.

WOMAN PASTOR

Bias Met With Equanimity

By JOAN LISETOR

What do you call a woman minister?

The newly ordained pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo prefers Jan.

A reception to welcome the new minister, Mrs. Richard Willette of San Anselmo, followed services Sunday, and she says what to call her was the talk of the reception.

SOMEONE JOKINGLY suggested reverend mother, but Janice Willette says she wants to get away from the formality of reverend and prefers a first name basis.

Using "Jan," she says, often throws people, who see the name "the Rev. Jan Willette" and assume it is the name of a Scandinavian male.

When she decided she wanted to become a minister is a mystery to Jan, who received a bachelor of arts degree in religion in 1961 from Columbia University.

"Columbia was one of the first universities to offer a degree in religion," says the minister. "But the degree would better have been called history or philosophy of religion. It was not preparation for the ministry."

FOLLOWING HER graduation she and her husband came to Marin, where he went to work for the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo as head of the food service.

"I worked as a cook for him the first year and a half, so he can't ever complain about my cooking," says Jan.

During that time she began attending classes at the seminary.

She received a bachelor of divinity degree in 1964, and the following year their first child, Steven, was born.

According to Presbyterian law, she explains, one can be ordained with a bachelor of divinity degree, but to be ordained one must have a calling.

"ECCLESIASTICAL LAW is becoming more liberal, but a calling is still defined as a church," she says.

Jan continued her education at the seminary because she wanted to take more family education courses, eventually receiving a master of arts degree in 1969.

"It took me longer than most students," says Jan, who while she was studying family education had two more children: Trevor, now 4, and Carrie Ann, 2.

"My husband and I have had an understanding that when the kids were old enough I would go back to work," Jan explains. "I have very strong feelings about educated women in the home. I think they tend to take out their frustrations on their children."

Last year Jan was hired at the First Presbyterian Church as "parttime assistant to the pastor, for lack of a better title," she says.

DURING THAT year she ran into many stumbling blocks. Not being ordained, she could not perform a wedding ceremony, so when her sister was married she participated in the ceremony up to the point of pronouncing the couple man and wife, when an ordained minister had to step in to say, "By the power vested in me. . ."

Jan is 32 years old, and she says the average age for a man being ordained is about 25. She doesn't regret the wait, although she says she became very impatient at times along the way.

"It takes longer to accomplish something when you work quietly," she says. "I don't like militancy from any stand point, although I have great sympathy for those who become impatient when they are trying to accomplish something. I would hope that I have paved the way for other women wanting to serve a church by working quietly and with determination.

Explaining she is hesitant when it comes to making any claims, Jan says she believes she is the first woman to serve as a minister of a Presbyterian church in Marin County.

Women are usually relegated to the less desirable positions within the church, such as serving poorer congregations in rural areas, where they cannot get a man to serve as minister, she acknowledges.

"WOMEN ARE rarely overall pastors," she says. "They are usually pigeon-holed into Christian education or family counseling duties, but I am extremely fortuante that my associate (Rev. John Najarian) believes that I must participate fully by preaching and calling."

She will preach her first sermon Sunday on the theme of joy, and it probably will not be finished much before Sunday morning.

"I am a compulsive last minute writer. I enjoy preaching but not the preparation," she says.

The new minister expects some hesitation from persons wanting marriage and funeral services performed.

"To some it will make no difference that I am a woman," she says, "But people who call wanting a pastor that are not members of the church are told that I am a woman in case they do not want a woman. I am realistic and accept that prejudice does exist. It doesn't bruise my ego. I would rather perform a marriage knowing both of the couple are happy."

WOMEN WERE first ordained in the Presbyterian church around 1956, says Jan, and first allowed to serve as elders in 1930.

"Things are slow, but changing. Membership in the church is predominately female so we will achieve equality eventually. It's inevitable," she says.

At the reception in her honor last weekend an older male member of the congregation told her he was glad there was someone to take care of the old men and now Reverend Najarian could take care of the older women.

She reminded him that the church had two minorities — a woman and a "backpacking Armenian."

REV. MRS. Richard Willette of San Anselmo was ordained Sunday into the ministry and installed as assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. The question of what to call a woman minister was the talk of a reception in her honor following her installation. Janice Willette says she prefers the informality of a first name basis.

REIGNING KING

Givenchy Shows Plenty Of Skin

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — It was like an elegant Folies Bergere at Givenchy yesterday.

Hubert de Givenchy, known as one of the most conservative designers on Paris, bared skin and showed off the body in his fall-winter collection.

The reigning king of high fashion offered hot pants and the shortest miniskirt in Paris. He split skirts and coats, bared backs, plunged necklines. Evening gowns were transparent over shorts, there was not one slip in the entire show and the mannequins turned strip teasers to remove long sleeves from evening gowns.

APPLAUDED BY buyers and fashion critics, Givenchy's collection showed that elegant, traditional haute couture can be young and fun and not necessarily old and dull.

The fashion world has been saying shorts are dead after a one-season fad, and possibly Givenchy's private clientele— one of the biggest in Paris—will rebel and refuse to buy them. But Givenchy explained before the show that "hot pants went very well" in his summer collection "so I decided to continue them."

Thus, in his winter show today, long and knee-length evening gowns in floating black chiffo had one-piece shorts underneath. Givenchy said he can't stand slips.

A floor-length oriental brocade sleeveless coat split up both sides unbuttoned to show a one-piece shorts suit underneath. A mannequin unwrapped herself out of a huge black chenille poncho embroidered with flowers to show a matching shorts outfit.

THE GIVENCHY salon looked bedspready during the parade of chenille evening dresses with matching fringed ponchos, all loosely woven to show shorts underneath.

Beautiful legs were in view throughout the collection. Some chenille gowns had dancing fringes from floor to end of leg, but Givenchy can make such dance hall touches look ladylike. Many gowns were split fore and aft to show legs.

Squares were cut out of the backs on some long gowns. Halter gowns had bare backs and the plunging necklines were as low and wide as the law allows.

Students From South America, Japan Arrive In Marin On Tour

Arriving in Marin this afternoon are 163 students and chaperones from Japan and South America, traveling by bus on a cross-country tour under the auspices of Rotary International.

The 1971 Rotary International Cultural Exchange tour group is the largest to be hosted by Bay Area Rotary District 513 since the exchanges began six years ago.

The travelers, ranging in age from 15 to 40 years old, will make the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in Mill Valley their headquarters during their two-day stay in the Bay Area.

Festivities begin at 7 o'clock tonight when the six Marin Rotary chapters will entertain the large delegation at a reception and dinner in the seminary cafeteria.

"We expect local people to join the visitors for dinner," said Leo Noah of Terra Linda, coordinator for the club's cultural exchange activities here this weekend.

COUNTY ROTARY club presidents who, with their families, will welcome the visitors are Ben Farlatti of Mill Valley; David Dorward, San Anselmo; William P. Murray Jr., San Rafael; Arthur R. Boates, Sausalito; Rev. Charles Bowman, Terra Linda, and Leif A. Evensen, Novato.

Several Japanese speaking students at the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary will join the Rev. Raymond Ozasa, a recent graduate, in acting as interpreters for the visitors from Japan. Reverend Ozasa is the pastor of the Japanese Mission at Tiburon, where he conducts services at the Tiburon Baptist Church. He is also the Japanese Language Missionary for the San Francisco Bay Area of the Southern Baptist Convention.

When the chartered buses in which the seven South American students and the Japanese visitors start on their tour of San Francisco at 8 a.m. tomorrow, a number of Marin Rotarians and their families will accompany them. Individual hospitality in Marin homes will also be extended, according to Leo Noah, who expects to welcome some of the young people into his home.

Robert Nelson, past president of the San Rafael Rotary Club, has recently returned from a visit to Japan, where he made a point of visiting the Rotary Club in Atami, which is the sister club to San Rafael. The Nelsons, too, will open their home to a group of the cultural exchange students.

AFTER AN extensive tour of the Bay Area, the students will again board their buses, leaving Mill Valley after a 7 a.m. breakfast at the seminary for Los Angeles.

The tour which began in Minneapolis, Minn., on July 21 will continue through Aug. 29, when it will end in Minneapolis. Rotary District 595 in the Minneapolis area is coordinating the tour of the United States. American students will also tour Japan under the auspices of Rotarians in that country.

Mrs. Pellegrini, serving her second consecutive term, will be assisted by Mmes. Donald Murray, San Rafael, vice chairman; Hugh Laymon, Tiburon, secretary; and John Fiske, San Rafael, treasurer. Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Laymon also were reelected.

Child Sleepwear Look Inspired By Dress Revival

Inspired by the dress revival, sleepwear for children has taken on a Victorian and romantic look, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Holiday lines of children's sleepwear manufacturers show a trend away from the traditional red and green to yellow or purple prints, ginghams and checks.

Robes with matching gowns and two-piece pajama sets continue to be the most popular.

Frozen Sperm Banks Offer Insurance For Changed Minds

DEAR HELEN:

Speaking of vasectomies, the last argument against them may have been won with the announcement that some 70 women have had "frozen sperm babies."

Heretofore, a few husbands refused to have this simple, safe operation, saying that sometime in the future they might want more children. Now, they can simply put on deposit enough frozen sperm to take care of this eventuality. Artificial insemination does the rest.

As a man who has had a vasectomy, I can vouch for its success. If anything, it has increased my libido. I know it has done wonders for my wife's! — MICK (FATHER OF THREE)

DEAR MICK:

I understand that several men have already made deposits in the frozen sperm bank, against the possibility that they might want more children after their vasectomies. So far, not one has reported a change of mind. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Is marriage on the way out? We don't think so. As two who love being married, may we give our views?

As we see it, marriage is not the problem. Rather, it's the attitude with which people enter it. If they expect one continuous honeymoon, they are headed for trouble. It doesn't take long to uncover each other's faults and analyzing them only covers up all the good traits that drew them together.

We believe that if people would stop examining the other person and instead evaluate themselves, they'd keep so busy they'd have little time for criticism. They should realize they can irritate as well as be irritated by petty actions.

It's strange that people will generally challenge a goal like business success, or winning awards, but when the challenges of marriage present themselves, they admit defeat without a decent effort. Marriage is worth every struggle, for the rewards are great.

Many also find it easier to forgive a friend or even a pet than a mate. Why be so much harder on the one you love?

We personally believe that if love is the motivating factor in your life (a steady love that builds and nurtures) you will find that it comes easier to praise than to criticize, to show understanding and encouragement and, most of all, respect even though you don't always agree.

We know it can work, for marriage has worked for us over 17 years. We married young and have shared problems, climbed hurdles, realized dreams. And we've had a tremendous lot of fun along the way. — TWO OF YOUR READERS

DEAR HELEN:

Maybe the mother who wouldn't buy her daughter bikini underpants had another reason: They're just plain uncomfortable, and besides the elastic shows on your hips, when you're wearing pants. — ANOTHER MOTHER

DEAR A.M.:

You've got a point. Moreover, people who wear bikini briefs under outer pants face another hazard: getting their skin caught in the zipper! Ouch! — H.

Ballerina Sees 'New Wave'

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — All the young audiences for the arts aren't tuned in to the rock sound.

Witness, for instance, the packed houses conductor Leonard Bernstein draws for his young people's concerts of the classics. Now the young are on a ballet kick too. Back of it all seems to be the revival of a romantic period in all phases of our culture.

THERE'S THE return to the romantic in fashion, revival of what some observers call "the civilized look", actually a recall of the quietly elegant clothes of the 1930s and '40s. "Real" movies like "Love Story" are an instant success with the young. A return to religion also is part of the scene.

Carla Fracci, prima ballerina of the La Scala ballet and now appearing with the American Ballet Theater, figures the whole trend results because the new art forms "speak directly to the audience."

"They want story," she said. "The young are feud up with the abstract."

Miss Fracci, her husband, Beppe Menegatti, a theatrical director, were talking about the overwhelming numbers of young people, boys and girls, drawn to the ballet these days.

I'd expressed some amazement about the youth of the audience packed into Lincoln Center's New York State Theater one sparkling Sunday afternoon recently to see Miss Fracci and Erik Bruhn dance the classical "Giselle". The role is one of her most famous. But on a day like that in midsummer, you'd have guessed that all the young would be at the beach.

THE YOUNG are coming to the ballet theater not only in the United States but all over Europe, Menegatti said. Rivival of so many of the ballets with plot gives them a chance "just to enjoy... no mental fatigue," said Menegatti recalling that "for the last 35 years you'd have to read the program, ask your friends and read the critics next day to know what had been on the stage."

The critics in general hail Carla Fracci as one of the great ballerinas of today. The Chicago Tribune's Thomas Willis said, "there is no one like her and few in her league."

Miss Fracci came to the top of the world of dance in an unusual way. She was born in Milan, the daughter of a streetcar conductor. Her early years, during World War II, were spent on a farm at her mother's birthplace in Cremona.

"I hardly knew what ballet was," Miss Fracci said. "All I knew was chickens." She still gets nostalgic for these early farm years.

AFTER THE war, the family returned to Milan and a friend of the family suggested that Miss Fracci's inborn grace and beauty made her a fitting candidate for La Scala's ballet company.

She was enrolled at the age of eight nd for the next eight years, La Scala was home away from home with regular school courses and ballet instruction.

Miss Fracci was on her way when George Balanchine chose her to do a solo with the company. By the age of 18, they were calling her "prima" at La Scala. Since, she has been guest star with most of the major ballet companies of the West. She said Moscow's Bolshoi had asked her to appear with that company but that a conflict in dates prevented.

Miss Fracci met Menegatti at La Scala. The couple, married eight years, has a 21-month-old boy, Francesco.

The ballerina, five feet three inches tall, 103 pounds, has none of the problems of keeping fit that beset many women—and men. Daily classes of at least one hour each, often more, plus daily rehearsals take care of the figure.

She follows no special diet for energy. "I eat everything," she said. "Meat, rice...pasta."

PRIMA BALLERINA Carla Fracci of La Scala ballet, now appearing with the American Ballet Theater, says the young audiences for the arts are tuned into ballet as a part of the revival of a romantic period in our culture. The whole trend results because the new art forms speak directly to the audiences, she says. "They want a story. The young are fed up with the abstract."

The Dominate Style During Last Month

Knee-length styles dominated retail advertising last month, accounting for 47 per cent of advertising of women's dresses by retail stores in 15 cities, throughout the United States, according to the Bureau of Advertising.

For six months knee length advertising has shown a steady rise, while the promotion of hot pants leveled off at 13.4 per cent of the total June dress advertising space compared to 16.5 per cent in May, 14.4 per cent in April, 8.7 per cent in March and 2.9 per cent in February.

Other measurements showed that long pant styles continued to lose support in June, but miniskirts held fast to a steady share of advertising support.

Maxi length advertising declined in June, accounting for a mere 4 per cent of June advertising, and midi length received only 2.4 per cent in the same month.

'They' Often Cut The Grass

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Why is it," asks a reader, "when they (black people) move into a neighborhood, they (ah, that infamous they) let the property go down — never cut the grass or pull the weeds?"

Well, reader, just like you people (the converse of they), they don't fit into any one mold when it comes to grass cuttin' and weed pullin'.

Some cases in point:

ONE BLACK family who recently moved into a lower middle-class neighborhood, their first home after living in a housing project for several years is so enthusiastic about the flora and fauna around their little house, that in addition to keeping the lawn and hedges immaculately manicured, the man of the house even landscapes his neighbors' weeds that grow up over his fence. He shrugs his shoulders and says, "They're green and kind of pretty."

A well-known black luminary, who could well afford to hire a full-time gardener, has a front yard full of weeds attached to his spacious $100,000 plus house.

"I like the way grass looks when it has gone to seed. Who made the rule that short grass looks better than tall grass? Man, this is my house and I have the right to cut or not to cut my grass," he says.

When asked how his neighbors reacted to his peculiar preference, he answered, "I don't have a crusade out to coerce all the whites to let their grass grow long — just cause I like it that way. Let them do their thing and let me do mine.

"If seeing weeds on my property is sufficient stimulus to send them into hysteria, they'd better see a shrink. Sorry, but it's not my mission in life to pamper their hang-ups. And I will not cut my grass because someone must discredit the stereotype idea that whites have about blacks."

Another family, with several children, has a vegetable garden planted in the front (yes, front) yard. The neat lines of well-cared-for vegetables are esthetically pleasing as any flower garden or lawn.

SAYS THE mother, "These fresh vegetables come in handy when you're trying to feed seven kids and stretch your dollars.

"And, yes," she says smiling good naturedly, "folks do chide us about having a garden in the front yard. But who made the rule that gardens are for back yards only?"

In another section of the city, an elderly woman, alone and on welfare, is seen regularly laboring to push a rickety old hand lawn mower through the weeds that serve as her front lawn.

"At least it's green," she says.

And she has the most neatly trimmed and watered weed patch in her neighborhood.

MANY THINGS that people who have fairly adequate incomes take for granted do not come easily to poor people, a disproportionate number of which are black. After sinking every available penny into a house, finding the money for lawn mowers and other gardening equipment is not always simple. Lack of gardening expertise can also cause some difficulties.

At any rate, dear reader, even though there are some losers — property demolitionists — be assured that there is also a sizeable number of winners.

Use Of 'Jap' Trademark To Continue

The use of "Jap" as a trademark by fashion designer Kenze Takada, who designs for Societe Jungle Jap marketing firm, will continue despite the fact that the New York chapter of the Japanese-American Citizens League contends the word is derogatory.

A decision not to bar the designer, whose fashions are currently being shown in Paris, from using Jap has been appealed to the Appellate Division of the New York State Supreme Court, according to Women's Wear Daily.

The action contends the word is particularly offensive to Americans of Japanese descent and its use as a trademark, adjective or noun, violates their civil rights.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The well-trained kibitzer knows that it is impolite to talk while a bridge hand is in progress. But no bridge authority has written anything about whistling, and the accomplished kibitzer should memorize a little repertory of tunes appropriate to various occasions. If you were kibitzing today's hand, for example, you might whistle "One Alone" while drumming on the back of declarer's chair. After all, who wants to live forever?

NO HELP

No kibitzer helped South when today's hand was played. Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the queen of hearts and immediately led the low trump from dummy to try a finesse with the queen.

West won with the king of spades and switched to the four of clubs. South won in his hand with the king of clubs and led a spade to dummy's jack, discovering the bad news. Now the only chance was a good break in hearts, but East ruffed the third high heart. South could discard a losing diamond, but he still had to lose two diamonds — and his contract.

NO SAFETY PLAY

North grumbled a bit about a "safety play," but his heart wasn't really in it. It would be correct for South to lead a low spade to the ace if it were not for his three losing diamonds, but in the actual hand South's best chance is to take the simple spade finesse.

A very perceptive South might find the winning play in trumps against the right sort of simple-minded East. Some defenders follow suit with a slight hesitation when they have no high cards in the suit: but they play without the slightest hesitation when they have a finessable high card.

TAKES COURAGE

If you know your customers and get the telltale hesitation on the first spade lead from dummy, you might decide that East doesn't hold the king and that therefore there is no advantage in taking a finesse. You can make this kind of play only if you have the courage of your convictions. A helpful kibitzer is much surer.

Tough Sentence To Convicted Litterbug

NANAIMO, British Columbia (UPI)—A judge who wanted to "impress the public" about the punishment facing litterbugs has sentenced a convicted litterer to pick up refuse along a mile of highway.

Judge Stan Wardill offered 21-year-old Roger Gagnon the choice of the cleanup duty or a $150 fine. Gagnon chose the cleanup and was assigned to the same area where he dumped a pickup truck load of garbage and old car parts.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County.

FAMILY

"LeMans" - Technically excellent record of the 8½ mile Le Mans race in France with 45 renowned drivers at the wheels. Plot is unimportant to racing enthusiasts.

"$1,000,000 Duck" - Disney comes through again with a good family comedy. Treatment is fresh and bright. Plenty of laughs for all.

"My Side of the Mountain" - An artistically and sensitively directed story about a 13-year-old boy who leaves home to live in the wilderness and forge his living from his surroundings and carry on his algae research. Very well acted.

"Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory" - Well cast, elaborately staged, beautifully filmed classic. Complicated plot with surprising adventures at every turn will please entire family.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Billy Jack" - The conflict between a town and a school for troubled teenagers of all races, located on an Arizona Indian reservation has much violence and some sex scenes.

"From Russia With Love" - A preposterous espionage film with James Bond once again slugging, knifing, bombing and loving his way across middle Europe. Usual brutality and violence and sex.

"House That Dripped Blood" - An eerie old country house in north England is the setting for a quartet of horror tales about how each inhabitant of the house falls prey to a bloody supernatural fate. Skillfully directed and acted.

"Last Run" - A retired criminal is lured into one more job as a driver to help an escaped convict. The convicts' gang arranged his flight only to kill him and so the double crossing begins. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Private Life of Sherlock Holmes" - Mystery, intrigue, humor and a new insight into the great Sherlock Holmes myth that reveals him a drug addict and questions his sexuality. Entertaining in spots.

"Ryan's Daughter" - A big, beautiful, unabashedly romantic epic set in World War I. Photographed against a rugged Irish landscape which becomes metaphoric for the loneliness of the soul. Very well done.

"Walk In The Spring Rain" - Three talented stars enact a mature love triangle in the quiet splendor of Tennesse's Smoky mountains. Slow moving.

"Willard" - An intensely lonely young man with family problems finds comfort in training and breeding rats and finally uses them as a means of getting revenge. A bizarre psychological horror film. (Boxoffice Magazine).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Anderson Tapes" - An ex-convict unaware that his every move is recorded on film and tape plans the biggest robbery of his life. A sub-plot adds excitement and interest. Some violence and nude sex scenes.

"Bananas" - A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Dr. No" - James Bond and international intrigue that becomes science fiction. Even though done with tongue in cheek, the treatment of sex and sadism makes it unsuitable for youth.

"Little Big Man" - A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121 year old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody, with some sex scenes.

"Whatever Happened to Aunt Alice" - A grisly horror story about a homicidally insane widow who bludgeons lonely women who come to work for her as housekeepers. Use of closeup photography and excellent acting make it especially sordid.

ADULTS ONLY

"Big Doll House" - Four women escape from a tropical Pacific Island prison. There is plenty of narcotics, lesbianism, sexual attackes and murder. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Klute" - A moody murder mystery that focuses mostly on a character study of a contemporary call girl, a typical case history from a psychiatrist textbook.

"Student Nurses" - The private and professional lives of senior student nurses who share an apartment. Abortion, drugs and sex scenes are all included. (Boxoffice Magazine).

BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE BUSES

PLACE: Oakland Coliseum
TIME: 7:30 p.m. (3:00 p.m. on Sunday)

| DATE | DEPARTURE |

Nader: VW 'Beetle' Is 'Most Dangerous'

LONDON (UPI)—Consumer advocate Ralph Nader today called Volkswagen's "beetle" model "the most hazardous car on the road" in the United States.

Nader, in an interview on Thames Television's "This Week" program, recommended the German auto manufacturer recall all the 4 million "beetles" in use in America.

"Although there have been some minor improvements in recent years, the fact remains that the Volkswagen today is the most hazardous car on the road in America in significant numbers," Nader said.

He said the model had a history of instability, particularly on major highways because of an alleged deficient suspension system. He also said the seats were unsafely fastened.

Nader predcted the recall of the cars could cost Volkswagen $96 million.

A Volkswagen official, responding to the consumer crusader, said the company would call cars in only in cases of design fault.

"To call them in just to pacify Mr. Nader would seem to be a rather heavy expense," he said.

Boy Scout Rule On Eligibility Changed

Council To Fill Plan Panel Seat

San Rafael City Councilmen will have at least three names — and possibly seven or eight — to choose from when they fill a vacant seat on the city planning commission Monday.

City Mgr. James H. McCown said Kenneth W. Charshaf, Constance Johnstone and Lawrence J. Solari Jr. are new applicants for the seat vacated by V. Judson Klein.

McCown also is checking with other San Rafael residents who were interested in appointment to the planning commission in February, when Albert J. Boro was chosen by the council.

Charshaf, vice president for computer research for the Bank of America, lives at 2 San Mateo Drive. He has lived in the San Rafael area nine years. A native of San Francisco, he is 32, and he and his wife have three children. He was a leader in recent, unsuccessful opposition to the Freitas Apartment development at the end of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

Mrs. Johnson, of 12 Cloverhill Court, is president of the Twelve Oak Hill Homeowners' Association and the wife of pharmaceutical salesman Parland R. Johnstone.

Solari, who lives at 23 Makin Grade with his wife and two children, is a stock broker with a San Francisco firm. He moved to Lucas Valley in 1958, and has lived in southern San Rafael since 1963.

Petition On Club's Use Is Planned

A group calling itself the Preserve Land and Nature Committee (PLAN) has announced it will circulate petitions urging the Town and Country Club property in Fairfax remain undeveloped.

According to Priscilla Gray of Fairfax, a spokesman for the 12-member group, the membership Tuesday criticized statements by Councilman Rabert R. Souza that talk of preserving the historic site was "premature."

Rather than such talk being premature, she said, "an attempt to save this historic and recreational site is in the eleventh hour."

According to owner Max Friedman, the land has been sold to Kaiser-Aetna Corp. of Oakland which is interested in building between 350 and 450 apartment units on the property.

Mrs. Gray urged that the land not be rezoned to permit development and said a petition will show the city council "the prevalence of public sentiment" toward keeping the land undeveloped.

She said her group was not sure when it would begin the petition drive.

Too Many Holidays?

ROME (UPI)—The number of holidays in the ancient Roman Empire rose from 76 a year in its early decades to 175 a year —nearly one day in two —before its fall.

Record Fire Number Reported By Novato

The Novato Fire Department answereed a record 892 calls and had a record loss of $483,975 during 1970, according to the department's annual report.

During the year, 162 acres of grass and brush burned in 210 grass fires in the 75-square-mile district, said Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The largest number of calls previously received was in 1969 when firemen answered 812 calls. The previous record for loss was in 1968 when the district suffered $362,000 damage.

The number of calls and losses reflect the growth of the city to some extent but not in exact ratio, Kidder said. In 1961 the district answered 444 calls with a loss of $141,340. However, even though the city was growing, losses were lowered in subsequent years with a $31,180 loss in 1963 the lowest year in losses in the past 10 years.

Fires caused by children playing with matches increased from 34 fires 10 years ago to 104 for each of the past two years. The number of full-alert general alarm fires increased from 17 in 1960 to 60 last year.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1971 23

THEN AND NOW — Christopher A. Nightingale was a Bobby (left photo) in London in 1957, little dreaming that 14 years later (right) he would be practicing his skills as a law officer in Marin County. This brief shakedown the other day at Marin's Civic Center was part of the security precautions instituted in the wake of last year's bombing of a courtroom. (Independent-Journal photo)

SHERIFF'S DEPUTY

By C. P. McCARTHY

Nobody has yet called Christopher A. Nightingale the sheriff of Nottingham, but Nightingale, born 35 years ago in Nottingham, England and now a Marin County deputy sheriff, hardly expects to avoid the inevitable.

Although he just made it under the age limit for the deputy's post, he brought a wealth of experience to the job, having served two stints as London Bobby and a short period as a policeman in Calgary, Canada.

Nightingale, who lives with his wife, Maria, in Mill Valley, said he enjoys the Marin job but sees two enormous advantages, as well as several disadvantages, to being a policeman in London.

The two advantages of being a bobby, he said, were England's strict gun control laws and the beat work.

London policemen, he noted, carry neither guns nor handcuffs. "You don't need them," Nightingale said. He said it is very difficult to obtain a gun in England and if the criminal element doesn't have guns, the police don't need them.

In addition to the scarcity of weapons, there exists a sort of honor among thieves. Nightingale called it "a code of ethics."

"If a gangster uses a gun on a policeman," he said, "The other gangsters go after the guy who shot the policeman."

The saying that there's safety in numbers may have something to do with it, too. "There are so many police in Central London," he said, "All you have to do is blow a whistle and you've got a policeman at your door."

But disarming the police wouldn't work in the United States, he said, citing differences in historical development of the two countries as a reason.

"Americans have been carrying guns since this country originated," he said, "using them to fend off Indians and protect their land. England is altogether different." In addition to being an older nation with stricter rules, he said, "police have the pride and respect of the people."

In America, he said, "You just don't seem to appreciate the man on the beat. They're doing the best they can, but they just don't seen to be appreciated."

Being that man on the beat is the other major difference between working in London and in Marin, Nightingale said.

And he thinks that one of the reasons police are more appreciated in London is the fact that there are more men walking beats.

"The policeman on the beat — he's around all the time. He gets to know all the people on his beat," Nightingale said, adding that the people feel they have greater protection.

"But how can you possibly have beat men in Marin County?" he asked. "It just wouldn't work," he said, especially in the unincorporated areas of the county covered by the sheriff's office because of the hills and distances involved.

Although he thinks there is "no better police force in the world than London's," he left it because of low pay, bad weather and his disagreement with Harold Wilson's Labor government.

Nightingale worked for 30 months, beginning in 1957, and another 30 months, beginning in 1962 as a London bobby — a nickname derived from the name of Robert Peel who founded the Metropolitan Police Force of London in 1839.

In between the two periods, he worked 18 months on the Calgar police force, but found walking through snow in the winter for eight hours was worse than London's weather.

He came to the United States in 1965, but had to wait five years until he became a U.S. citizen before he was eligible to join the sheriff's department or any other police agency.

But he didn't let his experience go to waste or go stale; he spent the interim as a private detective in San Francisco.

29,000-Acre Park Bill Would Encompass Marin

Mailliard Calls His Proposal A 'Compromise'

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A bill to create a Golden Gate National Recreation Area and designed to reduce military resistance to its creation was introduced in the House yesterday by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

While Mailliard's measure would include lands almost identical to those proposed in recent bills by Sen. Alan Cranston and Rep. Philip Burton, D-Fifth District, it is seen as a "compromise proposal" to allay Sixth Army fears of losing control of the Presidio.

The bill would leave the Army in control of Fort Mason and the Presidio on the San Francisco side of the bay, but would turn over to Interior military lands on the Marin Headlands — including Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkhite.

Although Mailliard's measure would leave the Presidio in Army ownership, it is the only park bill which proposes to include all of the Presidio in the recreation area. "We have included the entire Presidio since the Army has long maintained that the Presidio is an open post and a park," a spokesman for Mailliard explained.

The Cranston and Burton bills would exclude from the national park portions of the Presidio now used by Sixth Army headquarters and Letterman Hospital, with the provision that such land should be added to the recreation area if the Army ever abandons it.

The bill directs secretaries of Interior and Defense to negotiate their respective needs for military and park use and also calls for a halt to further construction or development on open spaces and undeveloped land in the recreation area without specific approval from the Secretary of the Interior.

By allowing the Department of Defense to retain title to the Presidio, (which would still be included in the park), Mailliard said his bill "differs greatly" from the Cranston and Burton approaches.

Both Burton's and Cranston's measures ask that approximately 550 acres of the 1,588-acre Presidio be relinquished by the Secretary of Defense and turned over to Interior.

"My bill attempts to reconcile the difference between the two departments of government," Mailliard said. "It establishes an owner-tenant relationship between the primary agencies and gives both departments bargaining positions for lands to be used by each other in their respective areas.

If the Army intends, for example, to continue to use portions of Fort Baker in Marin (which would be owned by Interior), it would have to bargain and release certain of its San Francisco lands to Interior for the park.

The approximately 29,000-acre park envisioned by the Mailliard proposal would stretch in an unbroken sweep from Fort Funston in San Francisco to the Point Reyes National Seashore in Marin and would include federal, state, local and private properties.

Among the federally owned lands to be included — whatever department may have title — are Forts Miley, Funston and Mason, the Marin forts, Alcatraz Island and all of the Presidio.

State-owned recreation areas proposed are Seal Rocks State Park, Phelan Beach, the San Francisco Maritime Museum, the Marin Headlands State Park and Angel Island. The Burton and Cranston bills do not include Alcatraz or Angel islands, a Mailliard spokesman noted.

Private properties in San Francisco and Marin which Mailliard proposes for the park are the Olema Valley, Duxbury Reef in Bolinas, the Witter, Green Gulch and Slide ranches and other privately owned lands on Marin's western seashore necessary to connect the recreation area with state parks and the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Fort Point in San Francisco and Muir Woods in Marin would be part of the national park, but remain under present status as national monuments.

Frank A. Quinn, San Francisco chairman of People for a Golden Gate National Recreation Area, expressed disappointment at the concession to the Army, believing that "those Presidio lands not vital to operation of Sixth Army headquarters and Letterman should go immediately to the Interior Department.

"We do not feel the Army has cared for the Presidio properly; there has been much development on the post in recent years and people do not consider an Army-owned Presidio as a place they can go for recreation purposes."

Acquisition of lands for the proposed park can be through donation, exchange of property, purchase with donated funds or appropriation, according to the congressman's measure. However, he said all lands now owned by California or its political subdivision (cities and counties) cannot be purchased, but must be donated.

A public hearing on the proposed recreation area will be conducted in San Francisco Aug. 9 by the House Interior subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation in Room 1194 of the State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Persons wishing to testify should notify the committee, whose chairman is Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., by Monday.

$800,000 Creek Work From House

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Corte Madera Creek flood control work has been allotted $800,000 in fiscal 1972-73 public works funding approved this week by the House of Representatives.

The money will finance completion of the project from the Ross Post office to near the San Anselmo city limits, on schedule but subject to local decisions, according to Army Corps of Engineers and Marin County flood control spokesmen.

Other Marin County projects funded by the House action included a $15,000 survey of navigational improvements needed for Bolinas Beach erosion problems and a $10,000 survey of navigational improvements needed for Bolinas Channel.

Novato Creek and its tributaries have been targeted for a $20,000 continuation of studies on flood control proposals, including possible diversion of Novato Creek runoff into Warner Creek, to meet Novato citizens' objections to concrete channel treatment of Novato Creek.

Corte Madera Del Presidio Creek and other Richardson Bay stream plans were voted $25,000 for continuing studies including possible diversion of runoff through a conduit along Miller Avenue.

Blue Movie Magnate Arrested in Marin

Alex de Renzy, described by San Francisco police as the pioneer promoter of off-color stag movies in the Bay Area, was arrested yesterday at his hilltop estate in San Rafael.

According to San Rafael police, the 35-year-old De Renzy was picked up at 1:30 p.m. on a San Francisco warrant alleging four counts of showing blue movies at his theater in the Tenderloin.

Capt. Gerald Shaughnessy, head of San Francisco's vice squad, said today the manager of the theater, Thomas Hoffman, 23, of San Francisco, was arrested on one count.

De Renzy told a San Francisco newspaper yesterday he has been arrested 18 times in the last three and a half years on similar charges but never has been convicted.

His first film, "Pornography in Denmark" reportedly made him more than $1.5 million.

De Rency,lives at 1 Highland Avenue and is owner of the Screening Room.

He was booked into Marin County Jail on the misdemeanor charges and was released on $3,000 bail. His case will be heard in San Francisco courts.

Man Found Dead In Motel Room

A 26-year-old San Francisco medical student was found dead in a Mill Valley motel room yesterday, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, the Marin County Coroner's Office reported.

Benjamin Arthur Uram was found about 1:30 p.m. at the Fireside Motel on Shoreline Highway by the motel manager who went to check his room. The coroner's office said the man, who had checked into the motel Wednesday afternoon, was discovered on the bed with a gunshot wound in his head. A .38 caliber revolver was found beside him and a note was discovered in a briefcase in the room.

Uram was a student at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Caroline.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley.

Building Ban Issue Moving Into Courts

A temporary stay lifting the building ban in Southern Marin will be sought next week in Marin Superior Court.

Saul M. Weingarten, attorney for developers and real estate interests appealing the ban imposed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board, told the Independent-Journal today that a temporary stay would take about two weeks to obtain if his petition were successful. The ban was ordered against the City of Mill Valley and Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

The State Water Resources Control Board rejected his appeal late Wednesday, a step Weingarten said "cleared the decks of red tape to get the matter before the courts." The Seaside attorney noted that he had carried appeals of 12 other building bans imposed by regional boards, and that in all but one he had won relief for his clients.

A similar ban was imposed on much of the Ross Valley, and directors of Ross Valley Sanitary District are to consider appealing it to the state board. District directors will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at 12 Library Place, San Anselmo.

Three Plead Innocent To Resisting Police Officers

Three Marin City residents arrested after a battle with sheriff's deputies last Friday pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a variety of charges.

Preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday for Frederick Washington, 25, Anthony Ray Smith, 19, and Wilbur Smith, 21, all charged with felony counts of resisting officers and misdemeanor counts of disturbing the peace.

Washington is also charged with assault with a deadly weapon, battery against an officer, exhibiting a deadly weapon, assault and three counts of battery.

The men were arrested late Friday after sheriff's deputies received a report that Washington had struck three women at a Marin City restaurant.

When deputies went to arrest him, he attempted to escape and was assisted by a crowd, including the Smith brothers, which threw rocks and bottles at deputies and shouted obscenities.

One deputy was struck in the head by a bottle during the scuffle and required treatment at Marin General Hospital.

When Washington was finally put into a patrol car he pulled a knife and threatened deputies until the knife was knocked from his hands when the patrol car arrived at Marin County Jail.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

George Edward Myers, 24, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary. Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Myers was arrested Wednesday when San Rafael police found him at the home of William Savage, 4 Knight Drive.

Council To Fill Plan Panel Seat

San Rafael City Councilmen will have at least three names — and possibly seven or eight — to choose from when they fill a vacant seat on the city planning commission Monday.

City Mgr. James H. McCown said Kenneth W. Charshaf, Constance Johnstone and Lawrence J. Solari Jr. are new applicants for the seat vacated by V. Judson Klein.

McCown also is checking with other San Rafael residents who were interested in appointment to the planning commission in February, when Albert J. Boro was chosen by the council.

Charshaf, vice president for computer research for the Bank of America, lives at 2 San Mateo Drive. He has lived in the San Rafael area nine years. A native of San Francisco, he is 32, and he and his wife have three children. He was a leader in recent, unsuccessful opposition to the Freitas Apartment development at the end of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

Mrs. Johnson, of 12 Cloverhill Court, is president of the Twelve Oak Hill Homeowners' Association and the wife of pharmaceutical salesman Parland R. Johnstone.

Solari, who lives at 23 Makin Grade with his wife and two children, is a stock broker with a San Francisco firm. He moved to Lucas Valley in 1958, and has lived in southern San Rafael since 1963.

Petition On Club's Use Is Planned

A group calling itself the Preserve Land and Nature Committee (PLAN) has announced it will circulate petitions urging the Town and Country Club property in Fairfax remain undeveloped.

According to Priscilla Gray of Fairfax, a spokesman for the 12-member group, the membership Tuesday criticized statements by Councilman Rabert R. Souza that talk of preserving the historic site was "premature."

Rather than such talk being premature, she said, "an attempt to save this historic and recreational site is in the eleventh hour."

According to owner Max Friedman, the land has been sold to Kaiser-Aetna Corp. of Oakland which is interested in building between 350 and 450 apartment units on the property.

Mrs. Gray urged that the land not be rezoned to permit development and said a petition will show the city council "the prevalence of public sentiment" toward keeping the land undeveloped.

She said her group was not sure when it would begin the petition drive.

Record Fire Number Reported By Novato

The Novato Fire Department answereed a record 892 calls and had a record loss of $483,975 during 1970, according to the department's annual report.

During the year, 162 acres of grass and brush burned in 210 grass fires in the 75-square-mile district, said Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The largest number of calls previously received was in 1969 when firemen answered 812 calls. The previous record for loss was in 1968 when the district suffered $362,000 damage.

The number of calls and losses reflect the growth of the city to some extent but not in exact ratio, Kidder said. In 1961 the district answered 444 calls with a loss of $141,340. However, even though the city was growing, losses were lowered in subsequent years with a $31,180 loss in 1963 the lowest year in losses in the past 10 years.

Fires caused by children playing with matches increased from 34 fires 10 years ago to 104 for each of the past two years. The number of full-alert general alarm fires increased from 17 in 1960 to 60 last year.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1971 23

THEN AND NOW — Christopher A. Nightingale was a Bobby (left photo) in London in 1957, little dreaming that 14 years later (right) he would be practicing his skills as a law officer in Marin County. This brief shakedown the other day at Marin's Civic Center was part of the security precautions instituted in the wake of last year's bombing of a courtroom. (Independent-Journal photo)

SHERIFF'S DEPUTY

By C. P. McCARTHY

Nobody has yet called Christopher A. Nightingale the sheriff of Nottingham, but Nightingale, born 35 years ago in Nottingham, England and now a Marin County deputy sheriff, hardly expects to avoid the inevitable.

Although he just made it under the age limit for the deputy's post, he brought a wealth of experience to the job, having served two stints as London Bobby and a short period as a policeman in Calgary, Canada.

Nightingale, who lives with his wife, Maria, in Mill Valley, said he enjoys the Marin job but sees two enormous advantages, as well as several disadvantages, to being a policeman in London.

The two advantages of being a bobby, he said, were England's strict gun control laws and the beat work.

London policemen, he noted, carry neither guns nor handcuffs. "You don't need them," Nightingale said. He said it is very difficult to obtain a gun in England and if the criminal element doesn't have guns, the police don't need them.

In addition to the scarcity of weapons, there exists a sort of honor among thieves. Nightingale called it "a code of ethics."

"If a gangster uses a gun on a policeman," he said, "The other gangsters go after the guy who shot the policeman."

The saying that there's safety in numbers may have something to do with it, too. "There are so many police in Central London," he said, "All you have to do is blow a whistle and you've got a policeman at your door."

But disarming the police wouldn't work in the United States, he said, citing differences in historical development of the two countries as a reason.

"Americans have been carrying guns since this country originated," he said, "using them to fend off Indians and protect their land. England is altogether different." In addition to being an older nation with stricter rules, he said, "police have the pride and respect of the people."

In America, he said, "You just don't seem to appreciate the man on the beat. They're doing the best they can, but they just don't seen to be appreciated."

Being that man on the beat is the other major difference between working in London and in Marin, Nightingale said.

And he thinks that one of the reasons police are more appreciated in London is the fact that there are more men walking beats.

"The policeman on the beat — he's around all the time. He gets to know all the people on his beat," Nightingale said, adding that the people feel they have greater protection.

"But how can you possibly have beat men in Marin County?" he asked. "It just wouldn't work," he said, especially in the unincorporated areas of the county covered by the sheriff's office because of the hills and distances involved.

Although he thinks there is "no better police force in the world than London's," he left it because of low pay, bad weather and his disagreement with Harold Wilson's Labor government.

Nightingale worked for 30 months, beginning in 1957, and another 30 months, beginning in 1962 as a London bobby — a nickname derived from the name of Robert Peel who founded the Metropolitan Police Force of London in 1839.

In between the two periods, he worked 18 months on the Calgar police force, but found walking through snow in the winter for eight hours was worse than London's weather.

He came to the United States in 1965, but had to wait five years until he became a U.S. citizen before he was eligible to join the sheriff's department or any other police agency.

But he didn't let his experience go to waste or go stale; he spent the interim as a private detective in San Francisco.

29,000-Acre Park Bill Would Encompass Marin

Mailliard Calls His Proposal A 'Compromise'

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A bill to create a Golden Gate National Recreation Area and designed to reduce military resistance to its creation was introduced in the House yesterday by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

While Mailliard's measure would include lands almost identical to those proposed in recent bills by Sen. Alan Cranston and Rep. Philip Burton, D-Fifth District, it is seen as a "compromise proposal" to allay Sixth Army fears of losing control of the Presidio.

The bill would leave the Army in control of Fort Mason and the Presidio on the San Francisco side of the bay, but would turn over to Interior military lands on the Marin Headlands — including Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkhite.

Although Mailliard's measure would leave the Presidio in Army ownership, it is the only park bill which proposes to include all of the Presidio in the recreation area. "We have included the entire Presidio since the Army has long maintained that the Presidio is an open post and a park," a spokesman for Mailliard explained.

The Cranston and Burton bills would exclude from the national park portions of the Presidio now used by Sixth Army headquarters and Letterman Hospital, with the provision that such land should be added to the recreation area if the Army ever abandons it.

The bill directs secretaries of Interior and Defense to negotiate their respective needs for military and park use and also calls for a halt to further construction or development on open spaces and undeveloped land in the recreation area without specific approval from the Secretary of the Interior.

By allowing the Department of Defense to retain title to the Presidio, (which would still be included in the park), Mailliard said his bill "differs greatly" from the Cranston and Burton approaches.

Both Burton's and Cranston's measures ask that approximately 550 acres of the 1,588-acre Presidio be relinquished by the Secretary of Defense and turned over to Interior.

"My bill attempts to reconcile the difference between the two departments of government," Mailliard said. "It establishes an owner-tenant relationship between the primary agencies and gives both departments bargaining positions for lands to be used by each other in their respective areas.

If the Army intends, for example, to continue to use portions of Fort Baker in Marin (which would be owned by Interior), it would have to bargain and release certain of its San Francisco lands to Interior for the park.

The approximately 29,000-acre park envisioned by the Mailliard proposal would stretch in an unbroken sweep from Fort Funston in San Francisco to the Point Reyes National Seashore in Marin and would include federal, state, local and private properties.

Among the federally owned lands to be included — whatever department may have title — are Forts Miley, Funston and Mason, the Marin forts, Alcatraz Island and all of the Presidio.

State-owned recreation areas proposed are Seal Rocks State Park, Phelan Beach, the San Francisco Maritime Museum, the Marin Headlands State Park and Angel Island. The Burton and Cranston bills do not include Alcatraz or Angel islands, a Mailliard spokesman noted.

Private properties in San Francisco and Marin which Mailliard proposes for the park are the Olema Valley, Duxbury Reef in Bolinas, the Witter, Green Gulch and Slide ranches and other privately owned lands on Marin's western seashore necessary to connect the recreation area with state parks and the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Fort Point in San Francisco and Muir Woods in Marin would be part of the national park, but remain under present status as national monuments.

Frank A. Quinn, San Francisco chairman of People for a Golden Gate National Recreation Area, expressed disappointment at the concession to the Army, believing that "those Presidio lands not vital to operation of Sixth Army headquarters and Letterman should go immediately to the Interior Department.

"We do not feel the Army has cared for the Presidio properly; there has been much development on the post in recent years and people do not consider an Army-owned Presidio as a place they can go for recreation purposes."

Acquisition of lands for the proposed park can be through donation, exchange of property, purchase with donated funds or appropriation, according to the congressman's measure. However, he said all lands now owned by California or its political subdivision (cities and counties) cannot be purchased, but must be donated.

A public hearing on the proposed recreation area will be conducted in San Francisco Aug. 9 by the House Interior subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation in Room 1194 of the State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Persons wishing to testify should notify the committee, whose chairman is Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., by Monday.

$800,000 Creek Work From House

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Corte Madera Creek flood control work has been allotted $800,000 in fiscal 1972-73 public works funding approved this week by the House of Representatives.

The money will finance completion of the project from the Ross Post office to near the San Anselmo city limits, on schedule but subject to local decisions, according to Army Corps of Engineers and Marin County flood control spokesmen.

Other Marin County projects funded by the House action included a $15,000 survey of navigational improvements needed for Bolinas Beach erosion problems and a $10,000 survey of navigational improvements needed for Bolinas Channel.

Novato Creek and its tributaries have been targeted for a $20,000 continuation of studies on flood control proposals, including possible diversion of Novato Creek runoff into Warner Creek, to meet Novato citizens' objections to concrete channel treatment of Novato Creek.

Corte Madera Del Presidio Creek and other Richardson Bay stream plans were voted $25,000 for continuing studies including possible diversion of runoff through a conduit along Miller Avenue.

Blue Movie Magnate Arrested in Marin

Alex de Renzy, described by San Francisco police as the pioneer promoter of off-color stag movies in the Bay Area, was arrested yesterday at his hilltop estate in San Rafael.

According to San Rafael police, the 35-year-old De Renzy was picked up at 1:30 p.m. on a San Francisco warrant alleging four counts of showing blue movies at his theater in the Tenderloin.

Capt. Gerald Shaughnessy, head of San Francisco's vice squad, said today the manager of the theater, Thomas Hoffman, 23, of San Francisco, was arrested on one count.

De Renzy told a San Francisco newspaper yesterday he has been arrested 18 times in the last three and a half years on similar charges but never has been convicted.

His first film, "Pornography in Denmark" reportedly made him more than $1.5 million.

De Renzy lives at 1 Highland Avenue and is owner of the Screening Room.

He was booked into Marin County Jail on the misdemeanor charges and was released on $3,000 bail. His case will be heard in San Francisco courts.

Man Found Dead In Motel Room

A 26-year-old San Francisco medical student was found dead in a Mill Valley motel room yesterday, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, the Marin County Coroner's Office reported.

Benjamin Arthur Uram was found about 1:30 p.m. at the Fireside Motel on Shoreline Highway by the motel manager who went to check his room. The coroner's office said the man, who had checked into the motel Wednesday afternoon, was discovered on the bed with a gunshot wound in his head. A .38 caliber revolver was found beside him and a note was discovered in a briefcase in the room.

Uram was a student at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Caroline.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley.

Building Ban Issue Moving Into Courts

A temporary stay lifting the building ban in Southern Marin will be sought next week in Marin Superior Court.

Saul M. Weingarten, attorney for developers and real estate interests appealing the ban imposed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board, told the Independent-Journal today that a temporary stay would take about two weeks to obtain if his petition were successful. The ban was ordered against the City of Mill Valley and Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

The State Water Resources Control Board rejected his appeal late Wednesday, a step Weingarten said "cleared the decks of red tape to get the matter before the courts." The Seaside attorney noted that he had carried appeals of 12 other building bans imposed by regional boards, and that in all but one he had won relief for his clients.

A similar ban was imposed on much of the Ross Valley, and directors of Ross Valley Sanitary District are to consider appealing it to the state board. District directors will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at 12 Library Place, San Anselmo.

Three Plead Innocent To Resisting Police Officers

Three Marin City residents arrested after a battle with sheriff's deputies last Friday pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a variety of charges.

Preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday for Frederick Washington, 25, Anthony Ray Smith, 19, and Wilbur Smith, 21, all charged with felony counts of resisting officers and misdemeanor counts of disturbing the peace.

Washington is also charged with assault with a deadly weapon, battery against an officer, exhibiting a deadly weapon, assault and three counts of battery.

The men were arrested late Friday after sheriff's deputies received a report that Washington had struck three women at a Marin City restaurant.

When deputies went to arrest him, he attempted to escape and was assisted by a crowd, including the Smith brothers, which threw rocks and bottles at deputies and shouted obscenities.

One deputy was struck in the head by a bottle during the scuffle and required treatment at Marin General Hospital.

When Washington was finally put into a patrol car he pulled a knife and threatened deputies until the knife was knocked from his hands when the patrol car arrived at Marin County Jail.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

George Edward Myers, 24, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary. Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Myers was arrested Wednesday when San Rafael police found him at the home of William Savage, 4 Knight Drive.

MIRACLE MILE

Unusual opportunity to purchase income producing property in this popular area. Two tenants - one on lease at $550 per month; the other now pays $475 per month expiring September 1st, making space available for owner/user. However, second tenant wants to renew and prime tenant wants to take over whole building. The terms are flexible and the price negotiable. Asking $150,000.

FRANCISCO EAST

Approximately 36,000 sq. ft. of land, 26,000 of which is improved. Property has been used successfully as a Rock Concert hall and this is probably its highest and best use. However, not too much imagination is needed to visualize a number of additional and related sources of income, such as record sales, musical instruments, poster shop, hi-fi equipment, etc. Terms are 29% down, balance 3 to 5 years at 7% interest. Price: $450,000.

Billy Graham Draws Many Off Streets

OAKLAND (UPI) —Evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday that street people and commune dwellers are being converted by the thousands during his current crusade.

"One girl told us that the other night in one of the communes a prayer meeting took place instead of the usual sex orgy." Graham told a youth night crowd at the Oakland Coliseum.

The evangelist said "scores of those coming to receive Christ every night were street people from Berkeley and other areas. Many have been converted from the communes."

Graham, who drew about 30,000 persons nightly during the first seven innings of his 10-night crusade, said 70 to 80 per cent of those attending were under 25.

"A few years ago one of the Beatles, John Lennon, said that the Beatles were more popular than Jesus Christ," he said. "Now the Beatles have broken up and one of them, George Harrison, is singing, 'My Sweet Lord.'"

He said that the "straights" and "far outs" were finding common ground in religion.

Thursday night's rally drew 44,500. An estimated 2,800 came forward after the meeting to inquire further into Graham's teachings.

Cal Chancellor Sees Education Hurt By Budget

BERKELEY (UPI)—The acting chancellor of the University of California campus said Thursday that state budget cuts would hurt the quality of teaching even more than previously expected.

Robert E. Connick said support for instruction will be down 7.7 per cent or $3.1 million, and research funds 9.1 per cent or $800,000 from the previous year.

"These two slashes in state support of the university's primary work are a great fiscal shock," Connick said. "They will hurt the quality of teaching here even though we are working to reduce their impact."

The Berkeley campus' 1971-72 budget was received by the university Thursday and amounted to $71.9 million, down from $73.8 million last year and $75.6 million the year before.

Civilian Use Of AFB On Agenda

The Marin Aviation Commission will meet next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Novato City Hall instead of at the Civic Center.

Chairman Herbert M. Hanson announced that the aviation commissioners will meet jointly with the Novato City Council to discuss the Air Force's offer to open Hamilton Air Force Base to limited civilian use.

Since the Novato councilmen will meet in Novato City Hall that night, the aviation commissioners decided to meet in Novato to accommodate the Novato officials, who want information on the proposed joint use of Hamilton.

Fairfax To Study Ban

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night set Aug. 10 for an adjourned meeting to discuss legal implications of the building ban imposed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

According to Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, the commission has asked that representatives of the Ross Valley Sanitary District and the water quality board attend.

She said the commission last night wondered about the effect on its duties and obligations under the ban imposed until the sanitary district improves treatment of sewage.

In other action, the board continued to August 26 Canon Village's request for rezoning 90 acres near Meadowland on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Canon Village, proposed by Janic Development Corp. of San Rafael, is a 137-unit townhouse and condominium development.

Fourth Judge Bill Goes To Assembly

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation giving Marin a fourth municipal court judge was approved unanimously today by the Senate and sent to the Assembly.

The bill, SB 1051 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The fourth judgeship would be created as of Jan. 1.

Juvenile Delinquency Unit Vetoes Merger

Marin's juvenile delinquency prevention commissioners decided yesterday they do not want to merge with the juvenile justice commission at this time because they can see no clear-cut advantage to such a merger.

Commissioners, headed by Chairman James J. Upshaw, asked the Marin County Board of Supervisors to fill two vacancies on the commission and reappoint these four commissioners whose terms expired on June 30: Maryann Garthwaite, Gary Giacomini, Cecelia Michael, and Richard Oesterman.

The commissioners want all 11 posts filled by next month so that they can meet at a retreat on Sept. 8 a 1:30 p.m. at the Nicasio home of Natalie Lewis. A consultant will be hired for up to $175 to lead the discussion at that retreat so that the commission can embark on an action program for delinquency prevention.

The Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission also:

WORKSHOP — Decided to ask the Marin County supervisors to postpone a joint meeting set for Sept. 14 to either Sept. 28 or Oct. 5.

PLEASURE FAIRE — Decided to ask Novato City Council not to let the Elizabethan Pleasure Faire operate in Novato during the Oct. 2 weekend because that would conflict with the annual fund-raising event of Sunnyhills.

PROGRAMS — Asked Youth Coordinator L. Charles Smith and Gerald Green to draw up a list of ongoing programs which the commission could support in an effective way. Among programs mentioned were Center Point, Reach Out, Big Brothers, and Squires. and Squires.

MEETING — Decided not to meet in August because too many commissioners will be on vacation. Next meeting will be the Sept. 8 retreat.

Claims Freedom Of Information Act Is Violated

WASHINGON (UPI)—The House has refused to stop a controversial underground nuclear explosion which some congressmen fear might cause earthquakes and tidal waves.

Rep. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, charged that the White House violated the Freedom of Information Act by refusing to release reports which she said recommend cancellation or postponement of the blast. But the House voted 282 to 108 Thursday against scrapping the test.

The five megaton underground nuclear explosion is scheduled to be set off on Amchitka Island in the Aleutians to test a warhead for the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

EMOTIONS THE KEY

Stars Vs. Colts Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI)—Emotions of the rival teams should be the deciding factor tonight when the 1971 College All Stars and National Football League champion Baltimore Colts meet in the 38th All Star game, to be nationally televised, (6:30, Channel 7), on Soldier Field's new astroturf field.

The Colts, winners in both previous appearances in the game, were favored to win by two touchdowns or more. But Blanton Collier, the former Cleveland Browns coach directing the All Stars for the first time, believed his team could be emotionally ready to give the Colts startling opposition.

"We think we have good personnel," Collier said, "but yo can't tell about the mental and emotional preparation. We'll know about that at game time. If we're ready emotionally, we think we could give them a good time."

Don McCafferty, coach of the Colts, had the same attitude. "We want to win," he said. "I think our team will be ready emotionally because it's the first game of the season, and the All Star game means a lot to them."

Weather forecasters anticipated a pleasant night for the contest with a temperature in the low 70's or perhaps in the 60's by kickoff time, scheduled for 8:30 p.m. (CDT). Showers were expected in the morning, but were expected to cease during the afternoon, causing no problem with the artificial turf. A crowd near the capacity of 52,000 was expected.

Soldier Field has been renovated since the last All Star game in order to become the home field of the Chicago Bears. New seats have been installed and the lighting improved,probably insuring a better picture on the TV screen for the viewers of ABC network. There will be radio broadcast only on the Colts' network.

Both coaches were expected to test their running game early in the contest and stick with it, if the ground game works. But both will have passing combinations ready for the "bomb," or to try to pullout a win if the running can be contained.

The Colts will start Earl Morrall at quarterback with Eddie Hinton and Ray Perkins at wide receivers and Tom Matte and Norm Bulaich to carry the running. For the All Stars Jim Plunkett of Stanford, the Heisman trophy winner, will be the starting quarterback with Dan Pastorini of Santa Clara and Chuck Hixson of Southern Methodist in reserve.

All Star running backs at the start will be Mike Adamle of Northwestern and John Brockington of Ohio State with Elmo Wright of Houston and J.D. Hill of Arizona State in the wide receiver posts.

WANTS TO TALK TERMS WITH 49ERS

Anderson Way Behind Schedule

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI) — Very seldom does the top draft choice of a professional football team fail to earn a spot on the squad.

It could happen this year with the San Francisco 49ers.

The top choice in the most recent player draft by San Francisco was Tim Anderson, a defensive back out of Ohio State. Anderson still hasn't reported to the 49ers training camp here because he wants more money

Realizing he may be negotiating himself out of a job, Anderson personally contacted the 49er front office this week and said he wants to resume contract talks.

Friends say Anderson is getting a little nervous because he has missed nearly three weeks of training and his Ohio State teammate and pal, Jack Tatum, has signed with the Oakland Raiders.

At the present time, there are 69 players on the roster of the 49ers. Anderson is one of 11 players listed as a conerback or safety.

The four starters a year ago —Jimmy Johnson, Bruce Taylor, Roosevelt Taylor and Mel Phillips —are all in camp and ready to play. In addition, returning veterans Alvin Randolph and Johnny Fuller are trying to scrap their way into the starting secondary.

Other defensive backs trying to win spots on the roster are veteran Mike Simpson and rookie Dave Walker, Jack Burns and Mike Palmer.

"It's going to be very tough for Anderson when he does report because he's so far behind," says head coach Dick Nolan.

Nolan said Thursday he will keep anywhere from five to seven defensive backs, depending on the ability of the athletes involved.

"We're satisfied with our secondary without Anderson," says Nolan. "But we know he's a good athlete. All the time he's away, he's missing a lot of things that he'll have to learn."

Nolan said that even if Anderson were to report right now, he still wouldn't be ready to play in the 49ers opening exhibition game against Cleveland Aug. 8 at Candlestick Park.

The 49ers will practice twice Friday in final preparation for a special intra-squad scrimmage Saturday night at UC Santa Barbara.

Cardinals, Brewers In Trade

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals Thursday sent outfielder Jose Cardenal, infielder Dick Schofield and pitcher Bob Reynolds to the Milwaukee Brewers for shortstop Ted Kubiak and pitcher Charles Loseth.

Cardenal has hit .243 so far this season for St. Louis. Schofield, in his third tour of duty with the Cardinals, had been sent to their Tulsa farm club earlier this season. They will report to the Brewers. Reynolds, acquired from the Montreal Expo organization June 15 for pitcher Mike Torrez, had no record for the Cards and had an earned-run average of 10.29 in three appearances. He will report to Milwaukee's Evansville farm club.

Kubiak was batting .230 this season with three home runs and 17 runs batted in. He was expected to join the Cardinals in Philadelphia. Loseth, 5-6 this season with Milwaukee's farm clubs at Danville and Raleigh-Durham, will go to the Cardinals' St. Petersburg club in the Florida State League.

Curt Flood Hit With $28,000 Bill

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Former major-league baseball player Curt Flood has been ordered to pay a judgment of $27,407 plus $750 in attorney fees by a federal judge for defaulting on a promissory note.

U.S. District Judge William H. Webster ordered Flood and his business associate William M. Jones to pay the judgment Wednesday. Flood and Jones bought a photographic specialty business, later named Curt Flood Studios, from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foster of suburban Kirkwood.

The Fosters, now residents of Orange County, Fla., sued Flood and Jones when payment on the note was not made in full when it came due in Mary. Flood alleged in a countersuit that the Fosters misrepresented facts concerning their assets and the contract at the time of the sale. His countersuit was dismissed.

Flood, with the St. Louis Cardinals at the time of the transaction, quit the Washington Senators this season and is reportedly living in Europe.

Decision Due On Warriors

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Time's awastin' for owner Franklin Mieuli to decide where his professional basketball team will play this coming winter.

He is supposed to submit a tentative 1971-72 schedule to a meeting of the board of governors of the National basketball Association on Monday.

Today Mieuli was supposed to meet here with Pete Graham, a financier from Vancouver, B.C., who recently became leaseholder of the San Diego Arena where the Rockets played before they moved to Houston.

Mieuli is thinking of changing his team's name to the Golden State Warriors and playing a maximum of 20 games in San Diego and the rest of the home schedule in the Oakland Coliseum.

The Warrior owner, who has been losing money the past few seasons with the Warriors in San Francisco, apparently feels a change of scenery will bring more paying customers into the arenas.

"I guess you have to sympathize with Franklin losing money," said Warriors coach Al Attles. "But playing games in two cities isn't going to do the team any good.

"Giving away any advantage in this league, even the smallest thing, can only hurt you. You need all the help you can get."

Most of the Warrior players also looked with dismay upon the possibility of dividing their home schedule between two cities nearly 500 miles apart.

Blue's 20th Win Attempt In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Lucky Baltimore. Unlucky Cleveland.

Steady showers in Baltimore Thursday did something that few other teams have been able to do—stop Vida Blue. The ace lefthander was ready to go for his 20th win on television against the Orioles but Mother Nature made a wet interruption.

After a wait of more than 30 minutes, the Orioles managment told a nearly sellout crowd it was no go. There's a possibility the game will be made up on Aug. 19, an open date, when the A's wind up another eastern swing.

A's manager Dick Williams was hoping Blue, who has lost three games, could turn the tide against the Orioles. Baltimore has whipped Oakland the last six times the division leaders met.

The rainout means Blue will open the four-game weekend series in Cleveland tonight. Alan Foster (5-10) probably will twirl for the Indians.

On Monday and Tuesday nights, the A's will be at Kansas City before returning home for a brief six-game Coliseum stand against Milwaukee and the Chicago White Sox.

Rain Washes Out PGA Golf Opener

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI) — Rain washed out the scheduled opening round of the PGA team championship Thursday, but it may have given a boost to the chances of defending champions Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

Nicklaus, who returned to the pro tour at the Westchester Classic last week after a month's layoff, has been bothered by an eye infection and said the extra day of rest would probably do him some good.

"The Pro-am yesterday (wednesday) was the first time I didn't have blurred vision in a week," Nicklaus said. "That's a good sign. It feels better every day."

The "Golden Bear" tied for ninth at Westchester, where Palmer won the $50,000 top prize, and aside from the aching eye the pair came into this tournament primed to shoot for their third team victory in five tries.

But officials, waiting 3½ hours after halting play early in the day, decided the Laurel Valley golf club course was not fit for further use.

"Even after moving the cups couple of times, seven of the greens were still under water," explained tournament director Ed Carter as he announced the postponement.

The 64 two-man teams will try again today to get started, but the U. S. weather service was not too optimistic.

Alvin Dark Fired As Indians' Skipper

Replaced By Coach John Lipon

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians today fired Alvin Dark as field manager and replaced him with coach Johnny Lipon for the remainder of the season.

Dark was signed to a five-year contract in 1969 to run through the 1973 season at about $60,000 a year.

The Indians reportedly offered Dark aspot in the organization but he rejected it. Dark is a former San Francisco Giant manager.

The Indians are in last place in the American League East 22 games behind league leading Baltimore.

Dark was given added responsibilities two years ago when owner Vernon Stouffer reorganized the front office. Even though Gabe Paul had the title, Dark did many of the duties of general manager including the responsibility for all field personnel—signing them to contracts, trading them, firing them or sending them back to the minors.

Stouffer said Dark was fired because "there needed to be a definite improvemnt and more unity in the organization.

"The decision was very difficult to make and it has been on our minds for sometime," said Stouffer.

Paul said he felt Lipon would be a "vital part" of the Indians organization and would sit in on most decisions.

"The staff is a very important thing," said Paul. "There should be a utilization of ideas and thoughts. There must be a meetinf of the minds. It is the only sensible way to operate."

Liponsaid he was pretty well satisfied with the present Indians personnel.

In other doubles play, Betsy Nagelson of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Lele Farood of Miami downed Sue Boyle and Robin Harris of Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, and fifth seeded Laurie Tenney of Los Angeles and Gretchen Galt of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7-5, 6-4.

Giants, Pirates In 4-Game Set

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Three days ago when the Atlanta Braves came to town, San Francisco manager Charlie Fox said he would gladly settle for six victories in his team's next nine games.

When the Braves left San Francisco Thursday they had beaten the Giants in two of the three games they played with the National League West pacesetters, including a 4-2 victory Thursday. Now, the Pittsburgh Pirates, runaway leaders in the N.L. East, are in San Francisco for four weekend games and the Los Angeles Dodgers follow them in for two more contests. Either Gaylord Perry or Don Carrithers will be the Giant opener tonight.

"Five victories in the nine games will suit me just fine," Fox said Thursday after Ron Reed, a tall, angular "junk" pitcher, had stopped the Giants on six scattered hits, only four of which were solid blows.

Gaylor Perry, who seems to have solved his early season pitching problems, hurls tonight's opening game against the Pirates, who will start with Steve Blass. Don Carrithers will pitch against Bob Johnson on Saturday and Juan Marichal and Frank Reberger will work against the Pirates' Bob Moose and Dock Ellis in Sunday's big doubleheader.

Does Fox view the four games with the Pirates as an important series?

"Every game and series is important," said Fox. "We're at the stage in the season where we can't think of any series being more important than another. We just have to take them one at a time, as corny as that sounds, and hope for the best."

The Giants fielded their strongest team Thursday against Reed but it hardly made a difference as he teased the Giants into submission with an assortment of letups and "lollipop" curves. Only Chris Speier, with a lone homer to left in the sixth, and Willie McCovey, with a 400 foot drive to deep center which was caught, managed to get solid wood on the ball against Reed, who picked up his 11th victory in 18 decisions and second over San Francisco this year.

Meanwhile, the Braves reached Ron Bryant, Jerry Johnsonand Don McMahon for 11 hits. Two of the blows were bases-empty homers by Zoilo Versalles, who had hit only one homer in 36 previous games this year.

Versalles' homers and a run-scoring single by Hank Aaron were the key blows for the Braves as Bryant went down to his seventh defeat in 14 decisions. The young lefthander now has been without a victory since June 26 although he has

Final Round Today In Marin Net Play

Leslie Airola and Sue Beatty, Marin County girls trying for double wins in singles competition, each was eliminated in one age group, then hung on to survive in another yesterday as the Marin County Junior Hardcourt Championships at the Mill Valley Tennis Club moved into its final day.

Miss Airola, of Tiburon, was defeated in straight 6-3 sets by No. 1 seed Carolyn Ishii in girls 18, but then triumphed over Miss Beatty of Tiburon in girls 16 by the same score.

Miss Beatty, eliminated from the 16's, fought back to take a tough 6-4, 7-5 decision over Milly Morris to move into the girls 14 finals today.

Debbie Cator of Sacramento remained alive in both girls 18 and 16 as she defeated Nancy Zaro and Joy Hahn to gain both finals.

In Boys 16, Dan Tierney of Tiburon triumphed over Rory Federico, and then teamed with Eric Lee of San Francisco to breeze into the boys 16 doubles finals.

Braves Exploiting Giants' Weakness

Find a weakness and exploit it. It's a maxim of all sports. Boxers look for defensive flaws in opponents. Tennis players love to discover a weak backhand on the other side of the net. Football teams probe opposing lines for soft spots. And baseball teams are quick to bunt on a first baseman with an ailing knee.

The word is out in the National League: bunt on Willie McCovey. Four times the Braves bunted in their Candlestick series opener this week against the Giant first baseman whose damaged left knee has sharply curtailed his mobility.

TWO OF THE bunts were sacrifice situations. Still, one of them went for a hit. The two other occasions definitely were not sacrifice attempts. One of them was a two-out drag bunt by Ralph Garr, a road-runner who had three hits in the game.

Garr's bunt didn't go for a hit but one by Mike Lum, in a sacrifice setup, did. It advanced into scoring position an all-important run for the Braves in a 4-3 decision.

NOW, IT ISN'T unusual for a speedster who can handle a bat like Garr to try for a bunt hit. But his two-out bunt against McCovey was definitely designed to exploit McCovey's restricted mobility.

The Braves didn't bunt against McCovey when the Giants visited Atlanta just after the All-Star break. There was a good reason. McCovey wasn't in the lineup during the three-game series in Atlanta. But the Reds bunted against him in Cincinnati and so did the Pirates in Pittsburgh during the last road trip.

THE GIANTS need McCovey's big bat in their pennant drive. And they also need his stretching glove saves of wide throws to first base. But he still is on a day-to-day basis as a lineup starter. Some days his left knee acts up so painfully that it's impossible for him to play.

If McCovey is in shape for the forthcoming weekend series with the Pirates and the two-game set next Monday night and Tuesday afternoon against the Dodgers, especially the Dodgers, are going to do more than the usual bunting along the first base line.

THAT IS precisely what the Giants would do if either the Pirates or Dodgers had a hobbled first baseman.

Giant pitchers must be extremely alert from now on for the bunt, not just in obvious sacrifice situations but whenever competent bunters like Maury Wills are at bat.

Giant pitchers must be ready to give McCovey a bit of extra help. After all, the big fellow rates it. He's been a pretty good friend of pitchers through the years, booming game-winning homers for them.

Raider Veteran Hangs 'Em Up

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI)— Veteran tight end Jacque MacKinnon has retired from the Oakland Raiders to run a natural foods store in San Diego.

"I had planned to play this year, but the business opportunity was just too good to pass up," said the 32-year-old receiver who has played in the pros for 10 years with San Diego, Green Bay and Oakland.

He was a starter for the first four games of the 1970 season until rookie Raymond Chester took over.

"In a year or two, Raymond will make them forget all the tight ends in football," said MacMunnon.

Coaching Is Rough Business

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The latest casualty list released by the Washington Redskins' camp contains the unlikely name of George Allen.

Allen, the Redkins' new coach, suffered a broken rib Thursday when defensive back Speedy Duncan crashed into him from behind as the coach was watching a passing drill.

Allen divided his squad into two groups for passing practice and was busy watching one group when Duncan, playing safety for the second group, slammed into him. Allen was "knocked sprawling all over the place", according to a club spokesman. He remained for the conclusion of the practice and precautionary X-rays afterwards revealed a broken rib.

The 49-year-old coach took the incident lightly, calling it a possible good luck charm. Allen said he suffered a broken hand before taking over Los Angeles in 1966 and that club won eight games. "A broken rib ought to be worth 10 victories," he said.

Elsewhere in the training camps, a crowd of 34,462 watched the Green Bay offense overwhelm the Packers' defense 44-0 in the club's annual intrasquad game. Rookie quarterback Scott Hunter of Alabama threw two touchdown passes and hit for 7-of-15 passes for 117 yards. Gary Lane threw for one score and Frank Patrick plunged over for another as new coach Dan Devine drilled his quarterback corps in an effort to find a successor to injured Bart Starr.

Running back Duane Thomas, who verbally blasted the Dallas organization last week, showed up at the Cowboys' camp Thursday and immediately demanded to be traded.

Thomas, who is demanding $80,000, met for an hour with General Manager Tex Schramm and Coach Tom Landry before leaving. He led the Cowboys' in rushing as a rookie last season and is demanding that the Cowboys rip up his three-year contract and renegotiate.

pitched well at least three times.

"I'm not discouraged because I know I'm pitching well," Bryant said, "but when you go without a victory in over a month you start wondering if you'll ever get one again."

Fox isn't worried about Bryant.

"Bryant will pitch on Tuesday against the Dodgers after John Cumberland opens the LA series on Monday," Fox said. "Ron hasn't been lucky lately, that's all. He's pitched well enough to win at least three games. I'm not worried about him."

Another 1-Run Win For Tigers

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Billy Martin, who likes to pull rabbits out of hats and change sure-losses into unbelievable victories, said the right words again Thursday night.

Martin's Detroit Tigers responded with four runs in the ninth Thursday night to beat the Kansas City Royals 10-9, the third straight time they have beaten the Royals by one run.

Tuesday night Detroit took an 11-inning game from Kansas City when Aurelio Rodriguez walked with the bases loaded to force in the winning run and Wednesday night Gates Brown and Al Kaline each smashed two-run homers in the ninth to transform a 7-4 deficit into an 8-7 victory.

Thursday night it was more of the same as pitcher Fred Scherman stepped to the plate with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth, after singles by Brown, Kaline and Jim Northrup, a walk and a hit batsman had tied the game. Scherman was hit by a 3-2 pitch and the winning run came home.

In other American League action, Chicago blanked New York 4-0, Milwaukee blitzed Boston 3-0 and California ran over Cleveland 7-2. Rain forced postponement of the Washington-Minnesota and Oakland-Baltimore games.

Chicago's Tom Bradley scattered nine hits for his fourth shutout of the year and was backed by home runs by Tom Egan and Bill Melton as he evened his record to 9-9.

Marty Pattin fired a four-hit shutout and Bill Voss belted a fourth inning homer to lead the Brewers over the Red Sox.

Ken McMullen and Billy Cowan banged out home runs and Eddie Fisher hurled two-hit ball over the final 4-2-3 innings in the Angels' victory over Cleveland.

No-Hitter Paces Jacobsen To Win

Dan George tossed a no-hit, no-run game, and Jess Wiles and Art Myers blasted back-to-back home runs last night, as Jacobsen Machine Shop blanked The Bar, 8-0 in an adult league softball game in San Rafael.

In another game, Perry's Delicatessen shut out Cain's Tire also by an 8-0 score, on the pitching and hitting of Gary Swarm. Winning pitcher Swarm limited Cain's to three singles, struck out 10, and hit a home run to top off his near-perfect evening.

In the other game last night, Trowbridge outlasted Glue Gloves, 12-10.

Padre Hurler Throttles Reds

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Lady luck finally seems to be smiling on Dave Roberts.

Roberts, ho has pitched well but received little support this season, finally got some backing Thursday night as the San Diego Padres pounded out 13 hits enroute to a 5-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Roberts allowed only five hits, two in the opening inning when Cincinnati scored its only run, as he dropped his earned-run average to 2.15, best among National League starters.

The little left-hander needed only 83 pitches to stop the powerful Red attack and also singled in a run.

The Reds jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first on Pete Rose's single and Lee May's double but the Padres bounced back with two on the third on Enzo Hernandez' walk and doubles by Dave Campbell and Nate Colbert. Hernandez and Roberts singled in runs in the sixth and consecutive doubles by Hernand and Campbell gave San Diego its fifth run in the eighth.

The victory was only the eighth against 13 losses for Roberts.

In the only other National League games scheduled, Atlanta beat San Francisco 4-2, St. Louis downed New York 3-1 in an eight-inning, rain-shortened game and Pittsburgh bombed Los Angeles 8-5.

Matty Alou's two-run triple off centerfielder Don Hahn's glove lifted St. Louis over the Mets. The Cardinals broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth when Dal Maxvill singled, Jose Cruz walked and Alou tripled. The victory moved St. Louis past the idle Cubs into second place in the NL East.

Gene Clines and Bob Robertson homered during a six-run sixth inning burst and Willie Stargell added his 33rd homer of the year as the Pirates rallied to beat Los Angeles. The Dodgers led 4-1 in he sixth when Manny Sanguillen doubled and Robertson hit his 21st homer. Singles by Jackie Hernandez and pinch-hitters Dave Cash and Vic Davalillo produced another run and Clines followed with his first major league homer.

FISH AND GAME

Conservationists Vs. Protectionists

By AL GIDDINGS

Here is a most important statement released this past week by the California Fish and Game Commission that I would like to pass along to you:

It is consistent with our responsibility as fish and game commissioners that we should "sound the alarm" on a serious threat to the sound management of that wildlife which has been entrusted to our care.

OPPONENTS of all sport hunting are now combining forces and unleashing a vigorous campaign to convince the public and their elected representatives that "complete protection" is necessary for the perpetuation of our wildlife resources — that conservation is synonymous with complete protection — that hunting and pollution are partners in the destruction of the environment.

Conservation and "complete protection" are not the same. Conservation implies management and, through management, the balancing of the species with its everchanging environment.

"COMPLETE protection" ignores decades of wildlife management experience and, therefore, the vital scientific approach to perpetuation of all our fish and game.

With the widespread public interest in environmental matters and a general consensus that man has been derelict in protecting the quality of his environment, it follows that the public is receptive to the "prophets of doom" who falsely forecast the extinction of certain game species because of hunting.

For game species, controlled hunting has proven to be an effective management tool. Contrary to the shrill arguments of protectionist groups, properly regulated hunting cannot lead to the extinction or even the endangering of any species. None of the hunted species under modern fish and game management programs has ever become extinct or endangered.

IN THE EARLY 1900s protectionists predicted the annihilation of species such as valley quail, gray squirrels, antelope, mule deer, sage grouse, wood ducks and band-tailed pigeons because of hunting pressure.

Sportsmen's fees are annually expended by the Department for the protection and enhancement of our fish and wildlife. Of this about $1 million in sportsmen's license fees are expended annually for programs not directly involving game species.

All indications are that management programs by the Department for protection and preservation of all nongame species, including those in the rare and endangered categories, will be successful.

IN SUMMARY, what protectionists often ignore or conveniently forget is that in dealing with wildlife there is no absolute safety solely in numbers. Reasonable consumptive use has no detrimental effect on wildlife and in many cases is highly beneficial. Probably, there would be no increase in California wildlife today if hunting had been totally banned years ago. In fact, there would be far less, since the sportsmen's license and permit fees have been the only state funds available for wildlife conservation. California's taxpayers, as such, contribute no money for this purpose. The protectionists fallacious line is that firearms are inherently evil and that hunters are borderline psychotics, compensating for personal inadequacies. Their technique is to first demand a moratorium on hunting of a certain animal, next insist on its "total protection," and, thereby, one by one, eliminate all animals from the game species classification.

We therefore call upon all conservationists, including the Governor, legislators and citizens to rapidly unite in a campaign to demand the continued scientific management of our renewable wildlife resources. The alternative is the destruction of our wildlife resources through the loss of existing sound management programs as well as the end to all recreational hunting in California.

Mac Foster Wins On A Knockout

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Returning from a four-month layoff, once-beaten Mac Foster, 221, Fresno, Calif., knocked out Billy Joiner, 198, Cincinnati, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round fight at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

It was Foster's 27th victory—and 27th knockout—in 28 starts.

Foster, 28, wore his opponent down with a body attack and knocked him out with a left hook to the jaw. It was the only knockdown of the bout.

18-Year-Old Advances In Net Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Jim Connors, the 18-year-old NCAA champion from Belleville, Ill., polished off Haroon Rahim of Pakistan in just 40 minutes Thursday to advance to the semi-finals of the $20,000 Buckeye Tennis Championships and he summed it up very well.

"I think I played exceptionally well," Connors, who won 6-3, 6-2, said. "Rahim is probably a little tired after that long match yesterday. I played smart.

"He's a strong server. I thought if I could return it I'd have a chance."

Rahim had ousted fourth-seeded Jaime Fillol of Chile in the opening round.

In other singles match of the day, Tom Gorman of Seattle defeated George Goven, France's No. 1 ranked player, 7-6, 7-6, after being forced into sudden death tie breakers in both sets.

Gorman, the sixth-ranked U.S. player and seeded second in this tournament, had to play 85 minutes to gain the win.

Pomp And Pageantry Start Off Pan-American Games

CALI, Colombia (UPI)—International sports unfurls its full pomp and pageantry today here in a sun-baked tropical valley in the Andes Mountains for the formal opening of the VI Pan-American games among a record 30 nations of the Western Hemisphere.

A total of 3,056 athletes, also a record, will compete in 24 events from Saturday through Aug. 13 with a 376-member United States team expected to mine the major share of gold, silver, and bronze medals.

But first comes the colorful opening ceremonies, scheduled to start at 5 p.m. EDT when the athletes parade into Pascual Guerrero Stadium to what promises to be a tumultuous greeting by 60,000 "calenos" and visitors to this coffee and sugar-producing valley 400 miles north of the equator.

There will be marching, singing, lighting of the Pan-American flame, 21-gun salutes, formal opening of the games by the president of Colombia, and finally the release of a host of doves signifying peace and harmony during the games.

The Colombian hosts got their first chance to cheer Thursday when the Pan-American flame arrived in Cali at the end of a journey of nearly 1,500 miles from a mountain top in Mexico. An estimated 80,000 persons lined the route of relay runners bearing the flame, following its progress on radios, and roaring with delight as it was installed in a flameholder in PanAmerican park to await its final trip to the stadium.

Track and field, always the premier competition in this olympic-style tournament, moves to the center of the stage immediately for a six-day stand when actual competition opens on Saturday—and the big question is whether the mighty "Northamericanos" can duplicate their feat of winning 22 out of a possible 24 gold medals in the 1967 games in Winnipeg, Canada.

"I don't think we can do as well as we did four years ago," admitted U.S. head track coach Alex Francis of Fort Hays, (Kans.), State.

"Because of injuries, we're hurting pretty bad as far as the short races are concerned," Francis explained. "And our 400-meter relay team has been roughed pretty well."

Any U.S. slip in track isn't expected to show on Saturday's opening program, however, when the Yanks are expected to win all three gold medals that will be decided. Favorites are world record holder Pat Matzdorf of the University of Wisconsin in the high jump, Frank Shorter of Boulder, Colo., in the 10,000 meter run, and Tim Vollmer of Poland, Ore., in the discus throw.

Saturday's opening schedule also includes competition in basketball, baseball, boxing, fencing, soccer, gymnastics, weightlifting, rowing and volley ball.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

BIG NEW BIRD — McDonnell Douglas of Long Beach delivered yesterday the first two in its series of wide-bodied, three-engine jets to American Airlines and United Airlines. This American Airlines DC-10 trijet is slated for service between Los Angeles and Chicago starting August 17. It features passenger lounges fore and aft, and galley service below the cabin deck.

McDonnell Douglas' New Trijet Series Gets Big Public Showing

LONG BEACH (UPI)—The first two of a new series of McDonnell Douglas airliners, the DC10 trijet, were delivered Thursday to American Airlines and United Airlines.

In a ceremony attended by top company and government officials, the two airlines accepted the newest commercial aircraft just 35 years after the same companies purchased the first of the famous Douglas DC3 planes.

Secor D. Browne, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, and Jack Shaffer, administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, were among the civil leaders and executives at the ceremony presided over by McDonnell Douglas board chairman James S. McDonnell.

The two planes were then flown off to their bases for training of crews prior to being placed in service next month.

The DC10 will accommodate from 230 passengers in a typical mixed first class and coach arrangement and 345 passengers in an all economy class.

The new jet is not as large as the Boeing 747 but unlike the bigger "jumbo" it can land at practically any airport including New York's close-in LaGuardia Field. It also is the competitor to Lockheed's Tristar should that company be given the support to put their new jet on the market.

Nineteen airlines have placed orders for the DC10, McDonnell Douglas said.

One special distinction of the DC10 is its cabin width of more than 18 feet.

Stocks Rise In Slow Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks rose in dull trading during the first two hours of today.

Analysts attribued the firmness to a "technical" reaction following three sessions of lower prices. They said the gloomy economic picture was still depressing activity on Wall Street.

Among the 1,385 issues traded, 612 advanced and 441 declined.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index picked up 0.20 to 96.22.

Pan American World Airways up 1-8, Chase Manhattan off 3-8, and General Telephone and Electronics off 1-8 topped the active list. Also active were U.S. Steel off ⅛, Memorex up 1⅛, Abbott Labs up 1½ and Lockheed off 1⅜.

Loew's warrants, with about 42,000 shares traded, was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the Amex were narrowly higher in light trading.

Dymo Industries To Expand In Information

BERKELEY (BW) — Dymo Industries Inc. has announced the expansion of its acitivity in the field of information transfer systems, according to Claude L. Ganz, president.

The first step in this expansion has been achieved through an agreement to acquire certain assets of AUDAC CORP. of Boston, Mass.

AUDAC has pioneered the development of terminals capable of machine reading information from plastic cards and then transmitting the information automatically to a remote computer through telephone lines.

The system has known applications for credit verification and inventory controls and is of potential use in numerous applications for security and other identification systems.

Ganz added that operationally the AUDAC products are a logical extension of Dymo's new card embossing/imprinting program and will effectively make use of Dymo's Elliott subsidiary.

The common stock of Dymo Industries is traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Mining Stocks Are Speculative

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Two years ago I bought American Silver, Nancy Lee Mines and Lee National, all of which show losses. I also have T. Rowe Price Growth Fund and Sunshine Mining Convertible Debentures; both of these are showing profits. I am now retiring and need income — what are your suggestions? — M.L.

A. In view of your retirement and apparent need for income, your portfolio is overdue for revision. As mining stocks are generally considered speculative, I first suggest sale of both American Silver and Nancy Lee Mines. Your Sunshine Mining debentures carry a rather low rating by the authorities and I feel this also should be liquidated. Lee National is too speculative for you and provides no income — sell. Retention of T. Rowe Price Growth Fund is advised, however.

Short-term notes would provide you with most satisfactory income and both issues I suggest — American Tel. & Tel. 7¾s of 1977 and Reynolds Tobacco 8⅛s of 1974 — carry quality bond ratings.

Q. Can you give me information on Electric Hose & Rubber? — S.G.

A. Although company products are sold to a wide range of industries, many of Electric Hose's markets have been hard hit by the sluggish economy. Industries served include: aerospace, automotive, construction, farm equipment, military and heavy machinery.

In the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1970, sales moved ahead marginally, while earnings dropped 26 per cent. For the current fiscal year, operating results have been even more dismal, reflecting strikes against two major customers and the continued slow business climate. Sales were off 8.3 per cent year-to-year in the nine months through May. Earnings were four cents a share compared with $1.11 in the fiscal 1970 period.

Directors voted in mid-June to slash the dividend from 25 cents a share quarterly to five cents. As a supplier to primary industries, Electric Hose is apt to be slow to reflect economic recovery. However, in the third quarter, operations showed improvement over the two previous periods. Shares should be held for recovery.
